Dr. and Mrs. Neil Black, 3083 Portland, entertained with a birthday dinner in their home, April 12, in honor of Billy Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones, Bonanza.

Billy was two the day of the dinner, and he blew out that many candles on the beautiful cake which centered the table.

Others present were his mother and father Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Brown, Colonel and Mrs. George Tius, houseguests of the Browns en route to Belgium, and the Black children, Kathy, Janet and Bruce.

Dr. Black and Laurence Brown are Billy's godfathers, and Mrs. Black is his godmother.

AAUW Convene At Gearhart

Four members of the Klamath Falls branch American Association of University Women, attended the state conference at Hotel Gearhart April 17 and 19. They were Mrs. Willard Duncan, state social studies chairman, Mrs. Paul Buck, state finance chairman, Mrs. Charles Larkin, local branch president, and Mrs. William L. Wales Jr., vice president.

The conference was well attended and received interesting reports from the state chairmen.

The state president, Mrs. Cecelia Ferriss, Portland, chose the theme, "Patterns for Performance" and worked it cleverly into her report.

Mrs. Edward Lanphier, San Mateo, represented the national level and gave the address at the banquet Friday evening.

Announcement of the recipient of the state fellowship award was a surprise during this banquet. Miss Beryl Hill, Salem, state fellowship award chairman, introduced Mrs. Myrtle Dawson, Portland, who told of her plan to work for her Ph.D. at the University of Washington with this award. She is in the Speech Correction field and told of great strides in rehabilitation of people who have lost their speech due to cancer of the larynx. This is the field in which she will study.

Mrs. C. D. Winston, Ashland, regional vice president, gave an address at the breakfast Saturday.

The 1952 AAUW State Conference will be held in Klamath Falls.

Evergreen Garden Club

Plans for the Evergreen Garden Club spring flower show, June 14, are nearing completion, and a tentative schedule has been drawn up by a committee working under the chairmanship of Mrs. Clark Kendall, available soon to those interested in arranging exhibits.

Specimen blooms and arrangements are included in the schedule. Special emphasis is being placed on iris which grows so beautifully in Klamath Basin, and which is the club flower.

Junior division will feature miniature arrangements and exhibits representing foreign countries.

The April meeting of the organization was devoted largely to a very interesting and instructive talk on soil-building, by Mr. A. R. Halvorson, of the county experimental station. He listed the elements required by growing plants and discussed methods of supplying these nutrients to non-productive soil. Several samples, previously tested at the station showed a high alkaline content. The need for drainage to facilitate the elimination of the alkali in this area was particularly stressed.

Election of officers followed the discussion on soils. Mrs. Ray Garrison, president; Mrs. Joe Cox, vice president; Mrs. Clark Kendall, secretary; and Mrs. Leo Karmad, treasurer.

The May meeting will be a potluck supper at the Altamont Elementary cafeteria. New officers will be installed at that time. Refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Clark Kendall and Mrs. Max Marvin.

Yacht Club Fishing Derby

Klamath Yacht Club Fishing Derby will be held Sunday April 27, rain or shine according to Commodore Howard Fernell.

Harry Schoenover is in charge of the Derby and he has several worthwhile prizes to be awarded to the winners. The prizes were donated by Poole's, The Gun Store, Bell's Hardware and Don Diven's Sporting Goods.

Beulah and Mike Regan are serving breakfast from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. Only club members are eligible to compete for the prizes. However, guests may fish.

Fishermen must return to the club house with their catch by 4:30 in the afternoon for the weighing-in. The Regans will start serving the usual Sunday dinners at that time.
