

Color Illusion Can Modify The Thinning Lips Of Age

There is one sign of increasing age that few women escape—that of gradually thinning lips. This is not, within itself, a calamity. It's what is done about it that's often disastrous.

There's the do-nothing school of thought, that goes on stubbornly coloring the narrowing outline of the lips, in faithful adherence to nature.

Then there's the other extreme, which refused to admit that the full-blooming curves of youth are a thing of the past, and fills in with lipstick the exaggerated lines of what were once true margins.

Perhaps the most pathetic is the woman who, recognizing the con-

MALIN

The new grade school gymnasium was the meeting place for this month's regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers club, November 20.

Ladies of the local V.F.W. auxiliary led by their president Ruth Morrow entered bearing their colors and a new flag, which they presented to the school to be used in the new gymnasium.

you are sufficiently skilled to draw on an inexpressive approximation of the fullness of youth, it would be a mistake. Such bloom would look out of place in an otherwise mature face. Turn the calendar back ten years, not twenty; it shows less.

Mrs. George Smalley, club president, introduced Carol Howe, county school superintendent, who gave a brief talk on the new gymnasium. Of particular interest, he pointed out, was the island type kitchen used in the cafeteria and the folding and movable tables. He mentioned also the large mural in the entry, a gift of the architects Morrison and Howard. He expressed thanks to the local school board who worked so harmoniously with him in construction of the building and stated that he regretted that Harry Wilson, the man who was instrumental in obtaining the building for Malin, was not here to see it finished.

A new heating system throughout the grade school building was installed this summer and preliminary plans have been made for a three room addition to be added to the high school building, and possibly new lighting and reheating of the high school.

Program chairman was Mrs.

Stanley Johnson who introduced Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson. They gave a skit entitled "Computing Your Income Tax," and William Gannon Jr. who spoke on "General Law."

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Smalley, minutes and treasury report were read and a motion made and carried changing the time of dues to the beginning of the school year. A. E. Street, high school principal gave a report of the school carnival, $1213.46 was cleared and the portion going to the high school will be used for library purposes, and a tape recorder for speech class.

The grade school will add to its library and possibly buy a radio-phonograph and whatever other equipment is needed.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served in regular cafeteria style as used by the school children so those present could get an idea how the meals are served each day.

Refreshment committee was Mrs. Louie Lyons, Mrs. Verna Paris and Mrs. Albert Micka.
