Two Enemy Jets Suffer Sabre Hits

SEUL, Korea (AP) — An American Sabre jet pilot damaged two Red MIG jets in a three-minute battle high over snow swept North Korea Thursday.

Lt. William C. Shoener of Wayne, Ky., riddled the two MIGs in a fight involving 17 Sabres and 30 Red jets.

Shoener said the first MIG he tackled "was belching puffs of smoke as it crossed the Yalu," into the safety of Manchuria. He fired at another until his ammunition was exhausted. Shoener said the MIG was "hit in several places, but would not go down."

RAILS CUT
The Sabre jets were flying escort for Allied fighters bombers which took to the skies as snow clouds cleared during the afternoon. Pilots reported cutting Red rail lines at 71 points and destroying or damaging 12 supply buildings.

Light snow fell all along the battle line.

U. N. raiding parties hit the Reds west of Chorwon, onetime anchor of the Communists' iron triangle. One unit fought two sharp 25 minute battles in the snow before returning to its own lines. The other reached its objective on high ground without trouble and returned while snow still was falling.

Red infantrymen made three small early morning probes of U. N. positions in the center and extreme east of the battle front.

MOURNING
British Commonwealth troops, mourning the death of King George VI, fired a 101-gun salute to the dead monarch and a 21-gun salute to the new queen, Elizabeth the Second.

The American aircraft carrier Philippine Sea Wednesday began its second tour of duty in Korean waters.

The Philippine Sea joined the carriers Valley Forge and Antietam in attacks on Communist positions from Wonsan to Tauchon on the East Coast. Panther jets, Corsairs and Sky Raiders from the three carriers cut Red rail lines in 114 places.

14 Us's Here From Austria
NEW YORK (AP) — Us is here, with 13 other Us's.

Peregrin Us, 51, arrived Thursday with his wife and children, the largest family of displaced persons ever brought here.

"This is not all of us," Us said, explaining four daughters had married and left the family circle.

Only 14 of us, including grand-mother, Alozia Us, are still with us," said Us.

The family came here from a DP camp in the British zone of Austria, where they've been for five years.

By The Associated Press
Eisenhower - President force are stepping up their fight to win a political beachhead for the General.

There were these developments for several states and Washington:

1. Seven speakers from Congress and elsewhere will begin moving into New Hampshire next week to boom Gen. Eisenhower for that state's 14 delegates to the GOP presidential nominating convention.

2. Gov. John Lodge of Connecticut publicly came out for Eisenhower and announced he is going on a speaking tour of Florida, Mississippi and Louisiana.

3. Louisiana Eisenhower backers leading with sponsors of Sen. Taft of Ohio are seeking to force the GOP State Central Committee to certify the returns of the Jan. 15 party primary in which Eisenhower supporters won the majority of seats.

HOME COMING
4. In Washington, evidence mounted that the General's supporters are building up pressure for him to return home and help set the bandwagon rolling.

5. Eisenhower still has a 5 to 3 edge over Taft in Oklahoma, but Taft picked up two more delegates to the GOP national convention Wednesday in the struggle for Oklahoma's 16 representatives.

Gen. MacArthur has one, one is still uncommitted, and six more are to be elected.

Sen. Brewster, R-Me., however, wasn't too impressed with all the "I Like Ike" activity. He predicted that if present political trends continue, Taft will have the GOP nomination "sewed up" within a few weeks.

STRATEGY
Sen. Keen, D-Okl., a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination if President Truman doesn't run, said MacArthur is supporting Taft in an effort to prevent the Republicans from nominating Eisenhower.

But all the political news wasn't confined to the General and Taft. With Truman's plans still a mystery, Sen. Russell, D-Ga., said he deeply appreciates the suggestion of James F. Byrnes of South Carolina that Russell be a presidential candidate. But he ducked any direct commitment at this time.

Byrnes, in an Atlanta speech Wednesday, said it is time for the South to fight again for states' rights—this time using ballots instead of bullets. He said it's time to let everyone know that the electoral vote of the South "no longer can be taken for granted."

OHIO TILT
A four-way race for the Democratic senatorial nomination from Ohio shaped up as the deadline passed for candidates to file.

Michael V. Disalle of Toledo, retiring federal price stabilizer, filed just under the deadline. He has three opponents. The winner of the May 8 primary balloting will run against Sen. Bricker.

The Pennsylvania Democratic Policy Committee endorsed Federal District Judge Guy K. Bard for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate seat now held by Republican Edward Martin, former governor who has said he will seek reelection.

