Civil Defense Test Slated

PORTLAND — Coordination between civil defense units and the armed forces will get an eight-state test in a simulated war emergency in July, planners disclosed here Wednesday. The test will be the first ever held between civil defense groups and the military on an interstate basis. Col. J. M. Chambers of the Federal Civil Defense Administration, Washington, D. C., said. Designed primarily for staff training and not for public participation, it will determine the extent of mutual aid available to stricken areas, he said. He added that it "might be one day several such exercises held throughout the U. S." The nature of the simulated emergency was withheld in the interest of realism. Col. Jules K. French, San Francisco, plans and operations officer of the 6th Army, said the Western Sea Frontier, Western Air Defense Command, 4th Air Force and 6th Army would participate in the test with regional and local civil defense groups. At the Wednesday meeting here were Roger Dunham, Seattle, federal regional defense director; Jack Hayes, Oregon civil defense director; Col. H. A. McKinney, Portland, civil defense director; and Col. Phillip Doddridge, Idaho civil defense director.

Beaver Trap Catch High

PORTLAND — The first beaver trapping season in Oregon in 20 years resulted in an estimated $120,000 catch, the State Game Commission reported on Wednesday. Trappers taking part in the 1951-52 season trapped 15,252 beaver. Chester Kebbe of the game commission said the pelts brought an average $9.73 with top prices going up to $22 a pelt. The biggest catch was in Lane County, where 2,398 beavers were taken. Other sections of the South Willamette Valley and Columbia and Clatsop Counties were among the leading areas. No decision has been made on whether beaver trapping will be allowed again next winter.

Big Commie Attack Shapes

TOKYO — United Nations officers in a position to know said Thursday a Communist force just under 1,000,000 men is capable of mounting a spring offensive in Korea without warning. The figure is nearly 250,000 greater than the estimate of Red forces given by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway April 27 shortly before he turned the Far East United Nations command over to Gen. Mark Clark. The latest estimate is shy of the 1,000,000 men British Prime Minister Winston Churchill told parliament the Reds had in Korea. It was assumed Churchill was talking in round numbers. A year ago the Red armies in Korea totaled fewer than 600,000 men. The rapid growth in enemy strength has been brought about in the past two months as armistice talks grow more bitter almost daily. Clark would not evaluate the situation. Officers who should know said the enemy's current ground strength includes 80 infantry divisions, backed up by a number of Chinese Communist artillery divisions, each containing approximately 100 big guns. A Chinese division is made up of about 10,000 men. Half these combat divisions are in the forward areas. U. N. officers say the Communist force in Korea today is capable of greater offensive action than any heretofore attempted.

Gasoline Curb To Be Lifted

WASHINGTON — Airline travel and other private flying can zoom back to normal at 3:01 Eastern standard time next Tuesday morning. Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman made this possible Wednesday night when he signed an order lifting restrictions at that time on the amount of gasoline commercial and sports flying could use. Chapman said the results of the aviation gas cut had been tragic for some airlines. To provide interim relief, Chapman gave permission for airlines to use, up to Tuesday morning, 78 per cent of the amount of gasoline they used in a comparable number of days in March. The restrictions were imposed May 6, when the government cut airline gas consumption to 65 per cent of use in the March base period. The restrictions resulted from a strike by 90,000 oil workers. The effects of the strike have eased as the result of individual settlements in the industry.

West Oregon May Get Rain

PORTLAND — Some rain in western Oregon and scattered showers in the eastern part of the state are expected this week end. Most crops will need some moisture in the near future. The weekly crop-weather report of the department of agriculture and the weather bureau pointed out Wednesday that Oregon farmers were aided in getting their seasonal tasks done by clear, warm weather of the past week. Limited strawberry picking got underway in the week and packers are expected to start getting berries by the middle of next week. Altogether the crop situation drew an optimistic report. Eastern Oregon has some risk of light frost in high valleys over the week end.

Boys May Get Treasure Find

PORTLAND — Legal steps were taken Wednesday to claim or three boys $2,180 they found floating in a fish pond in Portland last week. Attorney William J. Crawford filed suit in Circuit Court seeking the money for Lynn Edwin Hill, Myron Ward Whitcomb and Melvin LeRoy Weaver. They spotted a package floating in the pond, fished it out and found the money in $5, $10 and $20 bills. The three turned it over to sheriff's deputies.

Briton Sees U.S. Faults

LONDON — American women doll up so much — take it from an English clergyman — because they're worried all the time about losing their husbands. That, Canon Hugh C. Warner told the Royal Commission on Marriage and Divorce Wednesday is one bad effect of easy divorce laws. "As far as my information goes about America, one quite clear result has happened — it has caused a grave and constant worry all the time that the marriage will suddenly break up," Warner reported, adding: "The modern American wife tends to feel she must wake up early in the morning to get her hair and powder on before her husband wakes. Otherwise she feels she may not have him by the evening."

Malin Schedules Pool Opening

The Malin swimming pool opens up to the public starting next Wednesday noon (PST), according to Pool Mgr. Francis Kolkov. Daily swimming will continue until June 9, when lessons are scheduled from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. daily, and public swimmers will be admitted after 3. The lessons will last one month.

Corner F. Floyd South asked Sheriff Terry South to turn the money over to him because he believed it belonged to James Stevens, 71, a recluse who had lived nearby. Stevens died last February, and South is administrator of his estate. Schunk said he would keep the money until a court determined what he should do with it, meantime he planned to give certificates to the three boys for their honesty. Attorney Crawford argued the original owner and loser of the money was unknown so the boys should have it.

COLLEGE POST — The Lake Oswego public school superintendent, Julio L. Bortolazzo, 36, said Wednesday he had accepted a post as president of Stockton, Calif., College.

U.S. Physicians Total Record
CHICAGO — The United States had a record high number of 211,680 physicians at the end of 1951, the American Medical Association reported Thursday. This was a gain of 2,640 over 1950. The figures showed 6,282 persons obtained licenses to practice for the first time, but that 3,642 deaths of doctors were reported during the year.
