Farewell Party For W. C. Hacklers

FORT KLAMATH—On Saturday evening, June 14, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McQuiston entertained with a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hackler, who are leaving June 25 to make their home in Sacramento, California.

Cards were played and Mrs. Hackler were the recipients of lovely farewell gifts from their assembled friends. Refreshments were served late in the evening to the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hackler; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rakestraw and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tisdale, Klamath Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Seth Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Page, Mrs. Joanna Taylor, Betsy Joe McQuiston, and Fred McQuiston.

The Hackler Wood River ranch has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. James Owens of Red Bluff, California, who with their son Peter will take immediate possession when the Hacklers leave for Sacramento, there they have purchased a new home.

Mr. Hackler has been a resident of Fort Klamath for the past forty-two years, and Mrs. Hackler has made this her home for thirty-three years.

Reason given for the move is Mr. Hackler's poor health, his physical condition making it inadvisable to spend another winter here. Friends here join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hackler well in their new location.

Womens Guild

Lutheran Womens Guild of Zion Lutheran Church met June 19, 1:30 p.m.

Mrs. Vernice Eberlein introduced the topic, "The Founding and Works of the American Bible Society."

During the meeting routine business was discussed and it was decided to cancel the next regular meeting scheduled for July 3.

Mrs. Margaret Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Madelon Anderson were hostesses.

CLUMPNER-OWENS NUPTIAL VOWS IN FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Another pretty June bride, was Serena Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Owens, 3029 Boardman Street, whose marriage to Neil Allen Clumpner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Clumpner, Anchorage, Alaska, was solemnized in an early morning nuptial service, June 10, in the First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. David F. Barnett Jr. officiated. In a setting of pink carnations, white stock and woodwardia fern, illuminated with lighted tapers, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She was lovely in a full length, white nylon net over satin, veil of illusion net held in place with a coronet trimmed with seed pearls and orange blossoms. Her white prayer book was centered with white orchids and stephanotis tied with white satin streamers.

Her only attendant was Rachel Weeks, who wore a dress of aqua blue satin, styled with a net yoke and full skirt. She carried a corsage of pink rosebuds, and wore the same flowers in her hair.

The bridegroom was attended by Joe Green, best man, and Freddie Mills, Independence, Oregon, usher.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served in the Empire Room of the Winema Hotel.

The bridegroom was a student at Washington State College, transferring from there to Oregon Technical Institute to complete his engineering course. Upon his graduation he accepted a position with Douglas Aircraft Co., Long Beach.

The new Mrs. Clumpner is a graduate of KUHS, and was employed at the First National Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Clumpner were here from Anchorage to attend their son's wedding.

The couple honeymooned at Timberline Lodge and will be at home, 839 North Cedar Avenue, Ingleswood California.

KARNES-STOLER RITES IN CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

A beautiful gown of white Chantilly lace over white satin, nylon net yoke, long sleeves and full court train, a ballerina length nylon illusion net veil edged with applique lace, held by a tiara of net, pearl and rhinestone trimmed; was worn by lovely early summer bride, Carolyn Ann Stoler, for her wedding to Kenneth Edward Karnes, May 24, 4 p.m.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Stoler, 636 Roseway Drive, carried a bouquet fashioned of a large white orchid, stephanotis and streamers of white satin ribbon. Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vinton Karnes, Lakeshore Drive, and Carolyn exchanged their nuptial vows in Calvary Baptist Church, the Rev. E. E. Hambrick officiating.

She was given in marriage by her father, who escorted her in the altar rail, before a setting of white gladioli and stock, with palms forming the background, highlighted with flickering tapers in tall candelabra, Mrs. E. E. Hambrick was organist, and accompanied Ronny Bryon, soloist, who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

Maid of honor was Marlene Howard, in white eyelet organza over blue taffeta. She carried an arrangement of pink carnations, and a halo of the same flowers.

Bridesmaids, Ruby Gehring and Betty Karnes, were dressed exactly alike in white eyelet organza over blue taffeta slips, and they carried blue and white carnations and wore halos to match.

Flower girl was little Beth Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Griffith, and she wore white organza over pink, and she carried a basket of rose petals. Ring bearer was young Ted Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nichols.

Best man was Benny Shepherd, and ushers were Dale Young and Earl Barnes, who were also candle-lighters.

