Water Panel Slated For KFLW Today
 The first of what probably will be a decisive series of discussions of the Klamath area's water problem is to aired over KFLW at 8:20 tonight, on the "Build the Basin" forum.

Panel members scheduled to take part in the discussion are A. N. Murray, regional planning engineer of the Bureau of Reclamation, Sacramento; E. L. Stephens, Klamath project manager, USBR; John Boyle, Copco vice president and general manager, Medford; Tom Horn, Tulelake Wildlife Refuge manager; Charles Stricklen, Oregon State Engineer, Salem; Lloyd Gill, Linnell Valley rancher, and Frank Jenkins, publisher of the Herald and News.

The Klamath water problem, in simplest form is this: There is plenty of water, but it will be taken away unless the present surplus is put to work for irrigation, power and other uses very quickly.

Several panel discussions on the whole general subject are planned, so tonight's forum is to be limited to getting a basis of fact upon which all factions can agree. Primarily the discussion will be of the past and present uses of water, the sources and supply.

Listeners are invited to participate by asking questions of the panel, but the questions should try to bring out facts about the present situation of water use control, costs and the like, rather than going into future planning.

Questions may be telephoned to the Herald and News, 811, while the program is in progress.

Escaped Con Recaptured
 SALEM — A trusty, who walked away from the state prison farm two months before he was to be paroled, was caught Friday at OceanSide, Calif.

The convict, Walter H. Edwards, 27, was taken up on a traffic charge. Warden O'Malley said Saturday.

Edmonds was serving a five year sentence on a Lincoln County auto theft conviction at the time of his escape. Feb. 22, he was to have been paroled in June.

Another convict, George Frederick, escaped at the same time. Prison authorities still are seeking him.

SMILING SUITOR—WAITS SEVEN YEARS—Harold Smiling Suitor, 26, (left), of Seattle, Wash., met Franca Castellani, 26 (right) in 1943 at Empoli, Italy when he was on duty with U.S. Army. They became engaged a year later and in 1945 Samu was returned home for discharge before they could get married.

Recently Samu received a letter from Miss Castellani saying she was working ten hours a day trying to forget him. He put in a phone call to tell her he was about ready to send for her. Late his spring she will travel to Seattle to wed Samu.

Arms-For-Drugs Plan Told In Tale From Thailand
 By JACK MACBETH
 SOMEWHERE IN NORTHERN THAILAND (S)—Chinese Nationalist troops who have taken refuge in Northeastern Burma are being supplied regularly through an opium-for-guns smuggling arrangement in Thailand.

This correspondent spent five days looking around the area extending from Chiang Mai 75 miles to the north and within 10 to 20 miles east of the Burmese border. Sources in most cases cannot be identified for publication, but they include teachers, missionaries, official foreign observers, leading merchants, local newsmen, army officers, senior Thai civil servants and police officials.

Although their information varied in detail it outlined a general pattern strongly supported by evidence which could be observed. This is how the barter arrangement works: A Chinese posing as a merchant, colonel, maintains headquarters in but reported to be a National army Chiang Mai as the link between the Chinese embassy in Bangkok, Thailand's capital, and the Nationalists in Burma.

His job is to funnel supplies received from Bangkok by air and rail, as well as locally-produced food and clothing across the border. He has several assistants. In exchange the Chinese Nationalists in Burma send raw opium to Chiang Mai for forwarding to Bangkok and onward. The opium is grown in Burma's Shan states and the Yunnan Province of China. It long has been an important though illicit industry in this part of the country.

Since 1949 it has been stimulated by the presence of about 10,000 ill-equipped and hungry Chinese Nationalist forces who were pushed over the Burma border by the Chinese Reds. An informant claiming to be familiar with the situation on the Burma side of the border said recently he had seen brand new, American-made arms in the hands of the Chinese there.

(In Washington the State Department reiterated Saturday its denial that the United States was assisting Chinese Nationalist forces in Burma in any way.)

