Settlement Ends Long Dollar Line-U. S. Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government and the R. Stanley Dollar interests Thursday settled their five-year court fight over control of the big Dollar Steamship Line. Terms of the settlement provide:

Girls' Camp Dates Set

Camp Fire Girls will open their summer camping season at Camp Esther Applegate at Lake of the Woods on July 12. Plans call for three seven-day sessions this year. Camp Fire girls from 10 to 15 years may attend one or two weeks from July 12 to July 26. Blue Bird Girls, ages 8 to 10 are limited to one week, July 26 to Aug. 2. Ashland Camp Fire Girls will again camp with the Klamath Falls girls. These out-of-county girls and non-members pay a small additional fee which is used for camp development.

1. The controlling stock interest in the line claimed by both will be put up at public sale at any price above 14 million dollars in cash.
2. The winner on sealed bids will get the 92 per cent block of stock and the government and the Dollar interest will divide the proceeds.
3. If the public sale fails to bring a bid of 14 million dollars or more, the stock will be divided equally between the government and the Dollar interest.

In any event, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said, the government intends to get out of the line and return it to private operation. During court proceedings, the 92 per cent block of stock was estimated to be worth 69 million dollars but Sawyer said Thursday the net value of the line was about 32 million at the end of 1951. Its ownership has been in dispute due to circumstances of a government loan of 4 1/2 million dollars. Dollar denied that the stock block of the loan had been surrendered to it.

The settlement agreement provided that the Dollar interests may bid for the stock by themselves or join others in doing so. Sawyer's news conference announcement was the first public word that the stock is available for purchase. Stanley Dollar, San Francisco (to bid on it) and that if the public of the block of stock.

Conditions Improving At State Mental Hospitals

By PAUL W. HARVEY JR.

PENDLETON (AP)—A state mental hospital today is a quiet, pleasant place occupied by patients who are mostly happy, presenting a sharp contrast to the "snake pit" idea that a mental hospital is a bedlam. I spent two nights and a day in the Eastern Oregon State Hospital here, talking to patients, doctors, nurses and attendants.

There are no barred windows, as strong screens and steel window frames keep the patients in. The place is more quiet than a general hospital. Almost all of the patients are contented. They have lots of sports activities, hobbies and good food. They even go on picnics.

Students Take Mexico Trip

SALEM (AP)—Seven college students and seven school teachers will leave Sunday by automobile on an educational tour of Mexico. It is sponsored by the Salem YMCA and Willamette University. The purpose of the tour is to acquaint the party with Mexican culture and social conditions. Students making the trip are Jack Phipps, Wenatchee, Wash., and Marcella Davis, Salem, both Willamette students; Silvia Wingard, Lakeview; Marjorie Elliott and Clarice Duling, students at the University of Oregon; Rae Newson, Oregon City, and Marilyn Meyer, students at Lewis and Clark College. The teachers are Patricia Graham, Parrish Junior High, Salem; School; Olivia Claypool, Springfield; Helen Redbird and Patricia Dolan, both of Highland School, Salem; Harold D. Osborn, Eugene; and Jack Gruber, Loraine school superintendent.

The old people in this hospital are overcrowded. In one ward, there are 71 patients, while 55 is capacity. In one room there are 22 beds, or about four times as many as there should be. The hospital has 1,450 patients, and 90 per cent of them are older persons who can't be cured. More than a dozen of them have been there since the hospital was opened in 1912. While the old people can't be cured, those with delusions can be treated so they will be happier. About a fourth of all newly admitted patients are these old people. Another 15 per cent are alcoholics.

Insulin shock is given to patients who don't respond to electric shock. The calm atmosphere and the patient, considerate care are big aids to treatment. Confused patients often show a big improvement when they enter, before any treatment is started. The hospital runs a 1,400 acre farm, but only 200 acres of that is any good. It has 90 cows, producing its own milk, and its own vegetables. It is located on the Old Oregon Trail on the west edge of Pendleton. The grounds are well kept, and it's a pretty place.

NEW PATIENTS New patients are admitted to the modern two-year-old treatment and admission hospital, which has about 145 patients. A new patient is interviewed by a psychiatrist, who takes all the history and diagnoses the case.

Then the patient goes before the whole staff of doctors, who outline the treatment. Electric shock, insulin shock and counseling are given. Most new patients now are cured by these methods. A few years ago it might take three or four years to cure a patient, but now, thanks to the miracle of electric and insulin shock, the cure often is complete in four or five weeks. However, some new patients can't be cured. The electric shock lasts only a second. It is painless and the patients, as a rule, don't fear it. The shocks give patients convulsions.
