

U.N. Guard Kills Balking Koje POW

By WILLIAM JORDEN
 KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP) — A prisoner of war incident reported in a four-day span on this riot-ridden rock. The shooting of the Chinese prisoner — announced only Wednesday — was the first fatality reported from the tough Koje stockade since Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner took command a week ago.

Boatner said he conferred with a prisoner spokesman, Maj. Wei Ling, shortly after the shooting. On the camp commander's order Wei returned to the barbed wire enclosure and within 35 minutes halted a demonstration begun by Chinese POWs within minutes after the shooting.

Boatner said he conferred with a prisoner spokesman, Maj. Wei Ling, shortly after the shooting. On the camp commander's order Wei returned to the barbed wire enclosure and within 35 minutes halted a demonstration begun by Chinese POWs within minutes after the shooting.

Boatner told a news conference. American general added: "I answered him in Chinese and his teeth almost fell out. I told him I could make no statements until an investigation had been completed."

Koje Tuesday from the POW enclosure near Pusan where Allied guards quelled rioting prisoners. The U.S. Eighth Army at Seoul said combat-wise American infantrymen used concussion grenades and a show of force to put down violence Tuesday at the Pusan POW hospital.
