

Bloody April Koje Riot Revealed by A.P. Scribe

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP)—News of a third bloody riot by Red prisoners of war on violence-torn Koje Island came to light Saturday.

South Korean sources said four Korean guards and three North Korean Communist prisoners were killed and 57 Reds wounded in the uprising April 19.

Associated Press Correspondent William Jordan obtained the story from South Korean witnesses almost a week ago but Army censors in Tokyo withheld it until now.

A U.S. Eighth Army spokesman said the Army had announced nothing on the riot "because the Eighth Army investigation of the incident has not been completed." American officials here refused to comment.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), indicated in Washington a Senate subcommittee may investigate censorship delay of Jordan's dispatch.

Ninety Communist prisoners and one U.S. soldier were killed in earlier Koje riots—Feb. 18 and March 13. The Army released correspondent stories on these shortly after they occurred.

Red POWs Saturday hauled down 11 of the 17 North Korean and Chinese Communist flags they had flown defiantly over their compounds for months.

Two companies of British Commonwealth troops were due to land Saturday to bolster the United Nations command garrison on this tension-ridden island.

The South Korean witnesses told Jordan a U.S. Army captain and six South Korean guards were wounded in the April 19 uprising. The American is Capt. Jack J. McGuire, Attica, N. Y., wounded in the arm and thigh. He was given a blood transfusion on Koje, then transferred to Japan.

The informants said most of the fighting took place within sight of the camp commander, then Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd. Dodd was seized by POWs May 7 and released 78 hours later.

Draft Action Threatened In Panty Raid Outbreak

By The Associated Press

The emphasis has switched from raids to reparations and punishment in the latest campus craze—lingerie looting.

At some schools stern action was being taken following forays by men students into women's dormitories and sorority houses in quest of feminine underclothing. Heavy damage was reported in some of the raids early this week.

A couple of incidents were reported Friday night in California but there were no accounts of new outbreaks from other sections of the country.

A privately-owned fraternity near the San Diego State College campus was raided late Friday and a quantity of boys' dainties were stolen.

COEDS BLAMED

Some of the 13 college men arrested immediately blamed State College coeds.

Police were sent to the Bishop School for girls in the exclusive La Jolla, Calif., area when it was reported a gang of high school boys, chanting "we want panties," entered the school. The youths fled when the housekeeper appeared.

Meanwhile, three university of Missouri students were dismissed, 11 suspended and three put on probation.

At Fort Collins, Colo., one freshman student was dismissed and several others may be permitted to withdraw. Five University of South Dakota students drew fines on charges of disturbing the peace. Fines also were levied by a firm police judge against six San Diego State students. Trials were set for six who pleaded innocent.

THREAT

At Whittier College, Whittier, Calif., K. N. Richardson, dean of men, posted a notice stating he would try to draft every man involved in any raid.

Whittier students said they had no intention of doing any panty raiding, anyway.

Draft action also was threatened at other schools.

At Moscow, Idaho, some 1,500 University of Idaho males came up with a variation. They bought underclothing, took it to coeds, then auctioned off the lingerie at an all-night dance. The proceeds went to the crippled children's fund.

Mental Care City Duty?

SALEM (AP)—General hospitals to care for mental patients should be established in and supported by communities, rather than supported by the states, Dr. Henry C. Schumacher, mental health director of the U. S. Public Health Service, said here Friday at a meeting of the Oregon Public Health Association.

"If mental patients, other than the aged, were given competent care and treatment at community hospitals, 80 per cent of them could be returned to their homes within 90 days," he said. Dr. Schumacher, who lives in San Francisco, said state hospitals still would be needed.

He also advocated child guidance clinics for detection of mental disorders, and said the public must be convinced that mental illness is caused by pressure of modern living instead of being hereditary.

Production Up as Labor Battles End

NEW YORK (AP)—Industry shook off many of its labor troubles this week and stepped up its production schedules.

