Buying Sessions Boosts All Grains

Chicago IA — A strong buying movement late in the session took hold of the grain market Monday and left all cereals higher. Most contracts ended at the day's peaks, made in the last few minutes of salings.

It was the sixth straight day of dvancing quotations for corn and oats.

They were aided by smaller cash corn receipts at major terminals than either a week or year ago. Wheat, after lagging smost of the day, came shead sharply toward the close on short-covering. Soybeans firmed in line with higher prices for crude bean oil. Rye stored gains running to more than 4 cents.

Decline Today

NEW YORK IA — The stock market declined Monday as rail-road issues weakened. The downward pace quickened a bit near the close.

Losses were from fractions to between 1 and 2 points throughout the list.

At the same time there was a concentration of gains in the Williston Basin Oil group with Amerada Petroleum sharply ahead. As a general rule the gains otherwise were cut off at around a point in any area.
