Cyclist Fined, Then Injured

Homer William Wallace, construction worker from Pendleton, was hospitalized here Wednesday with a leg injury received in a motorcycle accident on U.S. 97 near Chemult.

The 26-year-old Wallace was arrested early Tuesday night at Beaver March, and fined a total of $19.50 by Justice of the Peace E. W. Dunn of Crescent for being drunk on a public highway.

A State Police officer said he saw the man trying to mount a motorcycle at Beaver March, saw that he had been drinking and warned him to stay off the vehicle.

A short time later the patrolman returned and again found Wallace starting up the motorcycle. He was arrested, taken to the Crescent judge, fined and brought back to Beaver March where the officer saw Wallace rent a room for the night.

The officer left, but several hours later received a call to investigate an accident a few miles up the road.

It was Wallace again. He had run his cycle off the road and out into the jackpines, suffering an injured leg.
