Wading Pond Re-Bottomed

NATICK, Mass. (AP) — The beach sank at Nonesuch pond—but that's the way it was planned.

Town officials, girl scouts and amateur and professional engineers gathered at the pond Tuesday to declare officially the beach sank in just the right manner.

This obviously needs some explanation:

The children who use Nonesuch pond summers had complained that the pond's bottom was too muddy for comfortable wading.

Stanley M. Rowland of Newton, a leather company engineer whose daughter was one of the users of the pond, decided to do something about it.

So last January when the pond was frozen nearly solid, he directed 15 carpenters in laying out a huge raft, using 16,000 feet of spruce, over the ice.

On top of that was spread 450 tons of sand.

As the ice melted recently, the raft and its thick layer of sand sank to the bottom.

And now: No more muddy bottom at Nonesuch pond.

Fire Destroys Lumber Mill

GRANTS PASS (AP) — A $150,000 fire Tuesday night destroyed the Salvage Brothers lumber mill 35 miles southeast of here near Cave Junction.

Watchman Archie Masoner said the explosive fire broke out near an edger. He put an outdoor water spraying system in operation but it failed to halt the flames. Pumper crews from the State Forestry Department and the Oregon Cave Lumber Co., saved a large quantity of stacked lumber.

Howard and Herbert Salvage, owners, operated the mill on a one-shift basis. It had a daily capacity of 55,000 board feet.

Howard Salvage, who estimated the loss, said it was partly covered by insurance.

McKay Mulls Daylight Time

SALEM (AP) — Gov. Douglas McKay said Wednesday he will decide next week whether to put Oregon on daylight saving time.

He said it would take until then for him to collect evidence to determine if the state's economic interests would be hurt by staying on standard time.

Gov. Arthur Langlie of Washington is gathering information about what Washington State cities plan to do.

If Gov. McKay proclaims fast time, it would start April 27.

The law says the governor can proclaim daylight time only to conform with neighboring states and to prevent the state from suffering an economic handicap.

Moral Level At Low Ebb?

CHICAGO (AP) — America is at the lowest moral level in its history despite the fact that American church membership is at an all-time high, a church leader said Wednesday.

Dr. Frederick C. Fowler, Pittsburgh, president of the National Association of Evangelicals, told the Association's 10th annual convention that materialistic education is to blame for "the moral collapse everywhere evident."

"What is the reason for immorality in the State Department, where homosexuals were dismissed not for their sin but for security reasons?" he asked. "What is the reason for the corruption in the Internal Revenue and other departments of government, for the admitted cheating in college examinations, and the other forms of immorality in the American scene?

"It goes back to those so-called 'brilliant' educators, centered in John Dewey at Columbia, who questioned and then denied the very existence of God, and ruled out any final authority except their own ridiculous and assumed knowledge.

"You cannot disregard God and ignore his moral laws and not expect to reap a harvest of rottenness."

Dr. Fowler called for a return to the concept that the government "is a minister and trustee, not a lord; that it is responsible not to itself, but to God and the people."

Japs to Get Pacific Wheat

PORTLAND (AP) — Seventeen million bushels of Pacific Northwest wheat — about 43 million dollars worth — will be shipped to Japan under a new grain deal announced here Tuesday by exporters.

The transaction, which is with the Japanese government, is the largest grain deal on record for this region.

Exporters said about half the wheat will come from Southern Idaho and Montana, since Oregon and Washington grain bins already have been partially emptied by record exports during the past several months.

The new shipments are expected to raise exports for the 1951-52 season to more than 100 million bushels. That would be 25 million bushels more than shipped from the Pacific Northwest in any previous season.
