

Community Concert Association

ANNETTE JACOBS (left), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruby Jacobs, and Sharon Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Ernest Taylor, "waiting for the program to start."

COMMUNITY CONCERTS are attended by members of all ages . . . young fry and adults alike are enthusiastic patrons. The 1951 - 1952 series is the fifteenth year that the association has brought top talent in entertainment to Klamath Falls. Mat, Hari and company, concert offering earlier this month, was delightfully different from usual concert fare. The internationally famed Ruth Matl and Eugene Hari are rapidly becoming a rave attraction with their nimble and clever comic dancing. From the newsworld to staid Carnegie Hall, the Swiss dancers find conventional customs to tease in gay numbers. Many in the audience were obviously puzzled in the early part of the evening but as the concert continued they began to get into the spirit of the thing. At the concert's end, the dancers and their accompanists received a half-dozen curtain calls.

PATSY PATTERSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson, and Georgie Filtrcraft, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Filtrcraft, on their way into "find seats before curtain time."

JUST BEFORE CURTAIN TIME . . . Bruce Binkley, Louis Mann, president, and Bruce Binkley's son Randall . . . scanning the program in anticipation of the Matl and Hari offering for the evening.

SOCIETY

by Milly Ramsly

UP THE STAIRS . . . at the Pelican theater to view the Community Concert Association's latest program . . . Matl and Hari . . . comic dancers whose extraordinary talents delighted the responsive audience. Mrs. Lynn Swanson and Mrs. Lynn Keller . . . two Tulelake concert-goers.

MR. AND MRS. Francis Lundrum . . . hurrying into the Pelican Theater "just in time."

THE J. C. LEMIRES . . . all set for full evening of entertainment at the Community Concert in the Pelican Theater.

LATE ARRIVALS . . . Dr. and Mrs. William Helford and Mr. and Mrs. John Smith steal another moment for the Helfords to do a little thirst quenching.

MRS. H. H. MEYERS (left), Mrs. W. A. Suther and Mrs. S. F. Scott . . . whose smiles were just as happy at the end of the clever comic routine in the Matl and Hari presentation.

Engaged

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE W. MCINTYRE, 409 Lincoln, announce the engagement of their daughter Marian Jean, to Samuel Willard Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Raymond, Portland. Marian also announced the betrothal at Stewart Hall on the Lewis and Clark College campus. She is a senior, majoring in elementary education, and her fiance is a graduate of OSC forestry. He is with the personnel department of Weyerhaeuser Timber Company. A June wedding is planned.

Photo by Guderian.

Leaving

MRS. GEORGE E. BOSSARDET . . . who leaves Klamath Falls and many friends to make her home in Brunswick, Georgia . . . Mr. Bossardet was recently transferred there with the Hercules Powder Company. Mrs. Loren Palmerton, 1345 Eldorado Avenue, recently entertained at a bridge-luncheon honoring Mrs. Bossardet.

Photos by Kettler.

Visitor

MRS. LOWELL C. JONES . . . Portland . . . who, with her husband was a weekend houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Adams, 2015 Huron. They were entertained at various affairs while here.