Pointing out that it is public policy not to hire Communists for government jobs, it said private business should follow a similar policy and not employ Communists "and the various fringes of fellow travelers and dupes."

It suggested that Communists should not be hired in:

"Any plant large enough to have a labor union; any school or university; any agency which in-newspapers, radio, television, book and magazine publishing and re-search institutions; and any field which gives prestige and high sal-aries to Communists, such as the entertainment field."
