Lockman Inks

Iran Refuses British Envoy

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Iran refused Tuesday to accept Robert Hankey

as the new British Ambassador to Tehran. The British had submitted Hankey's appointment as a new move toward ending the bitter deadlock between the two countries over the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company holding, which Iran nationalized last spring. Hankey, 46, was to succeed Sir Francis Shepherd who has been British Ambassador in Tehran through all the oil trouble.

Hankey's name had been sent to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government for approval under normal diplomatic procedure. Its rejection—a rare event in the field of diplomacy—seemed bound to worsen relations, already almost at the breaking point, between Britain and this tumultuous Middle-Eastern kingdom.

It was another resounding slap at Britain from the Iranians, who 10 days ago ordered all nine British consulates in the country closed. The British after strong protests, shut them down Sunday. Shepherd, who had been appointed by the lately-defeated Labor Government, was ordered home and told he would be assigned elsewhere shortly after Conservative Foreign Anthony Eden took office.
