TRICKY TRICKS

The little eye catchers that women love, like tucked yestees, double reverses, pretty detachable pique are money-saving ways of perking up an old dress. To keep them clean, wash them in hand-sudsing, hot suds and add a small amount of bluing wax ironing aid to the hot starch. This gives the finishing

DARLENE WOLFF

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Jackson Jr. and son; Karlson and Sharon Parazo, spent the 4th of July holiday at Hoopa, Calif., attending the Indian festival. Highlight of the entertainment was the native brush dance which started at 9 p.m. and continued in relay form until dawn. There were stick races, wrestling, timber events, boat races, social dancing and numerous other events. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Parazo, Bruce, Duane, and Mary Katherine made the trip over the holidays to visit with relatives in Redport. Along for the ride was a little baby duck who attracted tremendous interest at every stop as he splashed in puddles, ate food from people's hands, and followed the Parazos. The Parazos reported one of the nicest features of the trip was getting to drive their newly purchased car. There was one sorrowful part, also. They attended the funeral of a cousin who had been killed in an automobile crash.

Expected from Seattle this week are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Iverson and daughters who will visit with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Manning. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Doty, Mrs. Ed Doty, Mrs. Ray Baldwin, Vance and Cheryl recently drove to Sweet Home where they attended the large church wedding of a former Chiloquin girl, Lorraine Graybill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Graybill, was married to Richard Bechtel, all of Sweet Home. Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Leonard Brewer, Mrs. Bechtel attended the Chiloquin schools for several years and after her graduation from Sweet Home high school went Monmouth College of Education. She teaches grade school and will teach this year about five miles from her home. Mrs. Baldwin and her two children remained in Sweet Home for a week visiting before they returned to Chiloquin.

Fourth of July at the Doty home was planned much differently than it actually turned out. What really happened was—chicken pox. Both Reed David and tiny Harriet Johnson were the victims. So the only celebration was a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Norman Doty from Klamath Falls and with the Ray Baldwins, three of whose four children also have chicken pox. Jack Jones went to Eugene over the holidays to attend a church youth rally and during his absence his wife and son spent at Rogue River to visit her brother.

Leo Larvie arrived from South Dakota last week and is staying here with his cousin and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Claude Parazo. He had planned to sign up to ride in the Klamath Rodeo but arrived too late to sign. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Parazo and children, Shirley, Bonnie and Mike spent the holidays in Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Sid Curtis recently drove to Vancouver, B. C. to take her daughter and four grandchildren. Mrs. Jean Robertson and children on the first lap of their return to their home in Edmonton, Alberta. In Vancouver two other daughters of Mrs. Curtis met them and they have come to Chiloquin for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ravizza left on Monday morning for Portland where he will have a checkup following the recent surgery he had in that city. During their absence Sally is staying with an aunt and uncle in Algona, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Warren and the older two children are "holding the fort". Mr. and Mrs. Donald Potter and boys were among the Chiloquin people who drove to the Bend for the 4th to attend the water pageant given annually in that city. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Zimmerman and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Staiger were two other local couples who attended the water festival in Bend. Streams and lakes were thickly populated by Chiloquin people over the holidays and the fish that weren't caught must at least have been scared silly with all the hooks jutting from the water. These two camps were on Buck Creek. The Wayne Nicholas family chose Long Creek as did Ted Markwardt. FORT KLAMATH

Mrs. Vaughn is in Portland with her husband, and on receipt of the news of his stepfather's critical condition, Hughes immediately went there also. Mrs. Hughes is the former Marie Loozley, member of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Loozley, pioneer Wood River valley residents.

Lee Crum, former Fort Klamathite now living at Sacramento, Calif., was looking up old friends here on Friday.

Two local real estate properties changed hands this past week, when Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Roeder sold their Fort Klamath home to Mr. and Mrs. William Owens of Red Bluff, Calif., and the property of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cable was in turn purchased by the Roeders, who are owners of the Crater Lake grocery here. Mrs. Roeder also manages the local agency of the Oregon State Liquor Control Commission housed in the same building.

with his family will move soon into the former Roeder residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Cable have made Fort Klamath their home for about 25 years, and have many friends in this region who regret their departure. At one time, they operated the Green Lantern cafe here, later leasing and running the Sunset Lodge, service station and restaurant (now the Fort Creek Motel, the property of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reese). For several years they also managed under lease the Junction service station, cabins and cafe, located one mile south of here at the junction of highways 62 and 232, now operated by the owner, Francis Kirk.

For some time, Cable has been employed as meat cutter in a Klamath Falls Salfeway store, and on August 1, he and his wife will take possession of a new home located in the reclamation project in Klamath Falls, where they plan to live permanently. During the intervening time, Mrs. Cable will visit at Wooduc with her sister, Mrs. Guy Hartell, her husband and family, and later plans to go to Cedar Bluff in Washington for a stay at the home of her son-in-law, daughter and children, Mr. and Mrs. George Zigler, their daughter Barbara and son Bobbie.