CHARLES DELAP

County Clerk Running Again

County Clerk Charles Delap announced today he would seek reelection to the office he has held for two terms.

He has filed for the Republican nomination, and so far is unopposed.

Delap, 64, lives at 214 Martin, and has been associated with the office of County Clerk for many years.

His father was County Clerk from 1908 until 1928, and Delap worked in the office steadily from 1908 until 1922.

Delap's name will be on the Republican primary ballot May 16. He is the sixth person to announce for office so far.

Candidates include: Ed Gowen, Republican, for reelection as County Commissioner; Otis Metzger, Democrat, for reelection as County Assessor; Austin Hayden, Republican, for County Assessor; Murray Britton, Democrat, for Sheriff; and Nick Carter, for the non-partisan post of District Judge.

Survey Finds Heavy Snows
Deep snows—far heavier than a year ago—were reported from six snow measurement courses on the Shasta National Forest.

Measurements as of Feb. 1 included: Lower Parks Creek 78.8 inches; Parks Creek 145.35 inches; Sand Flats 143.9 inches; Mt. Shasta (Horse Camp) 162.6 inches; Stouts Meadow 135 inches; Big Flat 74.2 inches.

Water content of the snow was high at all stations.

California May Survey River Basin

The California Water Resources Board has approved a proposal to survey the water resources and needs of the Klamath River basin, according to report from Sacramento.

The survey, however, depends on whether the California legislature appropriates the funds.

A. B. Edmonston, State Engineer, said it would cost about $176,000 and that the survey could hardly be confined to two counties (Modoc and Siskiyou) as originally requested by Sen. Randolph Collier of Yreka.

Sen. Collier, appearing before the Water Resources Board, suggested the survey be confined to the two counties, but pointed out that the source of the Klamath lies in Oregon rather than California. He also pointed out that California in planning utilization of Klamath water should consult the State of Oregon.

The senator took a stand against any diversion of water from the Klamath Basin until all local needs are met.

The diversion reference was to the Bureau of Reclamation's proposal to divert some water from the Trinity river into the Sacramento watershed. A hearing on that subject was scheduled for Weaverville, Calif., today.

The Trinity flows into the Klamath near the Pacific Ocean, and is considered a part of the Klamath watershed.

Officer Wife Irks Corporal
DETROIT (AP) — His wife became a second lieutenant and "topped" him, a sergeant complains.

William J. Thompson, 30, asked for a divorce Wednesday in testimony filed for a court hearing later. He expects to be sent to Korea soon.

The wife, now at Ft. Lee, Va., has not filed an answer yet.

Thompson said when he met his wife in Germany a year and a half ago she was just a sergeant "and everything was fine."

But by the time they were married Jan. 2, Ruth had been promoted to lieutenant, the corporal said, "everything was changed—she said she didn't love me anymore."

"She said she intended to make a career in the Army," Thompson said. "I don't want an Army brass hat for a wife."

DAL REED

Deputy Change Installs Reed

The resignation of Joe Madarus as Deputy Sheriff has been accepted, effective Wednesday, Sheriff Murray Britton announced today, and his replacement will be Dalford J. Reed, veteran of the State Police.

Madarus had been deputy since June 1, 1950, appointed by the late Sheriff Franey.

Dal Reed, 42, had been with the local State Police office seven and a half years and primarily was assigned to game law enforcement work. He lives on the Midland road.

Sheriff Britton said Reed would be criminal deputy.

The appointment was the second for Britton since he took office in mid-January on the death of Jack Franey. To succeed himself as chief deputy, Britton appointed Alton Short.

No reason was given for Madarus' resignation.

Two Women, 16 Men Saved

PANAMA, Panama (AP) — Two women and 16 men stranded aboard the disabled Colombian schooner Gloria for a week were rescued Wednesday night after week-long searching by U. S. Air Force planes and U. S. Navy patrol boats.

The 87-foot boat was dismantled and stripped of its rudder by a storm Jan. 30. It ran out of fuel, food and water.

Four survivors who took to a lifeboat in search of help were picked up Monday by the U. S. Navy ship John F. Thorson.

The 15 others finally were sighted by a patrol bomber Wednesday, picked up by a patrol boat and landed at Cristobal, Canal Zone.

Churchill Meets Sad New Queen

LONDON (AP) — Young Queen Elizabeth II returned to her homeland Thursday to ascend the throne and bury King George VI.

The 25-year-old Queen of the United Kingdom and the dominions overseas reached London Airport at 4:15 p. m., after a flight from Nairobi, Kenya.

