Stunt Man Saves Granite He Knocked off Monument

By ERSKINE JOHNSON HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Behind the Screen: It may be an eyebrow-lifter in Washington, but now it can be told: Hollywood stunt man, Jimmy Dundee, has a piece of the Lincoln Memorial mounted on a mahogany base bearing the gold-plated inscription: "Knocked Off the Lincoln Memorial by Jimmy Dundee—Nov. 13, 1951."

The piece of granite, the size of a walnut, was chipped off when Dundee turned over an automobile on the memorial steps for the final scene in the Bob Walker-Helen Hayes co-starrer, "My Son John."

Hollywood's finally admitting that television is BIG competition. Fifty per cent of the movie theaters in the U. S. will be eliminated by TV, predicted Charles Skouras, president of the Fox theater chain, in a national magazine article.

City Water Commissioner Morrison B. Cunningham, decided it would be a nice thing if residents here could watch the event. So he scheduled it for Sunday, and advertised it.

About 20,000 cars turned out, 19,500 more than expected. Roads leading to the lake were snarled for miles in all directions. The fishermen couldn't get their two boats and a 750 foot seine, so they gave it up for the day as a bad job.

It took the police three hours and their whole force to untangle the traffic.

Polar Scientific Group Includes Pretty Blonde

PATUXENT, Md. (P) — A party of 18 scientists, including a blonde attractive 22-year-old woman, left here Sunday aboard two Navy planes on a three months expedition to study the polar ice cap.

The party, which will operate out of Point Barrow, Alaska, hopes to land for the first time in history on the polar ice pack.

The woman aboard is Mrs. John Holmes, a chemist. She and her husband are members of the staff of the Woods Hole, Mass., Oceanographic Institute.

Sixteen other members of the party plan to go north later this month to take part in the survey, which the Navy calls operation "Skjjump II." It is a followup of the smaller "Skjjump I" held last winter.

The purpose of the mission is to study ice characteristics, weather and ocean conditions, and to test the endurance of equipment and people in the extreme cold.

Headquarters for the group will be the Johns Hopkins University Arctic research laboratory at Point Barrow. Temporary bases will be set up on the ice pack.

Other members of the party include Lt. Commander C. D. Kephart, pilot of Bremerton, Wash., and H. L. Rhodes, Seattle, Comdr. V. J. Coley, Oakland, Calif., is in command of the operation.

19 Skiers Die In Avalanche

VIENNA (P) — Nineteen skiers were killed and 10 injured early Monday when a huge avalanche buried an Alpine hut near the Arlberg Pass, the Austrian News Agency said.

Twenty other persons in the hut were dug out from the snow mass by mountain rescue squads.

Most of the dead and injured were German skiers. The avalanche occurred on the slopes of Hohe Iken Mountain, which marks the border between Austria and Germany southwest of the German town of Oberstdorf.

Grandma Having Tough Time. LOS ANGELES (P)—Grandmother has it tough these days. "She finds there is little housework and there is no one to need her," Dr. Evelyn Mills Duval, Chicago, secretary of the National Council of Family Relations, declared Sunday.

"Her husband is at the prime of life, probably at the peak of his productive period, and so he feels happy and contented. She finds herself lost."

HOW MUCH DOES POOR VISION COST YOU? Just how much does inefficient vision take from you in a week, or a month, or a year? Are your eyes robbing you of health, wealth, or happiness you could enjoy if your eyes did their share? There's only one way to be certain. You can know by having a complete scientific eye examination at least once every year.
