Truman Sure Seizures OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman said Thursday (a) he is sure of his power to seize industries in an emergency, (b) he likes all the men who have come out for the Democratic nomination for president, and (c) he believes the government clean-up will take care of itself under his new attorney general.

Truman, in a far-ranging news conference, also said he doesn't know whether Gov. Stevenson of Illinois might be persuaded to seek or accept the Democratic nomination.

Politics took second place in the discussion. The conference was highlighted by the President's statement that he has power to seize industries in time of national emergency. Nobody — and he included both Congress and the courts — can take that power away, he said. But when pressed by questions on what he would do if the Supreme Court specifically denies his authority to seize and operate the steel industry, the President said he would turn the mills back to their managements.

Air Rescue Feud Broken

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Members of two feuding expeditions to the wreckage of a Pan American Stratocruiser were being flown one by one Wednesday out of the thick Brazilian jungle where they had been taking turns holding each other prisoner.

The bizarre sequel to Brazil's grim air disaster appeared to be ending happily after an aerial shuttle service began flying out the two men left from the official Brazilian-American search party and the remnants of 46 or so armed members of a private expedition financed by a wealthy presidential prospect.

Latest reports said all but two of the official party have been hauled by helicopter back to their base at Lagoa Grande. Still in the jungle were Brazilian Air Force Maj. Miranda Correa and Scott Magness, U. S. Civil Aeronautics Authority official from Miami, who reportedly were held hostage for a time by the freelance group as insurance for their own rescue.

Three plane loads of parachutists dispatched to rescue the hostages were called back to Rio De Janeiro Tuesday after the pair radioed their captors had released them.

It was not clear just how many of the private party of Brazilians, guides and newsmen remained in the jungle clearing 900 miles north of Rio De Janeiro, where the double-decked stratocruiser crashed April 29 with the loss of all 50 persons aboard.

Timber Peace Parley Fails

By The Associated Press
Negotiations for further settlements of the CIO Woodworkers strike in Oregon and Washington became a cropper Wednesday.

Talks were broken off with the Oregon Coast Operators at Coos Bay and with the Timber Operators Association at Aberdeen after employers and the union failed to come to terms.

But other negotiations were scheduled Thursday. One session was arranged by Federal Mediator Robert McClelland with the Coos Bay Lumber Co. at Coos Bay where more than 1,500 members of the International Woodworkers of America are on strike.

Agreements were expected to be reached on an individual basis with some other operators. The Oregon Coast Operators, meeting with McClelland and the union at Coos Bay, offered a 12 1/2-cent hourly pay increase in lieu of all other proposals.

But the union countered with a demand for a company financed health and welfare program—a proposal which has been a major stumbling block in all negotiations so far.

A few operators, including the Simpson Logging Co., Shelton, Wash., have agreed to it. But most have insisted that contributions continue to come out of workers' paychecks and many have settled on that basis, although some have agreed to improved deductions.

The health and welfare issue also was responsible for the deadlock with the Timber Operators at Aberdeen, Federal Mediator William G. Hostie reported. Meantime, boommen along the Columbia River were voting on a proposal to return to work. It already had been accepted by Astoria boommen.

Terms included a 7 1/2-cent hourly pay increase, three huge paid holidays and an increased night differential. No change was offered in the health and welfare program.

AFL Plywood, Lumber and Sawmill Workers, meantime, have agreed to accept a 12 1/2-cent an hour increase offered by half a dozen mills in the Coos Bay area. This was the same offer from Oregon Coast Operators rejected by CIO negotiators Wednesday.

Authority Describes Many Hazards of Trip to Moon

CLEVELAND (AP) — Poisonous ozone, cosmic rays, boiling blood and drowning in the water of one's own body.

Those are a few of the hazards awaiting the first man to fly to the moon, says an authority on the earth's upper atmosphere.

What's more, Dr. Clayton S. White said in an interview, once the pilot of the future leaves the earth's atmosphere he must contend with speeding meteors, micrometeorites, micrometeorites and other flying bodies.

Dr. White is research director of Lovelace Clinic in Albuquerque, N. M. Last November he headed a symposium at San Antonio, Tex., on the physics and medicine of the upper atmosphere.

He addressed a joint meeting of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences and the Cleveland Academy of Medicine here Tuesday night.

Dr. White said getting a rocket ship into the upper atmosphere is feasible, but a great many problems must be solved before man can survive there. Here's what the doctor says is ahead for the pilot who tries it:

Oxygen starts to run out at 8,000 to 10,000 feet. Above 60,000 feet there isn't any. At 22,000 feet the barometric pressure is down so much that decompression sickness hits the pilot.

His blood boils and there is no room for anything but water in his lungs, causing him to drown. Around 60,000 feet there is a poisonous concentration of ozone. Above that is intensive ultraviolet light from which earth dwellers are protected by the atmosphere.

Then come X-rays from the sun and cosmic rays in high concentration. However, Dr. White concluded, if any nation can get a ship into the upper regions, it should be the United States.

Diver Finds Missing Cash

WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — A Navy diver, working with FBI agents investigating the $100,000 Quonset Point robbery, salvaged a bagful of currency from the Pawtuxet River here Thursday.

The bag was of plastic and about one foot long. Newsmen at the scene speculated that it contained the bulk of the stolen funds. The FBI agents withheld comment.

The find was made as two West Warwick men, former civilian employees of the air station awaited arraignment of charges of the theft.

The $100,000 belonged to a credit union at the air station and was taken in a holdup of employees March 7.

The FBI reported when it arrested Howard Hildebrandt, 25, and Robert R. La Plante, 27, Wednesday night that one of the men was carrying bills identified as part of the theft.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

HST Says AMA Herds Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman, in another speech lambasting Congress, says a lot of lawmakers jump when the American Medical Association cracks the whip.

Then he added to an audience of 1,200 volunteer Veterans Administration hospital workers: "And there are a lot of others who roll over and play dead when anybody yells socialism. After all, this is an election year."

The remarks were beamed at House rejection Monday of a bill to increase payments under old age and survivors insurance.

Sponsors said the measure sought among other things to protect social security rights of permanently disabled civilians and persons who left their jobs for military service.

The measure, at first apparently unopposed, was defeated after the American Medical Association attacked it as containing "socialized medicine" features.

Truman's speech, Wednesday night at a meeting of the National Advisory Committee of the VA Voluntary Services, continued his criticism of Congress.

He said he spoke as a veteran and for the welfare of all the people, adding: "And I am not going to run for President any more because I want to get out and say some things and do some things I can't say or do when I am President."

Couple Takes Wife's Name

POMONA, Calif. (AP) — Dorothy Jane Warwick got her maiden name back Thursday — all because her husband likes hers better than his own.

Michael Burr Smith went to Superior Court to win the right to be known as Michael Smith Warwick. He said there are so many Smiths around that he was tired of getting other people's bills, correspondence and phone calls.

His wife agreed. Now her name is the same as before they were married. Their son, Paul Warwick Smith, 14, becomes Paul Smith Warwick.

Smith who was, that is — says his feeling isn't general in the family, however. He told reporters about his sister, Stella, of Seattle. She married George William Smith. He died several years ago. When she remarried, it was to Robert E. Smith.
