

Man Trips Over Big Heart, Faces Charge of Forgery

CHICAGO (AP) — Playing the role of a good samaritan came easy for Anthony C. Adams, a 42-year-old messenger-handyperson whose heart was as big as his boss' bank roll.

When Adams appeared at his favorite saloon on Archer Avenue the boys would start whooping it up. Adams (The Colonel) always would pick up the tab. His tavern pals agreed Adams was a good-time guy.

And, it was disclosed in felony court Thursday, Adams was overly generous away from the bar—with his employer's funds—to some of his friends.

Prosecutors James A. Brown and William Brunlik told Judge Charles S. Dougherty that Adams over a two-year period had spent and given away $34,300. The total may be higher, they said.

Adams, 43 and a bachelor, was in court on a forgery charge.

Adams was a messenger-handyperson in the office of William Wood Prince Jr., president of the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company. He took care of many of Prince's personal matters and had access to company vouchers to draw the money.

The prosecutors said Adams would make out a voucher to a friend and would forge Prince's name on it. A company employee then would make out the check and give it to Adams.

Adams, the prosecutors said, apparently spent little of the money on himself. He turned over his $42 weekly pay check to his mother and she gave him $10 a week spending money.

The prosecutors said that once Adams gave nearly $10,000 to a friend and would forge Prince's name on it. A company employee then would make out the check was given $9,650 as a friendly gesture because Adams didn't think he was well dressed.

Another union official, the prosecutor said, was given $5,000 to pay on a mortgage on his home and $5,000 for an operation.

Brown said Adams was arrested after fellow employees became suspicious upon hearing of his gifts and told police. He was released on $10,000 bond and the forgery case continued to June 20.

WSB Revamp Battle Brews

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate fight brewed Thursday over a committee-approved bill to revamp the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) despite an AFL boycott threat and CIO criticism of the plan.

The Senate Banking Committee formally recommended Wednesday that Congress scrap the present board and replace it with an all-public panel stripped of authority to recommend settlement of union-management disputes — as the existing wage board did in the steel case.

Organized labor, industry and the public are equally represented on the present 18-member board.

Some members of the committee announced plans to ask the Senate either to preserve the present board or modify it less drastically.

Those in favor of the plan endorsed by a majority of the committee said they would fight any effort to change the proposed new formula.

The committee bill approved is scheduled to come up for Senate action soon. The measure keeps intact earlier recommendations by the committee that:

1. Wage-price controls be continued until next March 1.

2. Rent controls and authority to allocate scarce essential materials be extended through June 30, 1953.

The present law on those emergency controls expires this June 30.

President Truman asked for a two-year extension.

The House Banking Committee still is holding hearings on its extension legislation.

The Senate committee also voted to revise the controversial Caphart provision of the existing law in a move to avert retail price increases for food and other commodities.

Late Actor's Politics Eyed

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor John Garfield's political background was discussed Thursday while arrangements went forward for his funeral here Friday.

Garfield, a product of New York's slums, who rose to stardom in Broadway and Hollywood "tough guy" roles, died of a heart attack Wednesday in the apartment of Iris Whitley, 38, a former actress.

The FBI declined comment on reports that Garfield gave its agents recently a re-statement on his political past.

Garfield denied before the House Committee on Un-American Affairs last year that he ever had been a Communist although his name had been used frequently by subversive organizations.

Victor Riesel, writing in the New York Daily Mirror, said Garfield told him shortly before he died that the Communists wove a web around him by playing on his emotional sympathy for underdogs.

The story quoted Garfield as saying: "Actors are emotional. Vic, the Communies would come to us and say 'sign here, everybody's doing it for civil liberties."

"Or they would say, 'sign here and save the bread and butter for children of writers and actors banned from the studios because of political beliefs.' So I would sign."

GRANTS PASS POOL

GRANTS PASS (AP) — The City Council—meeting as a budget committee—decided Wednesday night to ask the people whether they want to build a $125,000 swimming pool.
