

THIS ONE'S FOR BEGINNERS—A gentle ski slope at Crater Lake where each winter a good many people go to take advantage of the snow and hills. However, Crater Lake park doesn't actively solicit ski business in the way other winter resorts do, figuring it shouldn't try to horn in on what otherwise is a commercial business.

THERE'S PLENTY OF SNOW for stalling just outside the front door of the Crater Lake school, and the youngsters don't mind it a bit—except, perhaps, when it gets so deep they can't see out of the windows. The pictures show (upper photo) Patty Trulove and Chet Caster on sleds with Judy Fulton and Steve Trulove riding piggyback, and (lower photo) Terry Caster and Donnie Yegge offer Dee Turner a snowball ice cream cone. The school is operated in the park headquarters building, and has eight students of varying ages and sizes.
