Oregon Demos Go To Chicago

PORTLAND (P)—Oregon's Democratic delegation, singly and in pairs, is heading for the party's national convention at Chicago. Monroe Sweetland, national committee member, left Sunday. State Sen. Thomas Mahoney of Portland left Monday. Others will be leaving throughout the week, some going by automobile, some by train, and some by plane. The 12 delegates and their alternates will be at the Morrison hotel in Chicago. They will hold their first meeting Sunday.

"CANCO CHARLIE," the mechanical man who visited here Tuesday, came night to getting his solder melted by a luscious California lass. The photographer was also smitten to the point of failing to get the young lady's name. "Canco Charlie" was here in connection with the Aug. 17 opening in Portland of the American Can Company's newest fibre milk container plant.

Acheson Accuses Chinese Of Convention Violation

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of State Acheson accused the Chinese Communists Wednesday of violating the Geneva conventions setting the rules of war. He said so in the face of Peiping broadcasts that the China Reds will accept the provisions conditionally.

Asked at his news conference whether he thought these broadcasts constituted a forward step, Acheson said that all he could do was hope so rather feebly.

The Red broadcasts announced that Communist China has decided to recognize conditionally the Geneva treaties banning germ warfare and setting rules for the treatment of war prisoners.

Acheson said that in the early stages of the Korean fighting, the Chinese Communists said they would abide by the Geneva treaties but, he declared, they have not done so.

Specifically, Acheson said, the Reds have failed to abide by provisions calling for periodic publications of a list of captives, for inspections of prisoners of war camps by an international agency and for marking POW camps so that they would not be mistakenly bombed.

Acheson charged also that the Communists have failed to abide by two other provisions.

These call for the appointment of a protecting power to supervise treatment of the prisoners, and for notification when prisoners are sick or wounded.

None of these has been adhered to in the past, Acheson told reporters, adding that whether the new step means any change from past practices can not be known. Discussing other foreign policy matters, Acheson told his news conference:

1. He found on his recent visit to Berlin and Vienna a grim determination to resist any Soviet move to absorb Western Germany or Austria.

2. His visit to Brazil demonstrated for the Brazilians hold the U.S. in high esteem, have a deep affection for this country and are not at all worried that we will attempt to dominate or control Brazil.

3. The new Pacific Council's first meeting next month will be devoted largely to organization under the new treaty among the U.S., Australia and New Zealand. The meeting will be held in Honolulu.

Ex-Stripper Inspires New Canine Star's Performance

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Movies Without Pornocorn: A new flicker star is stealing the thunder from Rosemary Clooney. Anna Maria Albert and Laurie Melchior when I visit the set of "The Stars Are Shining" at Paramount. He's Red Dust, a mournful-eyed springer spaniel who's making his film debut with his master, Bob Williams.

Williams' wife, Ann Corio, the former strip-tease star, is standing on the sidelines. When she explains that she's on the set because Red Dust won't do a lick of enacting without her being near him, a press agent grunts:

"Humph, next thing you know, Lassie will be demanding Lili St. Cyr."

Joanne Dru, Richard Widmark, six-year-old Georgie Winslow and an army of movie moppets are working before the camera in a nursery school scene in "Big Man" at 20th Century-Fox. A woman yells or raves about the authentic juvenile drawings, boldly crayoned, that are tacked to the wall.

But when she leaves I get the lowdown. The studio tried using genuine drawings by kiddies, but they looked too adult. So a prop man was called in to draw the bona-fide kiddie art.

Loretta Young is chasing a chief electrician and demanding $5 for her charity fund for unwed mothers because he uttered a four-letter word out loud on the set of "The Magic Lady" at U-I. Jeff Chandler, Loretta's co-star, and the crew roar as the electrician sheepishly hands over the money.

When another workman asks how much it will cost him to articulate a certain unprintable word, Loretta turns to her secretary and says:

"I want you to make out a list of naughty words and my rates for each one. Anybody who swears on this set has to contribute to charity and I don't want any confusion about it."

Jan Simmons, wearing a Butch Jenkins haircut, and Robert Mitchum are acting out a scene on a small-town porch in "Beautiful But Dangerous" at RKO. Mitchum trips over a word.

"Bring me my medium-shot teeth," he calls out to his secretary. "I must be wearing my long-shot ones."

Ty Power and Piper Laurie are the stars of U-I's "Mississippi Gambler," and the camera is focused on a scene in which Ty and a group of gamblers play draw poker on a river boat. The silver dollars are piled before each player.
