Plague Grips North Korea

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The Communist Peiping Radio said Monday Gen. Kim Il Sung, chairman of the military council and premier of North Korea, had issued a decree placing the country in a virtual state of emergency to combat bubonic plague.

The Red broadcast, heard by The Associated Press, said the decree ordered a national extraordinary anti-epidemic committee, the Ministry of Health, the Army Medical Bureau and other government agencies to "mobilize all forces" to wipe out germ-carrying insects.

The Reds persistently accused the United States of causing the plague by dropping germs behind Red lines.

Court Blocks Milk Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court Monday decided the secretary of agriculture lacks power to order payments to milk co-operators for disposing of milk during seasons of high production.

The Secretary's orders were intended to equalize returns to milk producers the year around.

Funds to pay the co-operators amounting to millions of dollars are obtained by setting aside part of the money that normally would be paid to milk producers in the flush production period.

Justice Clark delivered the 4-3 decision. Justice Black wrote a dissenting opinion, in which Justices Reed and Douglas concurred. Justices Jackson and Minton took no part in the case.

The secretary has issued the payment orders under provisions of 1937 Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act.

An order applying to the Boston milkshed was contested by five dairy farmers who contended the act did not authorize such payments to co-operators.

Two lower federal courts in the District of Columbia ruled against the Boston order, causing Secretary Brannan to appeal to the Supreme Court.

He contended the order was authorized by Congress. He said it was necessary because of seasonal changes in milk production.

Brannan's appeal said the lower court rulings raised questions as to similar orders issued for the New York metropolitan, Cincinnati and Dayton-Springfield marketing areas.

Co-Ed Suspended in Red Probe at Detroit School

By FELIX B. WOLD

DETROIT (AP) - A co-ed's suspension by her university and a possible federal fraud case against a witness pointed up effects of the Communism inquiry Friday.

At the same time House Un-American Activities Committee investigators prepared to wind up their present hearing Friday. They hope to come back next month.

Mrs. Gerzaine Faxon Melner, 21, pert brunette, was suspended by Wayne University Thursday night.

Only a few hours earlier she had refused on the witness stand to answer questions for this committee reproved her. Patrick Rice, who was informed of her suspension in a telegram from Wayne President David D. Henry.

Dr. Henry said her attitude indicated "either an unreasonable refusal to co-operate or a prima facie admission of criminal action on your part."

The university promised Mrs. Melner an "official review" of its action if she requests one.

She said she planned to talk the matter over with Dr. Henry before making any comment.

The fraud case was threatened against Beloit's Patrick Rice, vice president of the CIO United Auto Workers giant Ford Local 609.

This was connected with Rice's testimony regarding his purported application to the government for a passport to go to Europe last year.

Rep. Potter (R-Mich.), member of the inquiring subcommittee, said that Rice, if judged by his testimony, was guilty of fraud.

Any recommendation by the subcommittee would have to go to the full committee for approval before being presented to the Department of Justice, Potter said.

However, the committee introduced in evidence a photostat copy of a purported passport application by Rice in which he said he lived in Cleveland prior to that.

In Cleveland, the committee introduced in evidence a photostat copy of a purported passport application by Rice in which he said he lived in Cleveland prior to 1951.

The photostat was shown Rice, but he refused to answer when asked if he could identify it.

Grandmother Berniece Baldwin, an FBI spy on Communists, told further details Friday of widespread organization of the party in Michigan up to 1950.

The grey-haired, 49 year old woman took the stand to relate in detail her experiences as an undercover agent.

Mrs. Baldwin told investigators of a Communist organization of clubs in at least 30 Michigan cities, including the college towns of East Lansing and Ann Arbor.

At East Lansing, home of Michigan State College, she said the club membership included "school teachers" while at Ann Arbor, site of the University of Michigan, the club included "college students."

Mrs. Baldwin, who was dues collector for the party in Michigan, said the Communists went underground in late 1949 or early 1950.

Thereafter, she said, no records were kept and "no phone calls were made and if there was a phone call made, no names."

Anti-Red Teacher Law Upheld by High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court Monday upheld by a 6 to 3 vote New York's anti-Communist Teacher Law.

The act—widely known as the Feinberg Law—is designed to bar subversive persons from working in the state's school system.

It was attacked by eight New York taxpayers who insisted the statute violated freedom of speech and assembly.

Justice Minton delivered the majority decision. Justices Douglas, Black and Frankfurter wrote dissenting opinions. That meant the majority was composed of Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Reed, Jackson, Burton and Clark as well as Minton.

The Feinberg Law was enacted in 1949 to help enforce a state civil service law passed ten years earlier. The civil service law says persons who advocate violent overthrow of government may not be appointed to, or stay on, state jobs.

The law's preamble refers to the Communist Party as an advocate of violent overthrow of government.

However, pending the outcome of the case before the Supreme Court, the Board of Regents has not compiled a subversive list and no teacher has been fired under the Feinberg Law.

Lawyers for the eight taxpayers who carried their fight against the law to the highest court argued that the proposed listing would have a "terroristic effect" of teachers and would create interference with freedom in general.

But Minton said for the tribunal: "A teacher works in a sensitive area in a school room. There he shapes the attitude of young minds toward the society in which they live. In this, the state has a vital concern. It must preserve the integrity of the schools."

"The school authorities have the right and duty to screen the officials, teachers and employees as integrity of the schools as a part of ordered society, cannot be doubted."

Minton added that, "one's as-

SUBVERSIVE LIST

The Feinberg Law requires the State Board of Regents—the administrative body which heads the New York educational system—to list subversive organizations.

The law makes membership in such listed organizations clear evidence of disqualification for any job in the school system.

SPYING PROJECT

Disseminating Douglas said the Feinberg Law "inevitably turns the school system into a spying project" and "what happens under this law is typical of what happens in a police state."

He continued: "Teachers are under constant surveillance; their pasts are combed for finds of disloyalty; their utterances are watched for clues to dangerous thoughts. A pall is cast over the classrooms, there can be no real academic freedom in that environment."
