FORT KLAMATH

By MYRTLE WIMER

Starting on Monday, March 10, three local men, Thomas O. Dyche, Mitchell "Mike" Beaulie and Clarence Jenkins, went to work loading logs for R. A. Briggs and Bon Co. of Myrtle Creel, Four million feet of decked logs will be loaded on qars at Diamond Lake siding and transported by rail to the Palmerton Lumber Co. mill at Klamath Falls.

Visiting old friends here one day last week were two pioneer residents of the Wood River Valley, Mr., and Mrs. Ed Cardwell, who have made their home south of Klamath Falls since leaving Fort Klamath While here, they called at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sisemore and Mr. and Mrs Guss A. Page.

Mrs. Lee Ferguson and Mrs. Kenneth Morris, both of Prineville, left for home on Wednesday after visiting here since the previous Monday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards.

Monday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards. On the return trip, the two women were accompanied by an oldtime friend, Mrs. Edith Moon, who will visit at Prineville for a time with her son-in-law, daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Balley and children. Mrs. Moon has been making her home here with another son-in-law, daughter and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. Varnum and daughter Audrey.

The annual school spring vacation is on, and classes will resume on Monday, March 14. Enjoying the week in sunny California is Billy Vaden, who is the quest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hawkins and children at the Hawkins ranch at Hollister, Calif. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vaden, of the Wood River Hawkins ranch.

Accompanied by her husband, Mrs. Frank Strahan, local school teacher, left Sunday on a week's trip which will take them out of the snow for a few days. They planned to go south to Arizona, and hope to bring back scenic colored pictures of their trip, including also some of the beautiful cactus flowers which are in full bloom in Arizona during March and April. Strahan is assistant foreman of the local state highway patrol, and both he and his wife are ardent amateur photographers.
