Basin Patriots Challenged By Soldiers' Lack of Blood

By LOIS FERRUYS
The next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to the Klamath Basin is scheduled for Tuesday at the Klamath Falls armory between 2 and 6 p.m.
The monthly quota for the community is 217 pints of blood. That means there should be 300 blood-donors on hand to assure the quota.
What could be more heart-warming and satisfying to a donor than to give blood two days after Armistice Day which we have been honoring since the first world war?

SHORTAGE
Armistice Day meant peace in the world and now as we honor and celebrate this momentous day our best youth of America are on a battlefield thousands of miles from our shores and their homes and are short of blood. They need blood on another battlefield, Korea.
The irony of it, too—our veteran hospitals need blood for our thousands of veterans from that war we are honoring this Armistice Day, the first world war. And there are world war veterans by the thousands who too will use this blood.
Locally our hospitals will have a supply of blood to use for your family and mine as they need it. No charge is made.
The October 22, 1951, issue of Life magazine has given six entire pages to the urgent need for blood plasma. Our United States plasma storage centers and most warehouses are practically bare, according to Life and the Red Cross. So low, in fact, that it shows a picture of new army recruits, during their first week of infantry basic at Fort Dix, N. J., lined up at the U.S. army blood center.

Truck Blaze Knocked Out

Bill Masters, employe of Klamath Gas Co., doused a wiring fire in a truck at the gas plant before any appreciable damage was done this morning.
City fire equipment rolled to the scene but Masters had the fire out before the truck arrived.
Earlier this morning firemen put out a wall blaze back of a kitchen stove at the residence of Harry Morgan, 128 1/2 Lincoln.
At 1:33 p.m. yesterday equipment was called to 1900 Worden where an oil stove overheated, and at 4:09 p.m. there was a false alarm run to 6th and Walnut.

Berserk Man Kills Tenant

OKLAHOMA CITY, (AP)—A former mental patient went berserk with a pick-ax last night and bashed in the skull of a friend, police reported.
Mrs. Troy Arthur Gwin, 29, looked on in horror as blow after blow from the ax rained down on her 36-year-old husband's head.
Gwin died three hours after undergoing surgery.
Police officials alerted their entire force to search for Leo Francis Manning, 31, who his father said spent four years in Central State hospital at Norman after attacking a man without provocation in 1944.
As word of the attack spread, frantic mothers locked children indoors.
Manning was in the Gwin home to collect the monthly rent, Mrs. Gwin said. The men were in the back yard and she was dressing for a weekend hunting trip, she related, when suddenly her husband screamed.
"I saw Manning striking him with what looked like a pick-ax," she sobbed hysterically.
After taking her four small sons across the street to a neighbor's home and calling police, she returned to find her husband sprawled unconscious in the yard.
Det. E. B. (Sally) Meals said he was convinced the victim was attacked without provocation.
The men had never quarreled, Mrs. Gwin reported.
Oscar Manning, father of the suspect, warned officers his son is "extremely dangerous."
"This is the first time that he has had one of his spells since he was discharged from the hospital (in 1948)," he added. The two live alone.
The elder Manning told newsmen he was afraid to remain at home while his son was at large, and spent the night at a sister's house here.
The suspect is 5-10 and weighs 145.
"He is very strong," Manning warned.

County Seeks New Roadway

The Klamath county court has served notice it intends to appropriate a right of way for a new access road into the Fishhole creek area below Bly to get into timber and ranch lands not now served by a public road.
A 65-foot right of way across property owned by Everett and Lloyd Bell, brothers is desired for the road and the court has set a volume of 110 an acre for 18.5 acres of land needed for the right of way.
If the property is not obtained by negotiation, the district attorney is to be instructed to start condemnation proceedings according to a resolution passed by the county court.
Another resolution designated as a public road another access road along the Fishhole valley for which rights-of-way must be obtained.
That road would be 60 feet wide, running along the line between townships 40-S and 41-S, range 1 and 14 east.

Great Music Thrills Crowd

By DAVE UNDERHILL
If you had any ills caused by a depressing state of the world, last night's Community concert at the Pelican theater was a sure cure for them.
Before the evening was far along Robert Shaw's choral and concert orchestra had the theater-filling audience captivated.
And it was an experience not soon to be forgotten.
All the advance publicity of Shaw and his disciples of "singing for the love of it" was not wrong.
MOZART
They took you out of this world into the eerie valley of death with their superb rendition of Mozart's Requiem Mass in D minor. The tonal quality, diction and dynamics were superb and all the time the chorus and orchestra were under immediate control of Shaw's expressive conducting.
This control was all the more impressive since Shaw never once during the evening took recourse to a score, but conducted with eyes closed, seemingly lost in the music's mood.
That happy ability of the group's being lost in its work became more apparent as the concert's second portion progressed and eight or nine boisterously applauded encores ensued.
SPIRITUALS
Seemingly most pleasing to the enthusiastic audience were the encores of Negro spirituals — which saw Shaw bouncing on the podium, toe-tapping a solid beat — and the quaint American folk tunes.
But for roof-raising applause, their was nothing to beat the reception given the two excerpts from Gerhart's Porgy and Bess and "Nothing Like a Dame" from the Broadway smash hit, South Pacific.
No one leaving the theater last night doubted Robert Shaw's position as the greatest choral conductor today in America or his organization's fame as the finest singing group they had ever heard.

"Mr. District Attorney" starts off another big week-end of good listening on ABC, tonight at 7:00, in a story entitled "The Case of Tin Pan Death." In this chapter, "Mr. District Attorney" cracks down on spurious song-publishing firms who prey upon would-be song writers, extracting their savings from them. At 8:30 tonight, Mercedes McCambridge is faced with an unusually perplexing problem as she portrays Martha Ellis Bryant, "Defense Attorney." The background for this story is the boxing gymnasium.
Tomorrow morning, a special concert will be heard on "Negro College Chorus," featuring the Xavier University Choir of New Orleans, in a newly-arranged version of "Ballad for Americans" by John La-Touche and Earl Robinson. The choir will also sing portions of Handel's "Israel in Egypt."
ABC will observe Armistice Day tomorrow as it has in past years, with one minute of silence at 11:00 a.m. At this time the nation will again pay solemn tribute to the country's war dead. "Taps" will be sounded at the conclusion of the period of silence. Armistice Day will be the theme of several programs tomorrow, including "National Veterans" at 10:30 a.m., when Rev. Louis H. Evans will have as his topic, "America and the King."
A new local program begins Monday! It's called "Better Living" and features a Klamath Falls homemaker, Minnie Surles. She'll feature favorite recipes, cooking tips, and household hints, ably assisted by announcer Hank Henry. And you'll hear big grocery news as soon as it happens, direct from the Oregon Food Stores, because that's the sponsor. . . .
