

WHAT HAPPENED? Capt. Leonard Leitzke, former Klamath Falls man, takes a look at his fishing boat, the Chatam, which sank at its moorings at Everett, Wash., during the night from an undetermined cause. Leitzke, graduate of KUHS in 1938, employs an eight-man crew on the 42-foot vessel during the fishing season. He will leave about the middle of June for Alaskan fishing waters after the vessel is repaired. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Leitzke, Route 3, Klamath Falls.

No Sabotage Evident In Spread of Pests

WASHINGTON (AP)—Widely circulated reports to the contrary, the Agriculture Department said Tuesday there is no evidence that sabotage is involved in the spread of two pests now bothering some farmers.

A recent outbreak of anthrax disease among hogs in previously non-infected areas of the Midwest had been attributed to contaminated bone meal imported from Belgium.

The meal was used in livestock feed.

The department and the Federal Bureau of Investigation checked the possibility of sabotage, and reported they found no evidence that the disease had been planted in the meal intentionally.

Sabotage also had been blamed in some quarters, the department said, for the spread of a poisonous plant, known as Halogeton, in cattle and sheep grazing areas of the West. It often kills animals that eat it.

Halogeton is a native of Russia.

Loud Sneers From Soviet

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio sounded a few loud sneers Tuesday at the achievements of capitalist fishermen in Russia, a broadcast said, everybody fishes better.

The big fish story was set off by the return of a Soviet whaling flotilla after seven months in the Antarctic. The Russian fishermen, the broadcast said, had accounted to "great achievements."

"Vasily Tupikov, for example, killed 372 whales. A hero of Socialist Labor, Afansy Purgin, killed 333 and Georuy Otsyannikov, 319," Moscow boasted, adding:

"The Norwegian harpooner, Martin Jakobsen, of 20 years standing and the best harpooner in the capitalist countries, has during one season killed only 151 whales."

"His record," Moscow calmly added, "was beaten by all Soviet harpooners."

Korean War Vets May Get World War II Benefits

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—Veterans of the Korean War will get benefits similar to those given World War II veterans if a measure approved by the House Veterans Committee is passed by Congress.

Seven Aboard Overdue Sloop

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP)—A 35-foot sailing sloop with seven persons aboard Tuesday was reported nearly two days overdue from a short cruise in northern Puget Sound waters.

The trim craft, the Prelude, owned by Paul Fordyce of Bellingham, was last seen under full sail off the northern tip of Orcas Island in the picturesque San Juan Island group.

The party of three couples and one child left Orcas Island Sunday evening on a return trip to Bellingham.

The trip would normally take two hours. The weather was fairly good with a moderate wind.

A Coast Guard plane and cutter were called in to search the island-dotted waters after a baby sitter for one of the couples became alarmed when they did not return.

Long Bell Has $30,000 Fire

HUBBARD (AP)—Loss was estimated at $30,000 in a fire which ripped through the offices of the Long Bell Lumber Yard here Monday afternoon.

Ralph Messenger, manager, made the estimate. He said the loss was covered by insurance. Cause was undetermined.

JAPAN QUAKE
TOKYO (AP)—An earthquake was felt in Northern Japan at 3:33 a.m. Tuesday. No damage was reported.

Education—If he served at least 90 days, a man gets 1 1/2 days of education or training at government expense for each day of service but no more than 36 months. And he must apply within two years after discharge.

A World War II veteran who served at least 90 days got a minimum of 15 months. The maximum was 48 months. Without going into details, it can be said generally he was allowed more time after discharge to apply.

Education and training allowance—If he's enrolled in a course full-time, a Korea veteran gets $110 a month if he has no dependents and $150 if he has one or more. That's all. On that money he must live, pay his tuition, buy his books.

A World War II veteran got $75 a month to live on if he was single, $105 if he had one dependent, and $120 if he had two or more dependents plus his tuition fees and book costs up to a limit of $500 a year.

What of a World War II veteran who was getting an education under the old GI Bill of Rights and then had his education interrupted by going back into the service?

He'd be entitled, upon his discharge, to finish out the time in school due him under the old GI bill, plus whatever schooling he earned as a Korea veteran, but no more than a combined total of 48 months.

But a World War II veteran who didn't apply for his educational benefits before the deadline of July 25, 1951, set up for most World War II veterans, couldn't claim them now as a result of service in the Korean War. He'd get only the benefits due him as a Korea veteran.

(That July 25, 1951, deadline doesn't apply to men who had World War II service but were discharged after July 25, 1947. They have until four years after their discharge to apply for World War II benefits.)

Housing—The same housing benefits for those who served on or after June 27, 1950, as presently is given World War II veterans: Guaranty of home loans up to 60 per cent with a maximum of $7,500; business-loan guaranties of $2,000; and direct loans up to $10,000 in non-city areas where private financing is not available. The interest in all cases must not exceed 4 per cent.

Social Security—Korea and World War II veterans get the same wage credit for every month in service—$160—for old-age and survivors insurance.

Mustering-out-pay—In place of readjustment benefits, the mustering-out pay is $100 for less than 60 days' service; $200 for more than 60 days; $300 when there is more than 60 days' service which includes service overseas.
