Ike Staffman Opposes Byrd

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia Democrats decide Tuesday whether to give Sen. Hary F. Byrd a new six year lease on his seat in Congress or to nominate as his successor an ex-army colonel who once served on General Eisenhower's staff.

The state's Democratic primary election will climax a tempestuous race between Byrd and Francis Pickens Miller.

Some observers see it as the most serious challenge yet raised to Byrd's 19-year senate career.

Miller, who served two terms in the state legislature more than a decade ago, is predicting a vote turnout of 280,000, of which be foreseens himself getting 145,000 — enough for a 10,000 vote victory.

Byrd's campaign forces, who've been calling for a large turnout as a voice of confidence for the Senator's work, forecast a ballot of 300,000.

They've declined to predict the way the vote will be split, although expressing confidence Byrd will be nominated again.

In traditionally Democratic Virginia, no Republican candidate has been named to oppose the winner.
