Eldorado Heights Section About Ready To Go; City Works On Ground Owners

Eldorado Heights, proposed new city residential section, has about hatched its way through a series of hitches and actual start on the first development area may be made before long.

The modern, picturesque development in the rolling hills behind Pacific Terrace, who conceived several months ago and overall layout work done by Morrison and Howard, architects and city planners.

The City Planning Board and Council both approved the plans and then turned over several legal problems to City Atty. Henry Perkins.

One major hitch was overcome when Perkins himself bought a big block of lots in the area from the county. Since then, Perkins has been busy trying to get 62 persons who own some 200 other lots in the area to agree to replatting.

Now Perkins says all but five of these lot owners have been reached and have agreed to go along with the new development.

Eldorado Heights, as planned by Morrison and Howard, is to be a modern residential section with shopping, school, park areas and over 1100 building lots.

By employing contour planning rather than the common gridded method, the architectural engineers cleverly avoided steep street grades. Steepest grade in the entire layout will be two short sections with about the same degree

Business Outlook Not So Bright As Week Ago; Some Good Points Registered

NEW YORK (AP) — After looking over the soft spots in the economy this week businessmen took a dimmer view of the weeks ahead.

Industrial production was at a high level on a nationwide basis—thanks to defense orders. But the weak spots were becoming more pronounced and more widespread.

Poor business in the textile and shoe industries was especially noticeable. Factories cut back their production. Work weeks were shortened. In some cases mills were closed.

During the week Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson directed the Defense Department to channel negotiated work contracts to "substantial unemployment" areas.

These areas, he said, would get preference provided contractors there can meet the lowest negotiated price obtainable anywhere else.

The action excluded plants making textiles, shoes and apparel in the depressed areas until industry-wide hearings have determined the impact of such aid on other geographical areas.

Malcolm McNair of the Harvard University Business School said the retail sales picture for the spring looks a lot less rosy than it did two months ago.

He told the Executive Committee of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, that he had been optimistic in January when he predicted retail sales would show an increase of five per cent over last spring.

With the economic changes in mind, McNair said it now appeared sales would rise only one per cent or just "break even."

Dun and Bradstreet, the business reporting service, said retailers in most lines were unable to match the sales figures of a year ago.

The week did have its good point, however. Steel production, for instance, set a new weekly production record of 2,104,000 tons. The highest previous output was 2,097,000 tons in the week of Dec. 17.

The New York Stock Exchange prices gained ground during the week, with a lusty shove on Tuesday by the strongest advance in the past eight months.

Klamathites Hurt In Wreck

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — Two Klamath Falls, Ore., women and two young children apparently were recovering Friday from serious injuries received in an automobile accident.

They are Mrs. Julia Nelson, 43; her daughter, Mrs. Betty Ericks, 20, and Mrs. Ericks' two children, Katherine Brennan, 3, and Edward Brennan, 2.

All were injured seriously last Monday morning when the automobile driven by Mrs. Ericks went out of control four miles south of here.

Mrs. Nelson was the most critically hurt, with broken legs and head injuries.

She since has improved, and the others also reportedly were improving. All are in the French hospital here.

Bids Due On Palisades Dam

DENVER (AP) — The Reclamation Bureau announced Friday it expects to call for bids this month for construction of the huge Palisades Dam in Idaho.

Bids may also be called on several jobs in the Columbia Basin irrigation project in Washington State.

The Palisades projects in Eastern Idaho involves an earth-fill dam that will be 2,100 feet long, 2,300 feet wide at the base and 260 feet high.

Columbia Basin bid invitations are expected on these projects:

Construction of about 48 miles of unlined laterals canals and sublaterals and 1.5 miles of pipe line near Quincy.

Drilling of 40 drainage observation wells to a 50-foot depth near Moses Lake.

Installation of lighting standards for street lighting in the town of Coulee Dam.

Construction of two miles of unlined wasteway near Moses Lake.

