Truman to Get Controls Extension, No Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman will get a controls extension law on the books this year, but not with all of the changes he is seeking.

This is the initial Congressional action on the controls message sent by the President to Capitol Hill Tuesday. Mr. Truman asked a two-year extension of the Defense Production Act—the law that carries price, wage, rent and credit controls plus production and allocation powers for the mobilization drive.

Republican lawmakers available for comment Wednesday said the President would probably get a one-year extension of the law—rather than the two years sought by the White House.

They also said they would try to ease the present "stifling controls" instead of strengthening them as Mr. Truman asked.

Ex-Con Fears Another Fall

heated support for the White House requests.

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—A man who has spent half his life in prison, walked into the police station here and asked to be locked up.

Unless he was, he might rob a bank, police quoted him as saying.

Chief Harry Diamond identified the man as Terry Donovan, 54, released less than two weeks ago from the Oregon State Prison after serving four years for armed robbery.

Donovan, who has served seven sentences—which total 27 years—in various prisons wants to go straight now, Diamond said Monday.

So the police held him until they could find a job for him.

Dam Opposed By Chamber

SISTERS, Ore. (AP)—The Sisters Chamber of Commerce went on record Tuesday night opposing construction of Pelton Dam on the Deschutes River.

The vote came after a talk by Rollie Bowles, Portland Isaac Walton League Chapter president. He spoke against the dam.

Most other Central Oregon Chambers of Commerce have voted to support construction of the dam by the Portland General Electric Company.

Hedy to Reap Big Reward When 'Interlude' Is Filmed

 HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Hedy Lamarr has definitely decided to stay in "Interlude" filming to be done in Mexico. It's one of those whopping percentage deals that will pay Hedy large hunks of cash over a period of years.

Errol Flynn, whose slick comedy sense surprised everybody on TV's "Comedy Hour," isn't admitting that he is planning more parlor screen appearances. "I did it because Bud Abbott is a close friend," Errol said. "You might say it was an act of charity."

"The Sea Around Us," Rachel Carson's best-seller about the strange life at the bottom of the ocean, has been optioned by RKO.

Joan Bennett, set to do a TV series before the bullets whizzed through that "purple haze," was paid off to the tune of $12,000 to forget the whole thing.

MGM's remake of the Norma Shearer-Clark Gable-Lionel Barrymore classic, "A Free Soul," may still reach the screen with the original title. The current tag, "The Girl Who Had Everything," isn't final.

Liz Taylor is the girl and Bill Powell will do the attorney role created by Lionel Gable's part has not been cast.

John Payne on his romance with sultry Lina Romay: "I don't think either one of us is serious. She's a nice girl. I've been out with her half a dozen times, that's all."

You've heard the wails of actors about the rigors of doing live TV. Now lend an ear to Mary Anderson's account of what an actress goes through working in a Hollywood-made short film for TV.

"I'd show up at the studio at 7 in the morning and work until 10 at night," moaned Mary about her starring role in "Mardi Gras," one of the features of the "Unexpected" series.

"I was on my feet the entire time and it was killing. How the crew stands it, I don't know. But you know something? It was fun."

Rock Hudson, who looks enough like Robert Ryan to be his brother, will co-star with Ryan in UI's "The Texas Man." His role: Ryan's brother.

Scott Brady's heart-sick, Hal Wallis offered him his top salary to date to play the muscular college lad in "Come Back, Little Sheba," but UI and Fox said "No."

Saturday's twin bill at the Lyceum children's mine in Cleveland, Ohio, is one for the book. The films: "Love Nest" and "Let's Make It Legal."

There's a serious wobble in the marriage of actress Dolores Moran and Producer Benedict Bogeaus.

DiSalle Wins Truman Praise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michael V. DiSalle, the little fat man from Toledo, Thursday neared the end of 14 months' service as the nation's price boss with a farewell pat on the back from President Truman for a good job done by "a wonderful guy."

Further, the President told DiSalle, "I hope you will succeed in helping the Democrats to retire a distinguished senator" in Ohio this fall.

Truman referred to Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) whom DiSalle hopes to unseat. The former Toledo mayor quits the price post Friday to go home to Ohio to begin his campaign for the Democratic senatorial nomination. If he wins that, he'll oppose Bricker in November.

The President spoke briefly in a surprise appearance at a testimonial dinner given for DiSalle by about 600 persons.

He said that DiSalle's efforts had made the price post "a bed of roses" for Ellis Arnall, ex-governor of Georgia, who is awaiting Senate confirmation to become the new OPS chief—probably next week. Arnall attended the dinner and was introduced.

Gas Explosion Injures 15

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP) — A leaking gas main explosion demolished a small savings and loan association building Wednesday and injured at least 15 persons.

Fire burned through the wreckage of the one-story colonial-style frame building of the Farmingdale Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Upwards of $10,000 in cash, and a large number of mortgages and other documents were destroyed.
