KUHS Players Ready Comedy

KUHS student body play cast members go into final rehearsal today for the rollicking three-act comedy "George Washington Slept Here" to be presented tomorrow 8 p.m., in the high school auditorium.

The plot moves fast around the purchase of a derelict house by a brook, owned by a neighbor, who wouldn't back down in a quarrel, the tribulations of the Fuller family who sought a little bit of Heaven in the suburbs and an attempted elopement of a pretty girl.

Rich boy stings Uncle Stanley will be played by Ronald Coleman. He is the man who could furnish the money to buy the house. Kimber, the part played in the movie by Guy Kibbee will be taken by George Hansen who is funny. The address, Jane Darlen, will "Ham It" with any actor and Dick Dewey and Betty Karnes could furnish the love interest but they fight.

Bob Flora, juvenile delinquent named Raymond, who was scheduled to play a lead in this year's play, but who bowed down to a heavy school work schedule will play a minor role like a lead.

Glamour boy is Chick Quinowski. Tom Murdoch will play Mr. Prescott and Marilyn Miller is a riot as the maid, Hester.

Michael Wood is the eager-beaver Mr. Fuller who wants the house—Betty Karnes plays his wife who hates it.

Strong supporting members of the cast are Jean Millon, Lorraine Price, Bob Doveri, Bobby Smith, Vergie Toyle, Deniece Kenyon, Joan Hickman and Ralph Carroll.

Light and sound effects will be handled by Jim Conner and Walter Zumwalt; costumes and properties by Jean Millon, Carlee Barrett, Betty Busby, Sally Robustel and Beverly Lloyd.

Music for the production will be furnished by the high school orchestra with Mr. Drysdale conducting, painting has been completed by the art department. B. B. Blomquist, head of the drama department is directing. Francis Scapple and Richard Reinholz designed and arranged the stage sets.

fused to cross the line. The pickets were withdrawn and then the employees reported for work. Of 35 jobs on Tuesday, 25 were held (according to the Associated Press) that their jobs had been filled for the day. All walked out.

That led to a lockout charge against the company by the union, and to an assertion by Arne Gray, union spokesman, that unfair labor practices charges would be filed against the company. It also led to the state-wide strike call.

Oren Lewis, president of the Portland local, said the workers would stay out until the company changed its policy and "makes good lost time for those who were sent home."

Dressler reiterated that the company was observing its contract with the union but that it was necessary to have some regular schedule of job assignments.

Firm Doubles Store Space

One of the oldest hardware store locations in town is back in business again.

Fyock's Appliance store will celebrate expansion of its hardware department tomorrow with a grand opening featuring special sales in both appliance and new hardware departments.

Several months ago the appliance outfit took over store space formerly occupied by Richards Fur store next door at 1107 Main. Before serving as a fur store, the space was occupied for a long time by a well established local hardware firm.

With doubling of floor space and expansion of hardware department, Charles Fyock reports, the store now carries full lines in power tools, sporting goods, gardening equipment, household and plumbing equipment.

Interior decoration in colorful pastel shades of the whole store was contracted by Roper and Roper, painting contractors.

Jubilee Marks Firm's Start

Sid Elliot, manager of J. C. Penney Company here, announced the formal opening Thursday of the company's Golden Jubilee.

"This is a great occasion for us, a time for celebration," Elliot said. "In just 50 years Penney's has grown from a single tiny store in Southwestern Wyoming to a great retail merchandising organization—the largest of its kind in the world—with more than 1,000 stores and 50,000 associates serving nearly 40 million people.

"Where else, but in our own United States of America, could such an achievement be possible? Ours is a success story, not of one man alone but of many men."

Tule Enters 22nd Year

Tulelake today enters its 22nd year of existence. It was April 15, 1931 when J. W. Taylor climbed to the flatbed of a truck in the midst of a stubble field and auctioned the 208 lots of the original townsite. Sale superintendent was D. E. Hayden, U. S. Bureau of Reclamation superintendent. W. L. Tingley clerked the sale.

The first lot went to Earl Ager who sold the first farm implements in the new town, installed the first telephone and wrote the first money order to leave the new postoffice, to help the new postmistress Mrs. Fred Taylor.

In The Day's News

Dewey HAD EVERYTHING. He had fire. He had enthusiasm. He had sincerity — FIGHTING sincerely. He was magnetic. He was wonderful. He was the perfect picture of perfect candidate for President.

But — almost from the moment when he crossed the borders of Oregon on his way out — he became a dud. He was a dud from there on until election day. Maybe the historians will tell us someday what happened in that strange week in Oregon back in 1948.

It cooked Stassen's goose, too. I think we'd better wait until our Oregon primary next month before making up our minds as to how the Presidential cat is going to jump this year. The big boys in the upper political echelons aren't paying us much heed, but if 1948 is any criterion Oregon is potent stuff in the business of Presidential-making and President-breaking.

Fire Season Set May 15

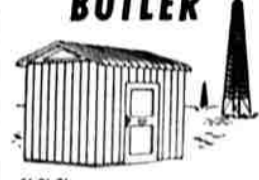

Oregon forests aren't expected to be affected by fire season restrictions until May 15, unless gubernatorial proclamation says so, according to local foresters.

KPFA Mgr. Hal Ogle said forests usually are put under fire watch then, though he noted that some Willamette Valley forests are already under fire regulations.

Some California forests were restricted yesterday, making burning and blasting permits necessary.

In most of Southeastern Oregon snows are still so deep and water runoff is so high foresters say yet see little danger from fire.

It makes you comfortable all over

BUICK engineers have a habit of getting at the bottom of things. So they're not content to stop with putting beneath you cushions that are luxuriously soft and deep. They also put big, soft, deep coil springs between you and all four wheels — and big, soft tires between the wheels and the road. But real riding comfort calls for more than cushioning up-and-down jolts and jars. There's end-way and side-roll and "wander" to be controlled. There's sure-footed balance on curves. Not to mention the importance of having a frame stout and husky enough to make the whole car feel safely solid. So Buick engineers have gone through the list—come up with a ride that cost a cool million dollars and more for special engineering, tooling and components. Does that cover Buick's comfort story? It certainly does not. There's the comfort of driving a car that instinctively holds the road — the comfort of ample room and a wide-open view of the world around you—the comfort of fabric colors that please the eye and fabric textures that please the touch — and the effortless smoothness of Dynaflow Drive.* Then there's the mental comfort of bossing power mighty enough to meet any demand you make upon it in emergency — 8-cylinder power — high-compression power — valve-in-head power — Fireball power, that makes you proud of the miles you get from a gallon of gas. And maybe you'll also find comfort in knowing that this great automobile can be yours at a price that is still just a small step above what's known as "the low-priced three."

On top of all this, driving a Buick's a barrel of fun. Why not drop in tomorrow and ask us to prove it?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Wheel covers standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series. White sidewalls optional at extra cost when available. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.
