

A CHRISTMAS PARTY at the Gruenau Luther Orphanage in Bad Salzufen, near Hanover in Germany celebrated the finding of a new home for five-year-old Karl (standing center), now the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kerns of Kenosha, Wis. The little boy made the long flight from Germany to San Francisco alone. Seated on the floor with Karl is Robert Benjamin Kerns, brother of John Kerns who found the child in an orphanage. This picture was taken in Germany and forwarded here by the public information office, Frankfurt Military Post.

GIs Scorn Russ Food

By JIM BECKER
AP Newsfeatures
HONOLULU—“This stuff,” said one GI as he dipped black bread into a plate of borscht, “is for Russians and officers—not for us walking soldiers.”
He was facing a standard Russian army meal, his second of the day, with a third to come.
It was all part of the Army's plan to acquaint training soldiers at Schofield Barracks with the food the Russian soldier eats all the time.
One day during each training period the GIs get a Russian breakfast, Russian lunch and Russian dinner. The post exchanges are closed to keep them from slipping out and augmenting the simple fare.
DAY'S MENU
For breakfast, Army cooks dished up pea soup with meat, rice porridge with boiled beets, black bread and tea.
Lunch was borscht with boiled potatoes, sour cream and more black bread.
Dinner brought vegetable-macaroni soup, fish stew with boiled cabbage, tea and black bread.
The reactions were mixed. Some of the soldiers actually enjoyed this stuff. Pvt. Robert Bennett of Kittanning, Pa., came back for seconds. Others did not.
“The bread is pretty tasty although it could use some butter,” Bennett said. “And the borscht is not bad. But I think it would get pretty monotonous eating it all the time.”

Worn Stair Carpets Are Dangerous

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service
Worn stair coverings are dangerous particularly for women wearing high heels. Therefore, it behooves every home-owner to keep his stair carpet in good condition, replacing badly-worn carpet with new.
There is nothing mysterious or even complicated about laying stair carpet. The following suggestions will assure you of a professional-looking job.
In ordering the runner, figure a foot and a half for each tread and add six inches to the overall length for shrinkage when you have it cleaned later. Ready-made pads are available or you can make them yourself from 32-ounce carpet lining.
PREPARATION
Be sure to clean and inspect the bare stairway. Loose steps should be nailed down with eight-penny finishing nails. Countersink all nails and remove snags and splinters that might cause wear.

Bottled Fertilizers Take Place of Liquid Manure

By HENRY FREE
Written for NEA Service
Liquid manure, long recommended by gardeners both for gardens and house plants has given way to bottled concentrated liquid fertilizers. This change is due largely because of the scarcity of manure, its unpleasant odor, and the messiness attached to making and keeping it in solution.
These objections are overcome by simply putting a specified amount of the concentrated fertilizer in just the amount of water required to feed the plants.
No longer need the indoor gardener, with merely a half-dozen plants, worry about where to get manure and where to keep it.
STIMULATION
Interest in liquid fertilizers has been greatly stimulated by the publicity given to the water culture of plants. There is nothing new in this method for it has been used for years by experiment stations to determine the relative value of various fertilizing agents.
So-called water culture, however, has no intimate connection with the use of liquid fertilizers in standard soil culture.
Here the readily-absorbable and quickly-acting plant foods possess some unique advantages. If the soil is properly moistened before their application, the nutrients reach the roots rapidly.
Nitritification begins almost immediately, the plant receives nourishment at once and the effects continue for a week or more. Growth is hastened and fruitfulness is increased.
Manure still remains something of a mystery. It never has been analyzed adequately, probably because some of its most important constituents exist in proportions so once a month than one stronger once a year. The analysis of virtually all liquid fertilizers is similar, they contain nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash in proper strength, plus the minor elements, iron, copper, zinc, boron, manganese and magnesium. Once used, the indoor gardener will never again think of messy liquid manure.

Belton Will Not Run Again

CANBY (AP)—State Sen. Howard C. Belton said Saturday he would not be a candidate for state treasurer in this year's elections.
“I feel that I should finish the remaining two years of my term in the Senate and help complete some of the legislative jobs facing the state,” the Senator said he may file for delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention.
Belton was the Republican candidate for state treasurer in 1948 losing by a narrow margin to Walter Pearson, Democrat.

NOT LIKE MOM'S

Pvt. Kenneth W. Flynn, Mt. Olive, Miss., said “it beats nothing.”
But Pvt. William Bennett of Superior Wis., puddled around in his food and gave it up.
Sgt. Robert Kahuna of Laie, Oahu who supervised the cooking of the meals, said he had to throw most of the breakfast away. “They came in, looked, and went out,” he said.
“But by dinner the boys had worked up an appetite and put it away pretty good.”
Kahuna said the regular menu for the day had called for creamed chipped beef on toast for breakfast, roast chicken for lunch and curried veal for dinner.
The Russian meal idea started at Schofield several months ago when Secretary of the Army Frank Pace looked at the wide variety of foods ordinarily served American soldiers and wondered out loud how they would take to standard Russian army fare.
Even if the earth did not rotate at all on its own axis, the sun would rise and set once during the year because of the earth's journey around it.
