Plane On Way Home

A Piper Super Cub aircraft owned by Doyle Haskins of Merrill, that crashed in snow and ice near Rocky Point on the west side of Upper Klamath Lake Saturday afternoon, was on its way back to Klamath Falls by trailer today. Max Menti, of Menti-Nexlin Aircraft Service at Municipal Airport, put the damaged plane on a trailer and towed it to shore and onto the West Side road. This morning, a crew headed by Menti was disassembling the aircraft and putting it on a trailer to take it to the Municipal Airport for repairs. Doyle Haskins, pilot of the aircraft, and Gene Hill of Merrill, a passenger, were uninjured when the plane crashed. Haskins said he was jockeying the plane so Hill could get a good shot at a coyote they were hunting when the crash occurred.
