Truce Talks Make Progress-- We're Now Back To Where We Were In December, Says Boss

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea (AP) — Korean truce talks are "right back where they were Dec. 18," Rear Adm. R. E. Libby said Tuesday after arguing with the Communists whether 50,000 missing Allied troops actually exist.

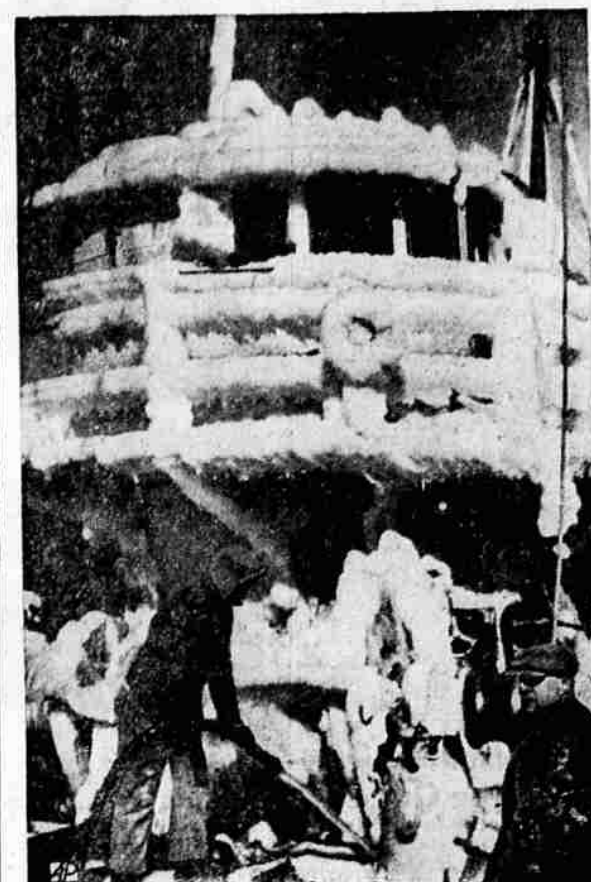

Libby demanded the Reds account for the missing men—South Korean soldiers the U.N. Command says the Reds incorporated in the North Korean army.

They "do not exist," said North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho.

He called it an Allied fabrication, an "attempt to block our progress." (The Reds concede some South Koreans are in the Communist army, but contend they are volunteers and that many deserted the South Korean army.)

"They do exist and have always existed," Libby snapped back. And they "must be returned to our side" when prisoners of war are exchanged.

At this point Libby said: "Apparently we are back where we were on Dec. 18." Negotiators exchanged lists of prisoners of war on that date.

REMOVING A WINTER COAT—Crewmen of fishing trawler Red Jacket start to free winches and hatches of six-inch coating of frozen spray at Boston Harbor after 200-mile run through Atlantic waters in teeth of sub-zero northwest winds.

Friction, produced along the banks of a river due to irregularities, causes the water there to flow more slowly than it does in the middle of the stream.

From a rendezvous over Nova Scotia, American golden plovers follow a path over the open Atlantic to South America's northeastern shoulder.

In another truce tent Red staff officers repeated their "firm and unshakable" demand that Soviet Russia help supervise a truce. U.N. officers supervised their "irrevocable" stand that Soviet Russia was not acceptable.

They have been deadlocked like that for weeks.

Communist generals negotiating the prisoner exchange "were very well behaved," Libby said, in contrast to their shouted accusations of Monday.

But in a new charge Lee said if the U.N. Command holds any prisoners who don't want to be returned they have been intimidated at bayonet point.

Lee was attacking the Allied stand that no prisoners be sent back unless they want to go, and the U. N. reclassification of 44,000 prisoners as civilian internees.

Bright Idea for Lent

Brand-new way to please folks on Lenten days. Serve Fluffy Shrimp-Potato Bake—low in cost, tops in taste! And a breeze to make with ready-cooked Blue Plate Canned Shrimp...plump, tender, full of deep-sea goodness. No peeling. No waste. A 5-oz. can of Blue Plate Shrimp equal to 1-lb. whole raw shrimp.

FLUFFY SHRIMP-POTATO BAKE

4 medium baked potatoes, hot
2 tablesp. butter or margarine
Salt and pepper to taste
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cubed American cheese
1 5-oz. can Blue Plate Shrimp

Cut slices from top of each potato, scoop out potato and mash. Add butter, milk. Whip until fluffy. Mix in cheese and shrimp, saving a few shrimp for garnishing. Fill potato shells with mixture. Top with shrimp, lightly oiled to keep from drying. Heat in 350° oven (mod.) until potatoes are browned and thoroughly hot, 4 servings.