Fir, Hemlock Ceilings Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Magnuson said Friday that the Office of Price Stabilization had advised him the order for uniform price ceilings for West Coast Douglas fir and hemlock lumber will be effective March 18.

The OPS has not announced the provisions of the order. The Washington senator said two days ago that the order had been signed by Administrator Arnall. The OPS said at that time it would not be ready to announce the provisions until the middle of next week.

FBI Nabs Tax Dodge Suspect

TACOMA (AP) — John F. Loughran formerly of Buckley, Wash., and formerly manager of the Cumberland Lumber Co. was arrested Thursday by federal agents at Sheridan, Ore., on a secret indictment charging that he understated gross receipts of the business during 1945, 1946, 1947 and 1948.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Harry Sager said the indictment returned by the federal grand jury here a week ago accuses Loughran of understating on partnership tax statements the company's gross receipts for 1945 by $14,000; for 1946 by $23,000; for 1947 by $1,500 and for 1948, $11,000.

In addition, Sager said, he is charged with padding expenses in 1947 by $2,000 and in 1948 by $3,000.

Loughran was released on $2,500 bond after his arrest.

Mundt Predicts Success In Killing Truman Bill To Reorganize Tax Unit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) predicted Saturday Senate opponents of President Truman's plan to reorganize the tax-collecting service will muster the necessary 49 votes to kill it.

He said in an interview the President's letter sent to the Capitol Friday in support of the plan was a "brazen effort to divert attention from conditions of graft" in the administration.

Other senators opposed to the plan to reshuffle the scandal-plagued Internal Revenue Bureau were not so certain it could be defeated. One privately told a reporter it would be possible to muster 51 votes against it if all 51 members opposed turned up when the showdown comes next week.

But this same source pointed out it almost never was possible to get all senators in attendance and that every absentee in effect was a vote for the plan.

The law governing reorganization measures requires a majority of the full membership, or 40 votes, to reject a presidential proposal.

A second letter the President wrote Friday met milder reaction on Capitol Hill. In it he informed Rep. Chelf (D-Ky.) that the Justice Department had neither time nor personnel to provide Chelf's House subcommittee with a long list of data it requested on tax cases.

Truman said he was backing Attorney General McGrath's refusal to supply such information by ordering all government agencies to turn down any such requests by the subcommittee.

The subcommittee is investigating the Justice Department, accused of laxity in prosecuting tax law violations. The subcommittee had asked for a list of all cases

PIN SWALLOWER—Here's 20-month-old Sharon Fuchs of Los Angeles, holding an X-ray of her lungs which shows how a straight 'pin' was lodged in a bronchial tube. It was removed without surgery through use of a stereo-fluoroscope, an X-ray instrument that gives three-dimensional view of the body's interior. Doctors described it as a rear operation in which the surgeon, unable to see what he is doing, is directed by a second medic who views the fluoroscope.

Not Ready, Case Closed

NEW YORK (AP) — "I guess she just wasn't ready for marriage," William Sebring, advertising salesman, informed Magistrate Corning McKemee. "Really I'd like to get that stuff back from her."

The 26-year old Sebring was referring to three pairs of black lace panties—at $25 a pair—and a cigarette lighter, he said he gave his former fiancée, 23-year old Linda Aaron, in place of an engagement ring.

"Well," said the pretty stenographer, "I'd like to keep the cigarette lighter, your honor, but as a token of fond recollection. But if he wants the panties back, I'll give them to him. I didn't wear the panties."

Case closed, ruled McKemee.

Voice Held To Be Getting Through

NEW YORK (AP) — A government official says that about one-fourth of the Voice of America's programs are getting through to Moscow and Leningrad despite Soviet jamming attempts.

Dr. Wilson Compton, head of the recently formed International Information Administration, added that the Voice broadcasts are reaching up to 75 per cent of other Russian areas.

Compton spoke Friday night at a service commemorating the 102 birthday anniversary of Thomas G. Masaryk, founder and first President of the Czechoslovak Republic.
