

New England Governor To Stump for Ike Here

Another governor is going to visit Klamath Falls, with intention political. He is Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, Republican, who is one of three Easterners stumping Oregon in behalf of the candidacy of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for the GOP presidential nomination. Gov. Adams is scheduled to be here next Tuesday afternoon and night, and a Republican rally is planned for Tuesday night at the Willard Hotel.

Isolated Island May Be Lab Site

WASHINGTON — Some uninhabited island in the Caribbean or South Pacific was suggested by Rep. Jackson (D-Wash.) Thursday as the site of a proposed hooft and mouth disease laboratory. He named no specific site. The facilities were authorized by the 80th Congress but work has been stalemated by controversy over the choice of a location. A site had been selected on Prudence Island, R. I., in Narragansett Bay, but construction was held up partly because of fear that the cattle-scraping disease would invade the U. S. mainland.

Last Monday Gov. Earl Warren of California, himself a Republican presidential aspirant, made a brief stopover in Klamath Falls and made a courthouse steps speech.

The New Hampshire governor—whose state isn't much larger than Klamath County—is to be accompanied to Klamath Falls by Ralph H. Calk of Portland, GOP national committeeman. They are due in Bend for a Tuesday noon Lions Club luncheon, and will come here in the afternoon.

Gov. Adams, Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, and Rep. Hugh D. Scott Jr. of Pennsylvania, are to cover Oregon in support of Gen. Eisenhower, who is one of six Republicans on the Oregon ballot.

PROFITS SLUMP

PORTLAND — A poor salmon fishing year and a strike in its Alaska operations were blamed Wednesday for a sharp drop in profits of the Columbia River Packers Association, Inc.

PRESIDENT of the University of Oregon's Heads of Houses is Patricia Ward, Klamath Falls (center), who herself heads Highland House on the campus. She was installed in her position at a recent meeting and tea at Carson Hall, University Women's Dormitory. Barbara Williams (left), Astoria, was the installing officer for Pat and her vice president, Shirley Kendall (right) of Eugene.

in the presidential preference primary May 16. Eisenhower is not scheduled to campaign in Oregon himself. Republicans here are planning the Tuesday night rally as the biggest pre-election event of this political campaign. The time is 8:15 and the public is invited.

Cold Coffee Death Reason

EUGENE — Edgar F. Lee, about 55, was killed last November in an argument over whether the coffee in his thermos bottle was cold, a 19-year-old youth said here Thursday. The youth, Cebble L. Bowers, who is charged with second degree murder, testified at the preliminary hearing for John E. Frazier, 35, also accused in Lee's death. Bowers, who was bound over to a grand jury by District Judge Chester Anderson, said Lee and Frazier had argued bitterly about the coffee. Lee lived in a trailer house near the Frazier home about five miles from Creswell, Ore., Bowers said. Mrs. Frazier put up Lee's lunch. Lee said she was putting cold coffee in his thermos bottle. Bowers testified. He said about a week before Thanksgiving, Lee and Frazier came to his place late at night. They were still arguing. Bowers said he told the court that he got in the yard in time to see Frazier knock down Lee, then pick him up and beat him again. Bowers said he struck Lee once with his open hand. Bowers said he and Frazier then took Lee to a car and dumped his body in the woods near a creek. They went back next day to bury him, but forgot the shovel, so covered the body with brush and rotten logs, Bowers said. Lee's body was found May 1.

Abortion Case To Jury

PORTLAND — A circuit court jury Friday was to receive the case of Mrs. Ruth Barnett, accused with four of her former employees of maintaining an abortion clinic. Attorneys completed their arguments Thursday. The five also are charged with manslaughter by abortion. They have pleaded innocent to both charges.
