Hanford Plant In Major Atom Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hanford Atomic Energy plant at Richland, Wash., "will play a major role" in a planned atomic program expansion, Rep. Jackson (D-Wash.) said Friday.

Jackson, a member of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, said in a statement the cost of the overall expansion "might be in excess of 100 million dollars."

A program of expanded atomic activity was announced in January by President Truman.

Jackson's statement did not say how much of the money would be spent at the Hanford plant, and gave no details of the proposed expansion there.

Vote Due On McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rules Committee voted 8 to 3 Friday to seek a Senate vote on whether to continue a subcommittee inquiry into demands that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) be ousted from Congress.

A Rules subcommittee has been looking into charges by Sen. Benton (D-Conn.) that McCarthy is unfit to serve.

Benton gave several reasons, among them what he called the unethical manner in which McCarthy has pressed his charges of Communism in government.

McCarthy has challenged the subcommittee's jurisdiction to conduct its inquiry into the Benton charges, and declared they are intended to muzzle him in the work of exposing Communists.

The subcommittee has also accused the Wisconsin Republican of having "impugned the integrity" of its members.

Last Monday the subcommittee voted 4 to 1 to ask the Senate for a vote of confidence on the jurisdiction and the integrity issues.

The full Rules Committee approved the subcommittee's plan Friday. Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz.) said three Republicans voted no—Sens. Jenner (Ind.), Dirksen (Ill.) and Welker (Idaho).

Drama Guild Play Slated

Title of "Voice of the Turtle" final play to be presented here by the New York Drama Guild, March 11, was taken from the "Song of Solomon," which proclaims the coming of Spring as a time of singing when "the voice of the turtle is in the land."

The turtle's rejoicing voice does not avoid the Manhattan apartment of Sally Middleton, the wistfully young actress who is the heroine of the tenderly comic play.

Sally, carrying the torch for a famous producer, finds herself getting well acquainted with a GI on weekend leave when he is stood up by her friend Olive. The plot thickens.

Some playgoers have been shocked by the hilarious complications in this sophisticated comedy but all audiences have been charmed and delighted.

Author of Voice of the Turtle is John Van Druten who wrote the heart-warming "I Remember Mama" and many other stage hits. Leading roles will be played by Phyllis Manning and Wendell

They Love It, For 35 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vochatzer, 1623 Avalon Ave., came to Klamath Falls from Oakland 35 years ago today . . . And today Mrs. Vochatzer said they had "grown to love Klamath" and thinks "we'll probably make our home here."

The Vochatzers were a young married couple when they came here. They moved from Oakland so they could be with Vochatzer's widowed mother. Two of Vochatzer's brothers had been drafted for World War I and the third was soon to be drafted, which would have left their mother alone.

When young Mrs. Vochatzer stepped off the train here she saw

The play, last of a series of three brought her by the Business and Professional Women's Club is scheduled for Mills auditorium. Curtain time will be 8 p.m.

her first snow. "It was a day just about like today," said Mrs. Vochatzer this morning.