Plane Wreck Yields Bodies
 POMONA, Calif. (AP)—Five bodies have been recovered from the wreckage of an ambulance plane that crashed on a flight from Needles, Calif., to Los Angeles.

Wreckage of the single engine craft, object of an extensive air and ground search since last Tuesday, was found on a mountainside near here Saturday.

The dead are: John R. Flick, 11, who was being flown to Los Angeles for an eye operation; his mother, Mrs. Eileen Wilson, 42; Albert Fleming, LaFitte, La., oilman and uncle of Mrs. Wilson; Pilot William Natte, 42; Needles, and Bob Tracy, 45, Needles contractor and pilot.

New Detector Spots Metals
 NEW YORK (AP)—The government has a new, faster and more accurate means of detecting deposits of uranium, the basic metal in the production of atomic energy.

The Atomic Energy Commission's operations office here said Sunday its engineers have developed a new "scintillation probe and detecting device" which will help speed up the hunt for underground minerals in the Colorado Plateau and other western states.

Mounted on motor vehicles, the device is contained in a 2 1/2 foot long cylinder two inches in diameter. It is lowered into test drill holes and then gradually brought to the surface. It indicates on a picture recorder the presence of Gamma rays, given off by uranium and radium.

Dr. Phillip L. Merrill, head of the AEC exploration program, said in a statement that the new device compared with older methods is three times more efficient, two or three times more precise, five times as fast, and more versatile.

Chiloquin Is Speech Champ
 Chiloquin won the county junior high school speech festival trophy for the first time in many years Friday when the annual event was held at Altamont. Some 357 students from ten schools participated in the all day schedule.

Mrs. A. R. Dickson of Henley was general chairman of the event and judges were Mrs. Clarence Humble for serious speeches, Mrs. Lloyd Miller for poetry, Adelle Mac Nixou, story telling and the radio speaking was judged by Mrs. Walter McIntyre. All four judges of-ficiated for both humorous and choral readings.

Chiloquin placed 42 points followed closely by Altamont with 40 and Henley with 38. Gilchrist and Fairhaven tied for fourth place with 35 points each. Bly, Keno, Min, Merrill and Bonanza placed sixth through tenth in the county.

While the judges' decisions were tallied the host school put on a clever program which featured the band, glee club and boys' chorus. A vocal solo was given by Terry Fawver and a duet by Sharon Bowen and Frances Walker. Dances were done by Barry Minton and Myrna Heaton.

The two outstanding events in the festival according to those who attended were the masterful choral reading done by the Chiloquin eighth and ninth graders. "The Mountain Whippoorwill" with Mrs. Frank Bell directing and the clever humorous reading given by Wally Wunder of Altamont entitled "Phonetic Punctuation." Multiple points were given for both choral reading and humorous this year as the youngsters must speak before an audience of some four or five hundred while all other divisions are given in small rooms with only a few listeners.

The superior ratings of 4 points, one to each event, were as follows: Choral reading—Chiloquin, story telling—John Layton of Keno who told "Jack in the Well," radio speaking—Bly, humorous—this year as the KU students can well be proud of their team and we hope for success in Eugene. Pelicans are sure to have fine backing at the tournament.

Twins Born To Mother Of Sixteen
 SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Twin sons were delivered Sunday at Carbondale General Hospital to Mrs. Rexford Oakley, of nearby Childs. They were the 17th and 18th children for the 43-year-old woman and her husband, an unemployed miner.

Seventeen of the Oakley children, ranging up to 23-year old James who is married and a father, are alive. "I'd like to get up to 24," commented Oakley. He didn't indicate why.

Next Move Up To Reds, Says Allied Truce Boss
 By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
 MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Allied negotiators warned the Communists Monday that threats and intimidation will not force the U.N. Command to accept Red terms for a Korean armistice.

"You cannot dictate the terms of an armistice and you cannot hope to achieve any progress in three or four unannounced sessions by resorting to threats," said Rear Adm. R. E. Libby.

