

TIME OUT!

"Go! I've never been a glory that had such confidence in me!"

RIDIN' HERD

THIS COLUMN has a suggestion to toss into the muddled heavy-weight fight picture.

I think it makes sense or I would put it in print.

But the fight has been run in a manner the past few years that has no resemblance to "making sense."

Anyway, here 'tis:

NOW THEY'RE needing Jersey Joe Walcott to put his crown on the block in 15 days or ship it back.

Jersey Joe, who owns up to 38 years but is probably older, took 31 years to win the title.

Why not let him wear it a little longer because it's almost a cinch Old Man Time will be in his foe's corner when he does defend the title.

He'll keep it just as long as he refuses to sign for a title match.

But why not give of Jersey Joe a period of grace while an elimination tourney among his top three contenders is being reeled off.

The three, of course, are Rocky Marciano, Ezzard Charles and Harry (Kid) Matthews.

ALL THREE deserve a crack at the title.

So why not find out who deserves it most by process of elimination.

Flip a coin, draw straws — it doesn't make a lot of difference what method is used — to pick the first two.

Then the one left can fight the winner for the right to sign for a chance to knock Walcott off his throne.

Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, names Charles and Marciano as the "foremost contenders."

Well, then, match these two and give Matthews, boxing's brush-off boy, the winner.

Then Walcott could have more time to cash in on the title he took so long to get.

AS IT STANDS now, the fight picture among the big boys is gradually becoming as confusing as wrestling has been for many years among the heavyweights.

The Louisiana Boxing Commission says that as far as it's concerned Walcott is no longer champion.

That makes Pappy Walcott champion everywhere but the United States where he's 47-48 champ.

The real champion in the boxing world today is confusion.

Globetrotters Beat All-Stars

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The Harlem Globetrotters' No. 2 team outscored the Oregon All-Stars 80-60 in an exhibition basketball game here Tuesday night.

Rog Wiley, Bend high school coach, netted 12 points for the All-Stars, a team of former University of Oregon players. Bob Hall led the Globetrotters with 14.

Pelicans Drill For Roseburg

The Pelicans step out of the hot Dist. 4 basketball race this weekend to sandwich in a two-game non-league series with the Roseburg Indians on Pelican Court.

The Indians put a 5-1 record against the Pelicans, not a glossy record, but one of those wins was over Medford, indicating the Indians won't be pushovers.

In other successful outings, Roseburg beat Willamette of Eugene twice, Sutherlin and Myrtle Point. Losses were to Cottage Grove twice, Grants Pass twice, Myrtle Point, Reedsport and Coquille.

CONTROL Not speedy enough to employ the fast break, the Roseburg five depends primarily on control ball to set up plays.

Roseburg won't boast the height the Pels can floor but it carries three boys that measure 6-2.

They are Center Jim Gilbert and Forwards Bryan Booth and Bruce Carroll.

PELICAN COACH Paul McCall said this morning that the big center, 6-7 Ralph Carroll, will be sidelined for the Roseburg series on Pelican Court Friday and Saturday nights.

The high-scoring senior pivotman lost a bout with the flu this week.

Dalros, Dalros, a letterman, alternates with Booth at the forward position.

The other starting forward is 5-11 LeRoy Elling.

Guards are letterman Ted Nolte and Ralph Rudak.

2-1 RECORD Roseburg has a 2-1 record in Dist. 4 play, Coquille, Myrtle Point and Sutherlin are league foes.

The Pelicans currently hold 8 wins, 3 losses and one tie in 12 games.

The setbacks came in series splits with Central Catholic in the season-opener, Medford and Grants Pass in Dist. 4 district fare.

Coach Paul McCall hasn't indicated whether he'll stay with the switch he made Saturday night against Grants Pass, in which Calvin Gilmore was switched to Jack Horton's forward spot and Ken Young opened at guard.

Heavy Feud Features Tonight's Mat Meet

An old high school wrestling rivalry highlights the show tonight when the Klamath Falls Pelicans face the Oregon State College Rocks on Pelican Court.

The mat meet opens at 7:30.

