Klamath Falls Soldier Keeps Up Efforts Toward Adopting Japanese Orphan

By HALE SCARBROUGH

Cpl. Don Ginder, balked in one direction in his attempt to adopt and bring home an orphan Japanese boy, isn't through trying yet. Ginder is now at home, winding up a furlough, and the boy, 10-year-old Jimmy, this real name is Yamamoto Tudeo is being cared for by other Americans at an air base near Tokyo.

Last September Ginder wrote Sen. Wayne Morse asking help in adopting Jimmy (which would require a special act of congress under the Oriental exclusion act). A general bill to allow certain Japanese and Koreans to come to the United States is now before congress, and Sen. Morse informed Ginder he would have to wait until something is done about that bill next year.

But in the meantime Ginder may get back to Japan to see the boy he befriended. He is due to report to Ft. Lewis, Wash., Thursday and said today he wants to go back. Yamamoto Tudeo—or Jimmy—was born in Hiroshima, the city which was atom bombed in 1945, and his mother died when he was a baby. His father was employed by the U.S. army in Korea and was killed in the fighting in that luckless country.

That's where Cpl. Ginder, member of the 9th regiment, 2nd infantry division, came across Jimmy.

He wrote Sen. Morse "I was sitting in a jeep one night and he came to me crying and said he was hungry and had no home. After I fed him he told me his story. From then on I took care of him. He has learned to speak good English and can do a little reading, writing and arithmetic. "I have grown very fond of little Jimmy and will do anything I can for him. I would like to see him get a good break for once in his life."

Ginder has twice served with the army in the Orient, being stationed in Korea after the close of the last war. He reenlisted in 1948 and Careful training and observance of safety codes make telephone drivers among the safest on the road today.

HOW TELEPHONE DRIVERS GUARD YOUR SAFETY

Safe driving is an important part of their job

1. Accidents seldom happen when drivers are properly trained, and strictly observe safety codes. That's why telephone drivers have won awards as among the safest on the road. Pacific Telephone drivers can point with pride to their impressive safety record—a record achieved when we had more vehicles on the road than ever before, and during the busiest years in our history.

2. Exacting performance tests must be passed regularly by all telephone employees operating motor vehicles. Under the watchful eye of company examiners, and with the cooperation of local police departments, these road tests stress quick reaction and safety. In addition, drivers must pass physical and eye examinations and written and oral tests which insure a full knowledge of the rules of the road.

3. Protecting your safety, and the safety of telephone people, is just one more important responsibility for your telephone company—along with providing more and better telephone service. We're proud of our safety record, maintained, as it has been, through the greatest expansion period in our history. An expansion that has meant adding over 1,800,000 new telephones here in the West since the war. And yet telephone rates have gone up far less than most things, which makes your telephone one of today's best bargains.

His Fifteenth Cadillac!

Put a man behind the wheel of a Cadillac—and he's very likely to stay behind the wheel of a Cadillac! Many and many a man is driving his fifteenth Cadillac—and it is not unusual to encounter an owner who goes far beyond that figure. Naturally, a car must offer many things in order to have such an enduring hold on the affections of those who own and drive it. It must be as faithful and dependable as a mechanical creation of its type can be. It must be so pleasant to drive and so easy to handle that the hours at its wheel bring rest and relaxation. It must be so beautiful and so highly respected that it is a compliment to its owner wherever he drives. And it must be economical, both to operate and to maintain—for luxury brings a dual pleasure when it comes with no extra penalty in cost. In short, if a car is to have such a hold on the regard of its owners, it must be a Cadillac! If you have already ordered this distinguished car, and are awaiting its delivery, hold firm to your purpose—for each day brings you closer to your heart's desire. But if we don't yet have your order, better come in and see us today. The sooner you place your order, the sooner you'll have those many wonderful things which only a Cadillac provides.
