

Parley Set To Ponder Steel Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Top policy makers of the CIO United Steelworkers will meet in Pittsburgh Feb. 21—either to prepare for a nationwide steel strike after Feb. 23 or to extend the current truce period in order to reach contract agreement.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and of the Steelworkers Union, said Wednesday the union's 28-man executive board and its 170-man wage policy committee will meet in the steel city next Thursday.

Both the New York Times and the New York Herald Tribune said Thursday the meeting was to decide on the terms of a truce extension in order to effect a peaceful settlement in the steel contract dispute.

The Feb. 23 strike date is the expiration time of a 45-day deadline set by the union. The union, in accordance with Truman's request for added arbitration, figured the truce started with the beginning of Wage Stabilization Board hearings here Jan. 10.

During the 45-day truce, Murray berated Bradford B. Smith, a U.S. Steel Corp. economist, for calling steel workers "economic royalists."

Smith used the term while arguing against a union demand for a guaranteed annual wage which he called a socialistic notion.

Red with rage, Murray called Smith's statements "the most responsible, filthy, lying, deceiving presentation that has ever been presented to a government agency in my lifetime."

Overtime U.S. Pilot Missing

STANDISH, Mich. (AP)—A young wife whose Air Force pilot husband was sent out on more than 100 Korean combat missions due to "some mistake in the records" tried to get optimistic Thursday after learning he is missing in action.

Daniel G. Metiva's husband wrote that he had completed 101 missions, although pilots usually are sent home after 40, and was expecting to return by next month.

Metiva's husband has ever been presented to a government agency in my lifetime."

Coming Show Curbs Thefts

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. (AP)—George Williams, station-master at this suburban railroad depot, was $1—instead of the usual $2.50—short in his newspaper collections Thursday morning.

George operates the newspaper concession at the station on the honor system, with a money box where commuters can make their own change for the purchase.

For months his weekly shortage has run almost on the nose of $2.50, all lost to riders of one train.

Last week George tore a small hole in the ceiling over the change box spotted the pilferer—seven well-dressed men and one woman—and the next day was ready with a motion picture camera.

He informed his customers Wednesday with an announcement written on a blackboard, that he was prepared to stage a "early show" of his films.

"Obviously, when someone took a book this morning, one of these birds can't read, he said.

Food Output Biggest Task

GEARHART (AP) Increased food production continues the principal task of this country's farmers—some 200 Oregon production and marketing administration committees were told Wednesday.

Speakers at the state meeting included L. Mervin, Oregon PMA Administrator from Washington, D. C., who said a recent report put of food and fiber was asked, one needed total, he said, is 6 percent higher than last year.

If the feed grain production goal is met, he said, it will be necessary to reduce livestock production.

Some shortages of farm machinery, insecticides and fertilizers may occur, ALVIN Y. McCorkin, western regional PMA director, said. He recommended orders for these things be placed early.

How new green Chlorodont strikes at the very causes of TOOTH DECAY

Chlorodont reduces the amount of mouth acids that "eat" tooth enamel... helps combat bacteria causing these acids... keeps your teeth so clean that bacteria find it difficult to lodge and multiply on them.

How new green Chlorodont combats common GUM TROUBLES

An estimated 50% of all tooth loss can be traced to conditions which start with sore, bleeding gums. Brushing your teeth with Chlorodont helps keep gums in healthy condition and combats common gum troubles.

WHAT IS NATURE'S GREEN CHLORODONT?

Chlorodont is the magic green substance that does things which no other toothpaste can do. It combats the acids and bacteria that cause tooth decay and gum trouble.

Boy Fatally Shot at Play

VALLEJO, Calif.—Alan L. Dempewolf, 13, died of a simple playing dead when Steve Sawyer, 13, fired Alan's rifle in a school-boy game Wednesday.

"Why doesn't someone believe me when I say I'm dead?" Alan cried.

The sheriff's office continued the story.

"I'll make sure he's dead," Steve remarked to James Burgess, 13—and aimed at Alan, lying beside the railroad track.

The 22 rifle discharged accidentally, killing Alan.

Steve, alarmed, screamed, "I'm dead," as well as "I'm dead" and swung the rifle toward his own head.

James wrested it from him. Sheriff officers, after extensive questioning of Steve and James, called the killing purely accidental.

Taft Says He's GOP's Best Bet

PORTLAND (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio told more Western voters Thursday that he is the Republican party's best bet for the presidency.

His current speaking tour, through which he hopes to pick up Republican convention votes without out engaging in primary election campaigns in the West, takes him next to Eastern Oregon, and then into Idaho.

CONFIDENCE

He told overflow crowds in two speeches here Wednesday night that he knows how to run a campaign without a "me-too complex."

"I am confident that if I can guide the campaign, the Republican Party can and will win," he told the largest crowd, an estimated 4,000 who paid $2 each to hear him at a box lunch dinner. His other speech attracted 60, who paid $5 each for dinner at a church.

The formula he gave for his campaign:

"An all-out attack on the immorality of this administration, on the unlimited spending and taxing and bureaucratic regulation of the Fair Deal, and on the disastrous APPLAUSE."

He picked up his biggest applause on foreign policy, when he called the Korean fighting "a Truman war," when he accused the present administration of inconsistency in foreign policy, and the biggest applause of all—when he said, "It has become more and more clear that Gen. MacArthur was right..." Gen. MacArthur was dismissed primarily because he wanted to win the war against Communist China. The administration does not."

Law Enforced By the Parson

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Thou shalt not steal," says the eighth commandment, and the Rev. Edward P. Rice was only trying to enforce it when he hauled out his 12-gauge shotgun.

The pastor of the Ansonian Lutheran church, grabbed the gun when he heard a noise in the church early Wednesday. He told his wife to call police and went outside.

When a man came out Rice kept him covered until officers arrived. The man, who booked Charles H. Bolt on suspicion of burglary.

Went's Rice taking a chance on breaking the sixth commandment, "Thou shalt not kill."

"No, sir! The gun wasn't loaded."

Woman's Age Fools Mate

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sure, a woman may lie about her age, but it's a man's fault if he's fooled, especially if he's already been married three times.

That's what Superior Judge Melvyn I. Cronin said Wednesday sentencing Max Korshaber, 37, to a year in prison for bigamy.

Instead of an annulment from Alan, 22, whom he married four months ago.

Korshaber, a painter, told the judge his wife said she was 60.

Judge Cronin snapped: "A man of your experience should be a better judge of a woman's age."

Students Give Lots of Blood

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP)—Students of California State Polytechnic College Thursday pledged a collective record—percentage-wise donating blood to the Armed Services.

In a three-day drive, Cal Poly students gave $19,000 worth of $2.30 a pint, or 2,038 member student body.

It also previously had claimed a student body of 2,040. This was $2.30 a pint.

A Cal Poly student spokesman said 200 prospective donors were turned down because they had colds.