It was exactly a week since she left London, as Princess Elizabeth, to make a round-the-world tour of five months.

A plain oak coffin was being prepared for the body of her father, King George VI. The funeral may be held next week, but more probably on Monday, Feb. 18.

The four-engine transport carrying the royal party set down after a 4,000-mile, one-stop flight.

DELEGATION
Prime Minister Winston Churchill headed the official delegation on hand to welcome the new Queen. The skies were gray.

The royal family was represented by the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, aunt and uncle of the Queen.

Another uncle, the Duke of Windsor, is sailing home from New York to attend the funeral.

The scene at the airport was a cheerless one, in the gathering gloom of the early English twilight.

The airport was ringed by scores of policemen sent to keep the arrival private.

Prime Minister Churchill had appeared to the public in advance to stay away from the airport and respect the Queen's grief.

Elizabeth stepped out of the plane at 4:33 p. m. It was arranged that she go to Clarence House, her residence as princess, and then to Buckingham Palace to take the oath to uphold the Constitution, before the Privy Council.

PROCLAMATION
Tomorrow she will be formally proclaimed Queen—the first woman to rule Britain in 51 years.

Six cars stood by at the airport to take the royal party and its luggage to the heart of London. Policemen were posted along the 15-mile route from the airport to central London, to speed the motor convoy.

Hearing Set On Hospital At Tulelake

TULELAKE — When a public hearing is held here Mar. 20 on a proposed joint-county hospital, it will be an approach never tried in this area before, according to Modoc Superior Judge Jim Stearns.

The hearing will be held to explore the possibility of such a hospital which would be located at Tulelake and serve both Siskiyou and Modoc county areas here.

The Modoc County Hospital is in Alturas, 70 miles from here. The Siskiyou General Hospital is in Yreka, nearly 100 miles from here.

Tulelake has seen the need for a hospital in this area. In the past, but nothing has ever been successfully accomplished. At one time a hospital district was proposed which would include all of the Tulelake area, and parts of Lassen and Siskiyou Counties.

The proposed district never reached a ballot. A large amount of hospital equipment and supplies were made available to the Tulelake area when the Newell War Relocation Center was closed up, but was lost when a hospital setup failed to form within a required period of time.

Stearns figures the Tulelake area could be served by a hospital costing about $300,000. He said that should be enough to provide 16 beds.

COST SHARES
Under California law, the state would provide one-third of the cost; the federal government would add another $100,000 and Siskiyou and Modoc Counties would provide $50,000 each for the hospital.

The Mar. 20 hearing has been set for the Legion Hall in the afternoon. The morning will be reserved for a similar public hearing on the Tulelake Farm Advisor's office, with both counties' boards of supervisors present.

Spud Controls Under Attack

POCAHELLO, Idaho (AP) — Price controls were attacked Wednesday as "unconstitutional" by the newly elected president of the Idaho State Potato Producers Association.

Ben Johnson, Preston attorney, told convention delegates that the federal government failed to take into account the Idaho potato industry when imposing price bids and added that the regulations are "actual violations of Constitutional principles."

The Association went on record against federal controls on potatoes and recommended dissolution of the Idaho Potato Council, which regulates grading and marketing of Idaho spuds. The association suggested that growers operate a voluntary grading system.

Mud Hampers Spud Moving
Mud is hampering the shipment of potatoes from the basin now. Yesterday, despite indications that potato shipments would increase following discussions at Merrill Tuesday where the QPS said it would be some time before any adjustment would be made in the spud price ceiling, there were only 12 carloads of potatoes shipped out.

The day before there were 25. According to inspectors reports received at the State Department of Agriculture office here, muddy roads have made it difficult going for shippers and sorters working at country points. Only trucks have been able to traverse some roads.

Funeral arrangements are to be announced by Ward's.

He was born at Bridgeport, Calif., and with his parents moved to Lake County in 1885. Later they moved to Iowa and in 1903 Lester Kirkpatrick came back to Oregon, to Cottage Grove, and in 1904 came to Klamath Falls.

He and a brother, Claude, were reported to have been the only two passengers on the last stage run between Ashland and Kono.

In Klamath Falls, Kirkpatrick was in the freight business and with his brothers graded the streets in the Hot Springs district for the Klamath Development Company.

In later years he was associated with various hardware, furniture and mercantile businesses here and at Dunsmuir and Mt. Shasta, and also at Merrill. He at one time owned the Fort Klamath Hotel.
