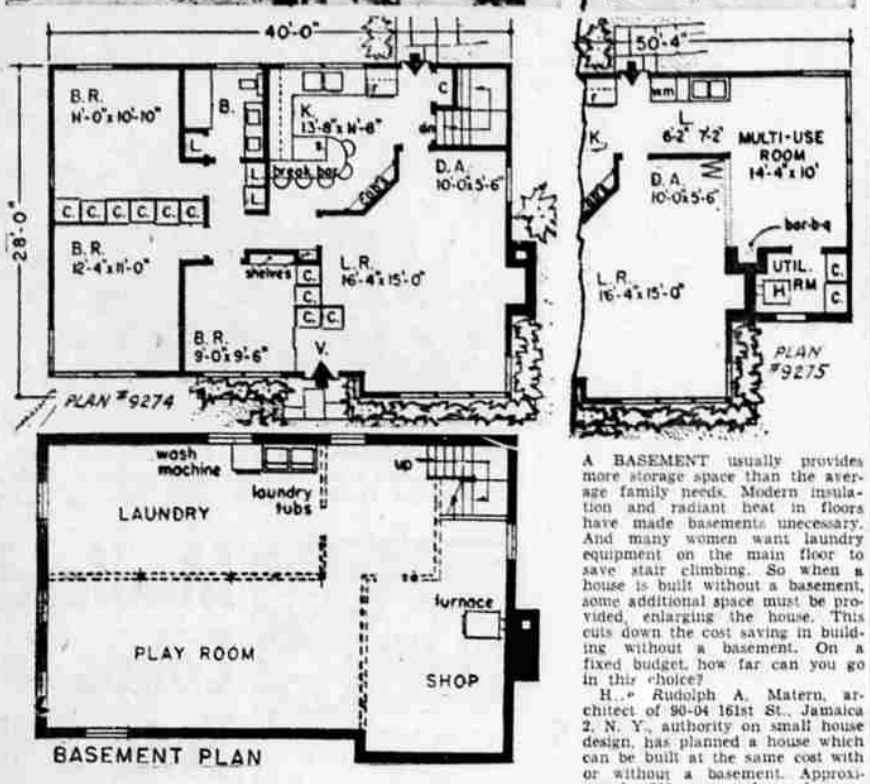
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



A BASEMENT usually provides more storage space than the average family needs. Modern insulation and radiant heat in floors have made basements unecessary. And many women want laundry equipment on the main floor to save stair climbing. So when a house is built without a basement, some additional space must be provided, enlarging the house. This cuts down the cost saving in building without a basement. On a fixed budget, how far can you go in this choice?

H... Rudolph A. Matern, architect of 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 2, N. Y., authority on small house design, has planned a house which can be built at the same cost with or without a basement. Approximately 220 square feet of space can be added above ground for the cost of the cellar.

Architect Matern makes use of this difefrence by adding a wing to accomodate the heater room and a good sized multi-use room separated from the living room by folding partition. With an added barbecue fireplace, this space can be used for a recreation room, dining room, or closed off for a fourth bedroom. Plan 9275 showing the multi-use room and laundry space adjoing the kitchen, covers an area of 1283 square feet. The rest of this house beyond the cutaway remains the same as shown in Plan 9274 at the left, which covers 1066 square feet.

(Further information and plans can be obtained from the architect named above)

Washington's Eastvold Said Newest GOP Star

SEATTLE (AP) — Emergence of youthful State Sen. Don Eastvold as a sparkplug for the Eisenhower forces in the Republican convention delegate-seating fights caught most of his home state voters by surprise.

Although one of the city of Tacoma's best known young political leaders, the 32 - year - old attorney is little known by the public outside of his home county. He is serving his first term as a state senator, after having beaten a long - time Democrat incumbent in a heavily Democratic county.

He is the son of Dr. S. C. Eastvold, president of Pacific Lutheran College at Tacoma. Besides practicing law, the younger Eastvold conducts courses in business and labor law at the college.

He was named Tacoma's "young man of the year" in 1951.

He was one of the original committee of three in the state for the Eisenhower campaign.

At the state convention, he played a role similar to his national convention spot — pushing through a minority report in favor of Eisenhower forces.

Eastvold is a native of Minneapolis and grew up in Eau Claire, Wisc., where his father was a Lutheran pastor. His mother said Thursday the young senator always has been prominent in public speaking, and won state and national speaking honors as an Eau Claire high school student.

"But if he expected to have such a prominent role," she remarked proudly, "he didn't say anything about it to anyone."

Eastvold got the ball - carrying role as Eisenhower representative on the key credentials committee.

He is married and the father of five children, including 18 - month - old twins. He is a graduate of St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn. He has announced his candidacy for state attorney general.

His father is missing the moments of family pride. He is in Europe for an international Lutheran meeting.

His wife, Elva, is at the convention with the senators.

Navy To Cut Recruit Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said Saturday its recruiting staff is being cut by about half.

A spokesman, in answer to questions, said the move results from (1) the over-all effect of the budget reduction and (2) the effort for better use of manpower in combat and operating positions.

During the fiscal year just closed, about 3,300 persons were assigned to recruiting in the field and at headquarters.

Of these, about 3,000 were enlisted, 75 were civilians and the remainder were officers.

The spokesman said it could be presumed the bulk of the reduction in the recruiting staff would be among enlisted men. The Majority of them are chief petty officers.

SAVE TIME

Broiler meals are quick and easy. Take one pound of seasoned ground beef, roll it out on a board between two sheets of wax paper. Remove the top sheet and put three cups of seasoned mash potatoes on top of the meat and roll into a round cylindrical shape. Cut in two-inch slices and place under the direct heat of the flame. Broil tomato halves at the same time.

Tin Can Shortage Subject of Meet

PORTLAND (AP) — Farm and food processing leaders met here Saturday to see what could be done about the industry-threatening tin can shortage.

A canning industry spokesman said the shortage is so acute, due to the steel strike, that there will be enough cans to handle only crops produced through July.

That means Oregon's Blue Lake bean crop and others maturing next month are in jeopardy.

The state Grange headquarters here was chosen for the meeting with Marshall Swearingen, Farm Bureau president, presiding. In addition to heads of the state Grange, Farmers Union and Farm Bureau, representatives of canners, food wholesalers, retailer organizations and consumer groups were to pool their ideas.

Cecil Tulley, executive vice president of the Northwest Canners Association, said talk of the shortage had been kept quiet for fear of starting a run on canned goods in stores.

Vaughn, a timber scaler, is 59, and is a patient at the Veterans' hospital in Portland, having undergone a series of surgical operations for a cancer condition. His stepson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hughes and their three children, live at Rager ranger station, near Paulina Lake, where Hughes is stationed as forest ranger with the U. S. forest service.
