Leah Fenning, new president of the Mt. Mazama Toastmistresses, urged members to express themselves in worthwhile words that have been clearly thought through. Mrs. Fenning also suggested letter writing as a means of expression. There were many topics discussed at the regular business meeting held at the Willard Hotel, February 14th. One topic discussed by all members present was how to give directions to points of interest in and around the Klamath Basin. Topicmistress for the evening was Margaret Davies. A contest is being held in the local club to select a speaker to enter in the district speech contest to be held in Grants Pass in April.