The nation's railroad settled labor disputes of more than three years standing.

At the week ended, the Army returned operation of the roads to their private owners.

Western Union and the AFL telegraphers reached an agreement that gave them a working basis for ending their 51-day strike.

The nationwide oil walkout neared an end with additional large refineries signing up.

Restrictions were taken off the use of automobile gasoline, kerosene and oils.

But the shortage of aviation gasoline became more serious and drastic reductions in flights.

Thanks to defense production business and industry generally did a little better than the preceding week but the levels were not quite as high as a year ago.

Church Eases Divorce Stand

NEW YORK (AP)—The Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. has thrown out a part of its church law saying its ministers may marry a divorced person only after a year has elapsed since the divorce.

The change, given final approval by the 2,500,000-member church's top governing body, also strikes out a phrase specifying that ministers "may marry the innocent party" to a divorce.

No restrictions concerning remarriage of the "guilty" or "innocent" party is contained in the newly substituted section of the church's "directory of worship."

It specifies only that the minister, before marrying a divorced person, "shall ascertain whether there is penitence for past sin and failure, and intention to enter, with the help of God, and through His church, into a lasting marriage of 'love, honor, forbearance and loyalty.'"

The action culminated several years of debate over the church's marriage and divorce policies.

Calves Flown To Auction

CORVALLIS (AP)—Some 17,500 pounds of Holstein calves on the hoof were flown here from Wisconsin Friday and many were sold at auction as they stepped off the plane.

Earl Gillaspie was responsible for the novel cattle auction. He said he purchased 100 2-month-old calves in the Midwest and shipped them here because of the great demand in Oregon for heavier breeds of dairy cattle.

Some of the calves were contracted for in advance. Interest in those remaining unsold was so keen that Gillaspie called off a scheduled auction sale at the stockyards and instead sold the remaining heifers as they came off the plane.

Gillaspie said it cost $3,000 to charter the plane for the trip.

New Plant Cost $400,000

MEDFORD (AP)—A plywood plant expected to cost about $400,000 is under construction at the White City industrial area.

It is being built by the newly incorporated Medford Veneer and Plywood Corp. John Dingley, president, said it would employ 150 men and turn out about three million sheets of three-eighths-inch Douglas fir interior plywood a month.

Future plans call for production of fir exterior plywood, pine, hard-wood, etc.

On Monday, June 23, School District No. 2 (Klamath Union High School) will select a board member.

Although the board member is to be selected from the district's northern zone (from Chiloquin all the way to the fourth end of the county), voting will be countywide, at all elementary schoolhouses of the county district.

The term of Mrs. Lucille O'Neill as a board member of School District No. 1 also is expiring, and she as yet has not announced whether she will seek re-election. T. J. O'Hara, local petroleum products distributor, is to be a candidate. Voting will be at Fremont School.

UNOPPOSED

In School District No. 2 the board position of Nelson Reed comes up for election, and Reed is again a candidate, without opposition as yet.

Voting on the high school district board position will be at KUHS.

The polls will be open at all voting places from 2 p. m. to 8 p. m. standard time. All qualified voters who are residents of the district are eligible to vote.

French Snag West Parley

BONN, Germany (AP)—Last-minute French objections snarled three-power talks here Saturday on completion of the Allied-West German peace contract.

A conference of Big Three foreign ministers was held an hour while France's Robert Schuman received last-minute instructions from Paris by telephone. He was reported to have received the French cabinet's views on the phrasing of the proposed British-American guarantee against West Germany breaking out of the six-nation European Defense Community (EDC), a linkup closely allied with the peace contract.

Allied sources here said the French were insisting this guarantee be strengthened before they will consent to sign the peace contract with West Germany—tentatively scheduled Monday.

When the delayed conference had been in session only an hour Schuman had to leave Britain's Anthony Eden and America's Dean Acheson again to talk to Paris by telephone. This served to delay a meeting planned for Friday by education and three ministers and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.
