NEW YORK OF - Everybody stood around in the stock market Saturday and did virtually nothing.

Prices moved over a range covered by a major fraction either way. Many leaders held unchanged throughout the session, and many more didn't even trade at all.

The volume of but hess was estimated at 500,000 shares. A week ago the volume was 730,000 shares. The approaching steel strike was the catze of the doldrums. The strike is set for midnight Tuesday, and the steel companies already have started shutdown parations. The steel issues themselves moved parrowly, holding to the upside part of the time. Gold mining shares went shead a little without emphasis on activity.

Sen. Morse (R.-Ore.), told a re-porter he will offer a floor amend-ment to the annual congressional appropriation bill aimed at full dis-closure.

"The official Senate payrolls should be open to voters because they supply the funds," Morse said. "They have a right to know who is employed and what they are paid by each senator." Funeral services for Howard Tanner Goben, 75, who died here April 3, will take place from the chapet of Wards Klamath Juneral Home, Monday, 1-30, p. m. Rev. Daniel Bayliss of the Assembly of God officiating. Commitment service and interment in Klamath Memorial cemetery. The official payrolls of all House members now are open to inspec-tion by the public and reporters, but this information has been de-nied by Senate officials since 1947. Morse and a few other lawmakers have childed the Senate for investigating almost everybody clae, in and out of government, and then dropping an iron curtain over their own offices.

Funeral services for Marvin Miller Christy, 39, who died here April 3 will take place from the chapel of Ward's Kinnath Fineral Hotne Monday, 3 p. in. Rev Marvis Keyser of the Tule-lake Preshyterian Church officiating, Tulclake Post No. 164, American Le-gion will conduct military honors at the graveside in Klamath Memorial Ceme-tery. "This and other moves could do much to remove the growing pub-lic suspicion that some few offi-cials are not living up to ethical standards on public affairs," Morse said.

Morse said he will offer a rider to the Senate money bill requiring that none of the funds be used un-less Senate officials keep a public record constantly available on leas Senate officials keep a public record constantly available on names and salaries of persons getting the funds.

Morse would go even further by requiring public financial disclosures by members of Congress arail other government officials earning $10,000 or more a year.

He has sponsored a bill for several years that would require full disclosure of all income and sources by all such officials. But it has received little attention in Senate committees.