He said the next move is up to the Reds. Libby's sharp warning followed two days of Communist attacks on Allied treatment of captured Communist soldiers.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, in an obscurely worded warning, first declared the issue might go "beyond the scope of the Korean question." Sunday he warned that "serious incidents are in the making."

"We cannot envisage that your threats of the past two days have any other purpose than to attempt to intimidate us," said Libby. "You denied that you hold in Korea any more than 11,500 prisoners whose names you gave us," the admiral continued. "You denied that you ever held any of our captured personnel outside Korea."

"We have evidence which clearly convicts on both counts," Libby said. Last week the U.N. Command accused the Communists of secretly imprisoning captured soldiers, including Americans, in Red China.

A spokesman quoted a Chinese prisoner as saying he saw about 1,000 men at a processing center near Harbin, in Central Manchuria. Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckolls, U.N. spokesman, said there was no way of knowing whether these men were among those whose names failed to appear on the Reds' official prisoner roster.

Last week the Reds were asked to account for another 173 U.N. prisoners identified through Communist broadcasts, letters to relatives or other sources.

The Communists have been accused of failing to account for more than 50,000 Allied prisoners, most of them South Korean. Both groups of negotiators will meet again at 11 a.m. Tuesday (6 p.m. PST Monday) in Panmun-jom.

Gales Claim Three Ships
 LONDON (AP)—Weekend gales in the North Sea are believed to have taken the lives of 60 seamen. Only one survivor has been found from three missing ships.

He was First Mate Willi Sunkun, of the 447-ton German trawler Thor, which capsized in heavy seas and 70-mile-an-hour winds near the Orkney Islands. The body of a dead sailor was found in a lifeboat with him and 17 other crewmen were reported lost.

The 82-ton Finnish ship Adna had radioed she was sinking and 15 crewmen were feared lost. Search continued from Norway, however.

German Boss Wins First NATO Vote
 BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had a majority endorsement of his re-armament program. At the vote from its first test at the polls and was expected to press full steam ahead to put German soldiers into the projected European army.

The voting okay came in the new southwest state's first election Sunday, in which members of Adenauer's pro-rearmament government coalition defeated the anti-army Social Democrats of Dr. Kurt Schumacher almost two to one.

Complete unofficial returns showed the voters in the state formed by the merger of Baden, Wurttemberg-Baden and Wurttemberg-Hohenzollern gave 582,464 ballots to Adenauer's Christian Democrats and 491,587 to the Allied Free Democrats.

Schumacher's Socialists polled only 74,857. The Socialists had stressed their opposition to the government's program of re-armament and cooperation with the West. The new state is West Germany's fourth largest.

Political observers here said the victory for Adenauer's coalition would be a big boost toward approval by the West German Parliament of the proposed European defense force in which German forces would join those of France, Italy, Belgium, Holland, and Luxembourg.

Road Work Bids Due
 Bids for grading and paving a 2.61-mile section of U. S. 97 from Modoc Point to Barkley Springs, north of Klamath Falls, are to be received by the State Highway Commission Thursday.

The planned improvement lies along the present road and calls for 24-foot asphalt concrete pavement three and a half inches thick, on heavy rock base with eight-foot rock shoulders.

Over 700,000 cubic yards of earth and rock are to be moved to widen the present roadway, but completion is planned for next Fall.

At the Modoc Point end of the job plans call for widening the road to four-lane to facilitate use of the intersection with the Williamson River road.

VA Pays Off Korea Vets
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The Veterans Administration reported Monday that as of Dec. 31, 1951, it was paying death compensation or pension benefits to 17,961 dependents of 8,895 deceased veterans of the Korean War.

The VA noted that as of Jan. 31, 1952, a total of 655,000 military personnel who saw service since the Korean conflict started on June 27, 1950, had been returned to civilian life.

It said 135 veterans who were disabled in service since the Korean War started were being rehabilitated as of Jan. 31, and 12 hospitalizations were being provided for another 1,862 veterans.
