Nash Charged By McCarthy

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. McCarthy R-Wis., repeated his accusations against Phillip Nash, White House staff assistant, in a convention address Monday asserting "there is no immunity here."

Nash, a Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., cranberry grower, was originally attacked in a Senate speech last week when McCarthy accused him of Communist activity. Nash and his sister Jean said they would sue him if he made the charges again without congressional immunity.

Nash, reached at Washington Monday night, would only comment. "My lawyer has this McCarthy statement under study." And at Wisconsin Rapids, Miss Nash said she was leaving the matter up to her brother.

McCarthy told members of the Wisconsin Seed Dealers' Association that he was repeating his charges "in answer to the crocodile tears of the bleeding heart elements of the press and radio."

Immediately afterward, he flew to Washington, taking a tape recording of the talk with him.

In his reading from the Congressional Record, McCarthy repeated all of his accusations against Nash, including the assertion that his information had been taken from FBI files. The charges were that Nash at one time "officially joined" the Communist party and that Communists in a Canadian spy ring used his home as a headquarters.

Nash has denied McCarthy's charges.

Doctor Shows Mouth Danger

CHICAGO (AP) — Your mouth is a wonderful incubator for bacteria—dark, warm and moist with a constant temperature—so proper mouth hygiene is essential for oral health, a dentist said Tuesday.

Dr. Robert Lee Dement of Atlanta, Ga., told the Chicago Dental Society there always are between 35 and 45 different kinds of bacteria present in the mouth, and that they get in their best work of multiplying while you are asleep.

"During the sleeping hours the mouth is closed, as a rule," he said, "and this makes for a wonderful incubator. Before retiring the mouth and teeth should be cleaned and the gum tissues exercised thoroughly."

He said that for proper oral hygiene a person should brush his teeth four times a day—before and after breakfast, after lunch, and after dinner or before retiring.

He should supplement his tooth brushing with a tongue scraper, mouth wash and dental floss, Dr. Dement said.

What's more, he should have two toothbrushes—one with soft bristles for before breakfast and another with stiffer bristles for gum exercise before bedtime.

GOPs Vie for States' Support, Democrats Quiet

By The Associated Press
Republicans at a Lincoln Day rally checked their differences at the door Monday night for a mass attack on Truman policies, but else where it was skirmishing as usual among GOP presidential hopefuls.

The Lincoln Day shindig in Washington—complete with $1 box supper for 8,000, square dancing and group singing—held intra-party rivalries to a minimum. But, like ants at a picnic, they were there all the same.

Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York sounded the battle cry against the Truman administration when he said:

"No administration which attempts to corrupt the people with their own money can itself be uncorrupted, and it should be removed from power at the first opportunity."

"If we in the Republican Party meet these issues courageously and constructively, the American people will do their part . . . with a landslide vote that will sweep a Republican President into office and give him a Republican Congress to do the job right."

No special candidate was plugged in speeches, but banners appeared boasting Sen. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Eisenhower.

In the Democratic camp, things were comparatively quiet.

At Omaha, a backer of Sen. Kefauver, only a nominated Democratic candidate, said the lanky Tennesseean definitely will enter Nebraska's presidential preference primary.

Ohio Democrats faced a prospect of sending 62 delegates to the party's national convention, but with only 54 votes among them. Sixteen delegates-at-large would each have half a vote.

The system, voted unanimously by the State Democratic Executive Committee, was viewed as an attempt to weaken Kefauver's strength.

Maneuvering among Republicans meanwhile, went like this:

1. Sen. Taft, speaking at Charleston, W. Va., lambasted the administration's foreign policy as being based on "secrecy and arbitrary power."

He called "hypocritical" President Truman's proposal for a bipartisan foreign policy.

2. Virginia Republican Chairman Robert H. Woods said in Richmond he doubts Sen. Taft has his states 23 GOP votes sewed up, adding,

"there is strong Eisenhower sentiment growing."

Taft is due to speak Tuesday night at Harrisonburg, in what is viewed as another attempt to win Virginia support.

3. At Columbus, O., Harold Stassen addressed a luncheon gathering of Ohio delegate candidates to the national convention pledged to vote for him.

Stassen accused Sen. Taft of having a foreign policy aimed at "withdrawing from the rest of the world."

Burke Named Rear Admiral

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arleigh A. "31-Knot" Burke, a central figure in the Army-Navy unification controversy, was nominated for a permanent appointment as rear admiral Monday.

President Truman's nomination of Burke and 11 others for appointment as rear admiral of the line went to the Senate. So did the President's nomination of Daniel W. Ryan as rear admiral in the Dental Corps.

The 50-year old Burke, a brilliant officer in World War Two, had been passed over previously when the roster of nominations for permanent appointment to the flag rank was made.

But, Truman did raise him from the rank of captain to the temporary rate of rear admiral in December, 1949.

Burke was said to have been in disfavor with high Pentagon officials because he headed "Operation 22," a former Navy organization

Finder's Loser And Seeker

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP) — W. F. (Wes) Mullett found a $20 bill on the floor of a neighborhood grocery store.

He turned it over to the store manager.

The owner appeared a short time later.

It was Mullett.

"When I arrived home from the store I discovered I was short a $20 bill," he explained. "I'm still not sure he, the manager, believed me."

On planning and policy.

"OP 22" was understood to have prepared the material used by Navy officers in their quarrel with the Army and Air Force over defense policy.

Others nominated with Burke were: Edward A. Solomons, Herbert S. Duckworth, George R. Cooper, Frank Akers, Harry B. Jarrett, Delbert S. Cornwell, Albert K. Morehouse, Kenneth M. McFalls, Frank T. Ward, Jr. Frederick S. Withington and William V. O'Regan.

School Tries New Methods

Special education groups being taught by Ruth Jones, retired teacher after many years of work with children in the school room, held open house Jan. 26 from 3 a.m. to noon at Fairview school.

Demonstrations on methods of developing word analysis, played recordings of oral readings made by the students, and a film on punctuation were on the program.

Several parents and school administrators attended and viewed exhibits made by the children and by their instructor to assist in their education.

Because of retirement pay restrictions it is possible for the Special Education Department to employ her half-days only and the remainder of the many hours she serves are given without remuneration. A full schedule is taught each morning of the school week.

Classes are held in the school library. Competition is keen among students at Fairview for attendance in her classes.
