SCOTUS Acts on Labor, FCC Schedules Segregation Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday agreed to say whether segregation of white and Negro children in elementary public schools should be outlawed. The court granted hearings on two appeals by Negro parents who claim segregation is a "stigmatizing badge of inferiority" which has a bad effect upon their children. They contend segregation therefore violates the constitutional guarantee of equal protection of the laws. The appeals contest the validity of segregation only in schools in Topeka, Kans., and Clarendon County, S.C. However, the outcome of the cases will affect the public school segregation generally. Among other actions Monday before it recessed until fall, the high court:

Held 6-10 that the Railway Labor Act bars unions "from using their position and power to destroy colored workers' jobs in order to bestow them on white workers" and that federal courts must issue injunctions to "protect those threatened by such an unlawful use of power." The tribunal found that an agreement between the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the St. Louis - San Francisco Railway threatened Negro train porters "with loss of their jobs because they are not white and for no other reason." Set aside — while leaving the door open to a new trial — the conviction of three Seattle men on charges of using an unlicensed radio transmitter to trick horse race bookies out of a large sum of money. The case turned on the right of Federal Communications Commission investigators who lacked a search warrant to seize the transmitter from an automobile parked in a public garage. The court split 6 to 3 in agreeing to a government request to order the convictions set aside because of an error in the case. But it specified its action should not preclude a new trial. Held 7 to 2 that states may properly require a criminal's claim of insanity to be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. Specifically, the tribunal upheld the death sentence of Morris Leland for the sex killing of 18-year-old Thelma Taylor near Portland, Ore., in August.

1949. The court rejected a plea that it overturn Oregon's unique law requirement in insanity pleas. Deferred action at least until October on a Justice Department request that it settle the complex Dollar Steamship case once and for all by deciding who owns some 60 million dollars worth of stock in American President Lines, Inc., one of many side issues involves a contempt of court judgment against Secretary of Commerce Sawyer. Dismissed as moot a case in which the three big unions questioned legality of the government's 1950 seizure of the railroads to avert a strike. While the appeal was pending the wage dispute between the unions and railroads was settled and President Truman on May 23 ordered the carriers returned to private operation.

House Studies Water Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to charge off a portion of the costs of reclamation projects for sediment control and recreation was approved Monday by a House interior subcommittee. The legislation would provide that the secretary of interior may set aside recreation areas immediately adjacent to reclamation dams and build recreation facilities at no cost to the water and power users. Rep. Engle (D-Calif.), chairman of the subcommittee, said the bill would make possible a small reduction in payments by land owners to the government in a number of projects. Introducing the bill last February, Engle said he hoped it would form a basis for discussion of some of the recommendations of the President's Water Resources Policy Commission. The commission had proposed that a method be devised to relieve the burden of irrigation water users by collecting from other beneficiaries, including those now benefiting from flood control. Engle's bill would approach the problem from a reverse angle. It would put recreation and sediment control on the same basis as flood control which now is an expense borne almost entirely by the federal government. The bill would authorize the secretary of interior to construct, or permit others to construct, recreational facilities immediately adjacent to reclamation dams. The lands and structures built by the government could be leased to operators, with preference given to federal, state and local government agencies if they desired to undertake the development of the recreational areas surrounding the dams and reservoirs.

Keystone Delegates Unpledged

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. John Fine of Pennsylvania, after a three-hour talk with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, says he still has an open mind about Republican presidential hopes. Fine adds that it may be some time before he reaches a decision, which presumably may guide 32 officially uncommitted delegates from his state to the GOP convention. The governor and the general met here Sunday at the Eisenhower residence on the Columbia University campus. Eisenhower is on leave from his post as president of Columbia. With the Republican convention less than a month away, Eisenhower in his bid to win the nomination has meetings scheduled here this week with delegates from 15 Atlantic seaboard states. Representatives of New Hampshire, Connecticut, Delaware and Massachusetts opened the sessions Monday morning. The Eisenhower-Fine conference took on considerable importance because the 32 officially uncommitted Pennsylvania delegates constitute, by themselves, a voting bloc bigger than entire delegations from many states. Fine said that Pennsylvania's 70 regular and 70 alternate delegates have been invited to meet the general next Friday at Eisenhower's farm, near Gettysburg, Pa. However, the governor said he does not expect the meeting to result in any definite action in support of either Eisenhower or his chief opponent, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Bishop Accuses Reds Of Torture

HONG KONG (AP)—An American Roman Catholic bishop said Monday Chinese Communists rubbed his wrists and knees raw with bricks to force him to pay a $3,333 ransom. The 57-year-old bishop, Adolph Paschang, Martinsburg, Mo., was expelled from China as a Nationalist spy last Friday. He arrived here via Macau. Paschang told a news conference he paid the fine after three days of torture. "I didn't see any sense in being slapped silly," he said. The beating of Paschang resulted in a directive from Bishop Raymond A. Lane, superior general of the Maryknoll Mission, New York, to foreign missionaries not to pay any "extortion money" to the Reds.