Not part of the nine-bout meet, but the attractive side-light, will be the meeting of John Witte and Paul Patrick in a heavyweight bout.

Witte, now trading grips for the Oregon State varsity squad, is an ex-Klamath boy, who won the high school state wrestling title two years running, 1950 and 1951.

The boy Witte whipped both times is Paul Patrick, ex-Springfield High School lad, now an Oregon Tech student.

CHALLENGE Patrick issued the challenge and is anxious to avenge two straight defeats by Big Jawn that robbed him of the prep crown.

Two other ex-Pels show in the regular meet.

They are Glenn Guyer and Ben Shepherd.

Guyer, now a heavyweight, faces Vernon Pryor. Guyer won the high school 176-pound title the same years Witte was ascending the heavyweight throne.

Shepherd will mix with Louie Taucher in the 135-pound division.

Doris Benedict bowled Monday night like she intended to keep Louie's Food on the top rung of the Moose Ma's bowling ladder.

A 543 series with a 263 game gave Doris both game and series honors and helped Louie's to a high series of 2632.

But fourth-place Leach Service sneaked in to prevent Louie's from grand-slamming all the honors.

Leach posted a 904 high team game.

OPS Fixes Baseball Ceilings

6 Majors, Minors Affected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government Tuesday authorized six major league baseball teams and all minor league clubs to raise admission prices for the 1952 season.

The action was taken by the Office of Price Stabilization.

The ticket cost boost for the major league teams ranges from five cents on grandstand seats for the Cleveland Indians to 50 cents on box seats for the Chicago Cubs and the Chicago White Sox.

Minor league clubs may raise their total admission ceilings by eight per cent, the maximum allowed under the services price regulation.

The OPS action sets dollars and cents ceilings on tickets to all major league parks. The ceiling includes the federal admission tax.

OPS explained that the higher ceilings are for some professional baseball clubs are necessary because of player salary increases, higher traveling expenses for teams on the road and higher costs of maintaining ball parks.

ABE SAPERSTEIN shows his famous traveling basketball teams, the Harlem Globetrotters and the Kansas City Stars in a double-header here next Tuesday. City and Klamath Basin players will furnish opposition for the great Negro players.

Hall Quits, Favell Eyed

Eddie Hall quit this week as president of the City Basketball League because of "pressing business obligations" and his successor will be chosen by the league's board of directors next Monday night between games of the double-header on Alhamont Court.

Clyde Walsh, manager of Payless Drugs, is acting president until that time.

The directors — managers of the teams in the circuit — will huddle to name a new president Monday night.

Gene Favell, member of the Herald and News quint, is rumored as a strong choice for the job.

League managers and players greeted Hall's quitting with some dismay and had high praise for the fine organizational work he has done.

Tomorrow's games put Palmerston against Herald and News at 7:30, Hercules against Coca Cola at 9 o'clock.

Sam Maglie and Larry Jensen of the New York Giants each pitched two three-hitters during the '51 season.

Lincoln Beats Jeff

By The Associated Press
Wade (Swede) Halbrook ran his point total to 374 for 10 games this season as he led Lincoln to a 71-50 victory over Jefferson in a Portland high school basketball game Tuesday night.

Halbrook, seven-foot one-inch all-state center, scored 39 points. It was the second league win for Lincoln, ranked as Oregon's No. 1 prep team in this week's Associated Press poll.

Jefferson, 1951 state champion and rated No. 7, played most of the game without its all-state star, Max Anderson, who had been expected to make things tough for the Lincoln ace. Anderson was ill.

The St. John's University basketball team has appeared in ten of the 14 National Invitation Tournaments played at Madison Square Garden.

Elliott Takes Iowa Job

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Chalmers Elliott resigned Tuesday as football assistant at Oregon State College to take a similar coaching post at the University of Iowa under Forest Evashevski.

It had been rumored for some time after Evashevski resigned at Washington State to take over at Iowa, that he had asked Elliott to join his staff.

Tuesday Elliott gave his resignation to Athletic Director Roy S. Keene at a meeting with Keene and Head Coach Rip Taylor and said he was going to Iowa.
