MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. John Kandra, pioneer residents of the Klamath basin celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Sunday evening, November 11 with a beautifully appointed dinner at the 97 club. It was also in observance of Mrs. Kandra's 74th birthday.

Guests were seated at horseshoe shaped tables centered with gold chrysanthemums, gold edged leaves and the three tiered gold trimmed wedding cake, appropriately marked with the symbols, "50 years." Tables were covered with white and gold cloths. Places were marked for 50 guests.

Mrs. Kandra was presented with a white orchid with gold throat by the family. They cut the first piece of their wedding cake in traditional bride and groom fashion.

They were married in Czechoslovakia in 1901 and came west from New Jersey in 1914 and settled in the Merrill country farming until Mr. Kandra retired a few years ago. They now make their home at 425 Laguna in Klamath Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Kandra are parents of seven children, Mrs. Gus (Helen) Tilch, North Richland, Wash., Mrs. Frank (Marion) Ferreri, Klamath Falls, Mrs. Harry (Katherine) Icenecce, Malin, Steve, John, and William Kandra, Tulake and Lewis of Merrill. They also have 12 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren.

FAITH BROCK, as she will appear in the role of "Letty Lythe" in the Klamath Musical Arts Drama group production, "The Whole Town's Talking," at Mills school auditorium November 27-28 here; and November 30 in Merrill. She will be remembered as an accomplished actress in "Blythe Spirit" last year.

Malin

By MRS. JOE HALOUSEK

Several hundred of Malin's most enthusiastic football fans journeyed to Medford to witness the game between Malin Mustangs and Phoenix Pirates.

Although our boys lost, it surely wasn't due to inferior playing on the teams part or lack of sideline support by the home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Morelock recently enjoyed several days vacation in San Francisco. While there they attended the livestock show.

Enjoying salmon fishing at the coast last week were Mervyn Wilde, Louie Kalina, Wayne Fisk, Bill Rajnus and Tony Steyskal.

Jack Mivaies returned home Monday after spending several days in Oakland, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rajnus left by train Monday for a short stay in Portland.

Members of Malin high school's Mustang football team and their coach, Jim Conroy, were feasted Thursday evening, November 15, with a banquet at the Willard hotel.

Their host was the Malin Chamber of Commerce, whose president is Merle Loosley.

During the banquet a pen and pencil set was presented to Jim Conroy in appreciation of his excellent work with the team. A short but interesting talk praising the progressive spirit of the Malin community was given by Lynn Roycroft, Klamath Falls business man.

Besides Pres. Merle Loosley, other officers of the Chamber of Commerce who were present were Jack Story, secretary; Earl Wilson, treasurer, and Directors Ed Petrasek, Joe Halousek and Laddie Rajnus. A. E. Street and Earl Bent, of the high school teaching staff also accompanied the team.

The boys who enjoyed the hospitality of the Chamber of Commerce were: George Rajnus, Gene Evans, Roy McVey, Bob Mick, Andy Travis, Donald Saratzki, Dale Fonters, Lawrence King, Stan Miller, Marvin Macken, George Evans, Lewis Smith, Marshall Cornett, Jim McVey, Tommy Cantrall, Arby Paris, Howard Herringshaw, John O'Connor, Ron Bunnell, Jerry Macken, Wayne Rick, Rodney Ottoman, Billy Perkins, Rodney Lyon, Gary Mauney, Don Rajnus, Jim Rogers, Clark Unruh, Eddie McAvillife, Lavon Travis and Virgil Rick.

The Klamath Art association never ceases to be proud of the abilities and accomplishments of its members.

Last Monday evening Gerold Howard, one of our new high school art instructors, had charge of the association's monthly meeting. He showed film strips of paintings by famous American artists and talked on modern art and realism.

-As the pictures were shown on the screen, he explained each painting from the artist's viewpoint and gave an insight into the artist's background. I'm sure that if all the skeptics and haters of modern art could have heard his logical and simplified explanations of modern art, they would be able to look at modern paintings with a greater understanding even though they have no taste for such works of art.

This was the second in our series of art appreciation meetings, and those who were not in attendance missed one of the finest meetings we have had since we organized. We have asked Mr. Howard to write a few articles for this column on modern art, so if you want to have a better understanding of the subject, be sure to read them.

We are also proud to hear that one of our association members, Virginia Brown (Mrs. Walter), is now having a one-man-show of her oil paintings at the Art Center.

Virginia is also a member of the Oregon Society of Artists and all of the paintings she is now showing have been exhibited and acclaimed in art shows in other parts of the country. Congratulations, Virginia!

Chemult

By VIRGINIA TAYLOR

Chemult was under a dimout for about a week recently when the local power plant failed. Some families were fortunate in having their own power units. The REA is rushing to finish its work to get a power line through to here from Lapine.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Wisby of Myrtle Point, former Chemult residents, spent the Armistice weekend at the R. E. Jessups. Their son, Gene, was with them.

Homer Dale of Medford has been hauling pumice there from the Wisbys claims north of town for the past six months.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bellavance are the proud parents of a daughter born November 10. This is the second daughter.

Grandparents of the baby are Mr. and Mrs. J. Bellavance of Beaver Marsh, owners and operators of the Beaver Marsh hotel.

Mrs. Elmer Holt left for San Francisco last week to spend the winter there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Darnell will leave for Walla Walla, Wash., about December 1. They will spend most of the winter in Southern California.

Mrs. Lela Williams, Carnation, Wash., died November 5. She was the mother of Mrs. Lowell Ramsey.

David Brader will be home from Alaska to resume his job with the highway department the latter part of this month.

The Carl Waldrons were house guests of the Vern Bradens over the Armistice weekend. The Waldrons live at Orestech, Ore.

Mrs. Winifred Pine left to spend the winter in Eugene. She will return in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bourne motored to Portland November 10 to witness the OSC-UCLA football game.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Smith and daughter, Shirley, have moved to Brookings, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith have moved to Crescent.

The Chemult Sunday School is planning to fill a box for a mission near Gallup N.M. It will go to some needy Navajo children.

Baby Named Kirk Alan

From Corvallis comes news of the arrival of a boy, Kirk Alan, born November 17, at Good Samaritan hospital, Corvallis. Proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Steinlefer (Lois Cochran). Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cochran, Portland, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Steinlefer, 1834 1/2 Melrose. Great-grandmother is Mrs. Dave Nevins, Butte, Montana.