Mrs. Stoler chose a navy blue silk shantung suit with matching accessories for her daughters wedding and her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Karnes, mother of the bridegroom, wore a wine colored suit with complementing accessories, and a corsage of white roses.

The reception was held in the church parlors, and numerous vases of roses and the same type flowers used in the church decorated the setting for the reception.

The three tiered elaborate wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was a very professional confection created by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. E. Gearhart, Paradise, California. It was served by Sharon Glenger and Alice Geary, Mary Egan, Lofalou Ralph, Janis Langseth and Marlene Owens poured; and Mrs. Florence Griffith and Mrs. Mabel Gueck assisted. Ann Egan carried the guest book.

A knit suit in winter white.

LOWELL-COLLIER NUPTIAL VOWS EXCHANGED IN ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

St. Paul's Episcopal Church was the scene of an early June wedding, when Dorothy Elizabeth Collier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Collier, 2336 White Avenue, and J. Jean Lowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowell, Old Midland Road, were united in marriage, at three o'clock in the afternoon, June 1. The Rev. Galen Onstad officiated.

The lovely bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, embroidered with seed pearls, long sleeves, pointed at the wrists, and a long train. She wore a fingertip veil held with a pearl trimmed halo. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses, stephanotis and white satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Janice Larson was organist, and the church choir sang for the wedding.

The church was a profusion of lilacs and spring flowers, forming a colorful background for the impressive ceremony.

Maid of honor, Connie Collier, sister of the bride, wore a gown of nylon net over taffeta, and her bouquet was of pink carnations and sweet peas in a darker shade of pink, and she wore a matching, close fitting cap.

Bridesmaids were Gloria Jackson and Marilyn Hardin. Gloria wore aqua eyelet embroidery and nylon net over taffeta, matching cap and carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas in a darker shade of aqua. Marilyn wore a dress exactly as the other two in orchid shades of brown, pearl trimmed, and wore a navy and white nylon net afternoon dress and her corsage was the same as Mrs. Collier's. The reception was in the parlors.

ROY DUTCHERS IN EAST ON THREE MONTHS WEDDING TRIP

Catholic Church, Medford, was the scene of the marriage of Norma Isobel Delorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Delorie, Newport, Prince Edward Island, Canada, to Roy H. Dutcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. (Jack) Dutcher, 528 Pacific Terrace.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Darrell Davis, the bride was lovely in a lace trimmed gown of white slipper satin, styled with a fitted bodice, full net skirt and short train. Her fingertip veil of illusion net was held with a narrow softly pleated halo of the same material. She carried a white prayer book centered with a white orchid, stephanotis and white satin streamers.

Bruce Pelligrini was organist and played the traditional wedding marches and incidental wedding music.

The church was decorated with large baskets of spring flowers and the pews were marked with bouquets of spring flowers anchored with white satin bows.

The setting was illuminated with numerous lighted tapers in tall candelabra.

The Rev. C. J. Linahan read the service at 3:30 p.m., June 14, in the presence of a large group of invited guests and relatives.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Darrell Davis, sister of the bride, wore an aqua nylon marquisette ballerina length dress and carried a bouquet of pastel Esther Reed daisies.

The bridesmaids, Hermina Filiaus and Claire Delorie (sister of the bride), wore dresses identical to the matron of honor's, pink, and they carried the same type bouquets.

Darrell Davis, brother-in-law of the bride was best man, and ushers were Barton Lafon, and James Dutcher (brother of the bridegroom).

Mrs. Dutcher, mother of the bridegroom, wore a handsome dress of brown lace, and her corsage was a brown orchid. Mrs. Delorie was unable to attend her daughter's wedding.

The reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the Banquet Room of Medford Hotel, and it was decorated in the same type flowers used for the church.

Esther Reed daisies in pink and white were alternately placed flat around the base of the wedding cake.

Shirley Budreau and Madeline Legre poured; Mrs. Bill Luman cut the cake, and Mrs. Ed Davis assisted.

The bride attended Prince of Wales College, Prince Edward Island.

Medo-Land brings you the finest milk... in the new, sanitary, gable top carton.

It's easy to use... just follow these 4 easy steps:

1. Lift the double seal-off tab.
2. Fold gable top back and carton is ready for pouring.
3. Tilt carton gently, as you would a glass bottle.
4. To close - press inner seal into pouring vent. This will prevent milk getting any ice box flavors.
