Time Snarls Upset Cities

By The Associated Press
Time trouble continued to bother Oregon cities Monday.

Medford, placed on daylight saving time by City Council action recently, will revert to standard time.

At Lebanon, where the situation is so confused that one businessman is opening his store on standard time and closing on daylight time, the issue still is undecided.

Sweet Home is having trouble, too. The city is on daylight time but the CIO is opposed and has asked the council to reconsider.

Medford went back on standard time after the council upheld Mayor D. L. Flynn's veto of a recently approved fast time ordinance.

Pals Share Hard Knocks

PAULDING, O. (AP) — David Werling and Bobby Cottler are four-year-old buddies. They even share broken legs.

David's father gave him a gym set for his birthday. At the party that celebrated the birthday, Bobby broke his right leg just below the knee on the gym set's glider.

The day after the party, David broke his left leg on the same glider. The break was in similar point of the leg.

So, the boys now have similar plaster-casts by the same doctor and similar crutches on which to hobble around in the same old way.

Queen Seeks Wage Scale

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II asked parliament Monday to start figuring out what wages it is going to pay her as ruler of the British Realm.

She hinted that she thinks her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, ought to get a pay raise from his present 10,000 pounds ($28,000) a year. She also asked some financial provision for her younger sister, Princess Margaret, "in the event of her marrying."

Elizabeth's late father, King George VI, got 410,000 pounds ($1,148,000) a year for himself and another 187,000 pounds ($527,000) to support his family and relatives.

H. F. C. Crookshank, Conservative leader of the House of Commons, said the government would ask Tuesday for appointment of a committee to consider the queen's pittance.

The royal payroll is known officially as the Civil List. It is voted by Parliament at the beginning of each reign by a new monarch. An all-party member of 21 works out the bill.

Elizabeth's request mentioned only her husband, their two children and Princess Margaret, but it is customary also to provide for the queen mother. For example, Queen Mary was voted 70,000 pounds ($198,000) when King George V died in 1936. It is presumed Queen Mother Elizabeth will receive at least as much.

Elizabeth said she will need no money for Prince Charles, the heir apparent, because he already receives the income from the rich Duchy of Cornwall. This was estimated at 194,000 pounds ($291,000) a year in the last Civil List adopted in 1937.

April Fires' Cost Totaled

Fire loss in Klamath Falls during April amounted to $31,556 according to the monthly report of Fire Chief Roy Rowe, almost all of it covered by insurance.

The biggest blaze of the month badly damaged the newly remodeled Safeway Store on N. 8th.

There were 30 calls for the Fire Department during the month, Rowe said, two of them false alarms. And during the month the department's rescuistator was called into play four times. The lives of three babies were saved.

It was the only meetings immediately in prospect, they said. Some 40,000 workers struck nearly three weeks ago. Many of these have returned to work.

Principal issue in dispute has been the financing of a health and welfare program. The union sought employer financing, while most operators wanted contributions to continue from workers' paychecks.

Mary Todd Lincoln Thought Ann Rutledge Was 'Myth'

CHICAGO (AP) — The familiar tragic love story of Abe Lincoln and Ann Rutledge once was indignantly described as a myth by Mary Todd Lincoln.

In a letter written to a supreme court justice and made public Sunday, the Civil War President's widow asserted Lincoln "always asured me he had cared for no one but myself."

Willard L. King, a Chicago lawyer and historian, said he came across the letter in his research for a biography of David Davis of Bloomington, Ill., an Illinois circuit judge whom Lincoln appointed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Davis was administrator of Lincoln's estate. King said he found the letter in papers of Davis' great-grandson, David Davis IV.

Some historians have said Ann Rutledge and Lincoln were engaged to be married when both lived in New Salem, Ill., but that she died of fever before they could be wed. These biographers say Lincoln never recovered from shock and grief.

More Timber Workers Back

PORTLAND (AP) — CIO International Woodworkers were going to work in increasing numbers Monday as strike settlements continued over a wide area.

But negotiations were at a stand still between the union and the Lumbermen's Industrial Relations Committee, representing some 175 operators employing about 14,000 workers. Talks were broken off Friday and federal mediators said no requests had been made for further meetings.

Latest settlement was at the Klamath Basin Pine Mills in Klamath Falls where some 225 workers agreed to a 7 1/2 cent pay increase, three more paid holidays and a 2-cent night differential boost. The health and welfare program remained unchanged with employees making contributions out of their pay checks.

This was the basis for other settlements at Medford, Forest Grove and Hood River, Ore.; Raymond, Wash.; and Coeur d'Alene, Ida.

Federal mediators reported Monday they were attempting to arrange meetings Wednesday or Thursday with the Oregon Coast Operators and the Coos Bay Lumber Co., Coos Bay.

Those were the only meetings immediately in prospect, they said. Some 40,000 workers struck nearly three weeks ago. Many of these have returned to work.

Principal issue in dispute has been the financing of a health and welfare program. The union sought employer financing, while most operators wanted contributions to continue from workers' paychecks.

But Mrs. Lincoln wrote: "My husband ... always assured me he had cared for no one but myself.... I shall always remain firm in my conviction that Ann Rutledge is a myth."
"Nor did his ... joyous laugh lead me to suppose his heart was in any unfortunate woman's grave but in the proper place with his loved wife and children."
