MALIN ELECTRIC CLUB

The Malin Electric Club has been very successful in its projects. We have made several things, such as tool chest for our tools and materials. We have learned how to make the Underwriters knot, pig tail splice and common splice. We repaired a lamp cord and made a test lamp at our last meeting. The wires on our weather-proof socket were too short, so our test lamp didn't turn out according to directions. We are planning on making a lamp in the near future.

TED MALONE

By MARJORIE OVGARD
Here's that picture of "Ted Malone" we promised. Small, to be sure, but nevertheless, a picture. Malone is in Oslo, Norway, right now, covering the Winter Olympic Games. He's been telling exciting stories about the fabulous bob sled runs, figure skating, and tomorrow he'll relate one about Fridtjof Nansen and the "Fram," titled "Three Years on Ice." Friday it will be the story of the ski jump, or "It Helps to be Crazy." While in Norway he's gathering other material for "Ted Malone" is heard at 3:15 p. m. daily and now has two news sponsors, Muriel's Beauty Salon, and Lee Hendricks' Drug Store... Ordinarily, Rose Rio plays organ background music for Ted's conversations. Wish we had a picture of Rose. She sounds like a good sport. Of course she never SAYS a word, but when Ted teases her about her hats or most anything, she comes back at him with a tinkle or a base note on the organ, sounds that are quite descriptive of her feelings in the particular matter... Heard Rose referred to an another program the other night, "Club Can Do." She plays the mood music on "My True Story" and other ABC shows from time to time.

Norman Oberst is working his last day at LW today. Norm has resigned to go to work at KMED, Medford. We'll miss his "airy" personality, and any way you take that, we mean it. So we'll say to Norm what he says as he signs off "Requestfully Yours" on Saturdays, "Behave Yourself!"

Tomorrow night's "Original Amateur Hour" will emanate from Philadelphia as a public benefit performance. Outstanding "graduates" and three-time winners from the Mack radio and television shows will be featured on the 45-minute broadcast. This is the first of the out-of-town charity benefits in the "Amateur Hour's" '52 schedule. "Original Amateur Hour," 8:00 p. m. on Thursday nights.
Good listening on ABC Wednesday nights... "Mystery Theatre," "Top Guy," "Rogues Gallery," and the Memorable Music series, "Northwest Artists."
