

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT W. SCOTT — now at home, 337 Haskins Street, after their wedding in the Little Flower Church in Reno. The Rev. Charles T. Shallow read the 10 p.m. service, July 1, uniting Carmel Finnigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Finnigan, 309 Washington Street and Robert Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Scott, 1958 Fremont. The attractive bride and her husband are popular members of the younger set and have had numerous parties given in their honor.

COUPLE WEDS IN RENO CHURCH

In a candlelight ceremony in the Little Flower Catholic Church, Reno, July 1, Carmel Finnigan became the bride of Robert W. Scott. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Shallow at 10 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Finnigan, 309 Washington Street. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Scott, 1958 Fremont.

The marriage is the culmination of a grade school romance. The young couple announced their engagement informally to a group of friends last January at the University of Oregon, Eugene.

For her wedding, Carmel chose a white permanented organza frock with yellow trim and white accessories. Her matron of honor, Mrs. James Manning (Clarissa Mason) wore a navy blue dress with pink accessories.

Directly following the marriage, a small reception was held at the Riverside Hotel in Reno.

The couple spent their honeymoon along the California and Oregon coast. They are now at home at 337 Haskins, Klamath Falls.

The newlyweds will return to the U. of O. Eugene in the fall. Bob is majoring in speech and drama, specializing in radio. He is affiliated with the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Couple to Live In Portland

CHLOQUIN — Helen Gard daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Gard, was married recently in Portland to Ronald C. Goldsmith.

The young couple attended a Bible institute there, and they were married in the youth chapel at the school.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white gown and bridal veil. She had two attendants, a college friend, Gussie Gustafson of Missoula, Montana, as maid of honor and her sister, Joy Gard, as bridesmaid.

A brother of the bride, Dick Gard, was best man. Candlelighters were two young relatives of the groom, Linda and Sandra Goldsmith.

The newlyweds are both working in Portland and will make their home there.

Walla Walla Church Scene Of Norseth-Newton Wedding

From Walla Walla comes news of the marriage of Mary Elizabeth Newton, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Newton, of that town, to Palmer Norseth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Norseth, 4634 Cannon Avenue, here. The Rev. Kenneth Claypool read the marriage service in the Congregational Church, in the presence of a large group of friends and relatives, many of whom were from out of town. Organist was Merilee Hobkirk, and vocalist was Margaret Broughton.

The reception was in the garden of the bride's parents country home, floodlighted at the entrance gate; and lighted candles lined the garden paths.

Candlelight also illuminated the indoor setting, further enhanced with beautiful arrangements of white carnations and daisies. Background music during the evening featured violin and piano selections by Roy Dott (violin) and Zella Lockhart (piano).

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length dress of nylon net, three fluted tiers of the same material on the skirt, all bound in bands of white satin. The pearl embroidered Juliet cap, imported from France, secured the fingertip veil of illusion net, and she carried a round bouquet of stephanotis tied with a white satin bow.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Jack Laisure, Tacoma, wore a pastel yellow, white embroidered organza, ballerina length dress, with white accessories; the same as worn by the other bridal attendants, except that theirs were blue. Marilyn Coleman was from Hoquiam; Ina Campbell, Tigard; and Janet Mendenhall, third bridesmaid was from Ketchikan, Alaska.

Three year old Robin Cochran, Walla Walla, was flower girl in pastel blue organza.

The three bridesmaids were Mary's roommates for the past three years at the University of Oregon Medical School.

Best man was Lloyd Norseth, brother of the bridegroom.

William McCormack, Prineville; Gene Soper, Walla Walla; and Neil Billette, Salem, were ushers.

Further details of the reception include the pale blue net tablecloth, on which were fastened miniature pastel bouquets tied with blue satin ribbon. Candlelight was softly reflected in antique amber glass plates and bowls.

Outside on the patio, punch was served by Mrs. Lloyd Norseth, and the cake was served by Mrs. Delbert Lane, Walla Walla; and After the wedding trip, the couple will be at home after August 1, 630 NE 23rd Street, Portland.

HUTCHINSON-SMALL RITES IN ST. LUKE'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

At a late afternoon ceremony Sunday, June 22, at St. Luke's Episcopal Church, Lakeview, Beverly Jean Small became the bride of Mr. Melvin D. Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hutchinson, of 5262 Walton Drive.

Beautiful pink and white Martha Bulloch and solange peonies from the gardens of the Rev. H. N. Tragitt Jr. graced the altar and sanctuary and Myrtle Gentry blush peonies were used throughout the church. The Rev. J. M. B. Gill, close friend of the bride's family, came from Medford to officiate at the double-ring ceremony. Acolytes were Allen and Michael Smith.

The bride, the younger daughter of Mrs. Ross Monroe Small, and the late Mr. Small, was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. K. E. Dodson. Her wedding gown was white lace over satin, with seed pearl trimmed neck yoke.

long fitted sleeves and short train. Her veil of French illusion was held in place with a cap of fine net pleats. The bridal bouquet was a nosegay of white rosebuds and stephanotis. For something old, she placed an old penny in her slipper; she carried a handkerchief borrowed from Mrs. C. B. Robinson.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Joseph Scallon, Roseburg, who wore a floor length gown of pink net over satin, fashioned with bouffant skirt fitted, strapless bodice and net stole. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations and gladioli.

Bridesmaids were Miss Betty Beeson, Miss Doris Carlson, the bride's cousin, and Miss Virginia Myers, whose dresses of spring green, mimosa and orchid net were identical to that of the honor attendant. Each carried nosegays of carnations and gladioli, matching their gowns and wore small headpieces of shattered carnations.

Mrs. Donald Erickson was best man and ushers were William Meade, William Erickson and Dennis Dupuy, all of Klamath Falls.

Soloist for the occasion was Wallace Boe, who sang "Oh, Promise Me," proceeding the ceremony. As the wedding party approached the sanctuary he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and following the ceremony he sang "Because." Mr. Boe was accompanied by Mrs. Jesse Jones who played for the wedding.

Mrs. Small chose for her daughter's wedding, an afternoon dress of deep rose lace fashioned with a wide empire collar and graceful, gored skirt. She wore a close fitting, navy straw calotte with tiny rose veil and velvet trim and her accessories were navy. The bridegroom's mother wore a lace trimmed rose crepe dress with gray accessories. Both wore white orchid corsages.

A garden reception on the church lawn immediately followed the wedding.

Centering the tea table, on a large mirror, was a beautiful bride's cake made in three tiers divided by white pillars. It was decorated with fresh Cecil Brunner rosebuds and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Robert Thorsen, of San Francisco, and Mrs. Earl Mack Jr., of Klamath Falls, college roommate of the bride, served the cake. Mrs. William Verling and Miss Carol Graue poured. Presiding at the punch bowl were Miss Joyce Graves and Miss Betty Carlson. In charge of the guest book was Miss Madge Beeson and the bridegroom's cake was served by Miss Joan Deboy.

For going away the bride wore a navy sabardine dressmaker suit with white linen collar and cuffs white gloves and a white starched lace hat. Other accessories were of navy blue and her corsage was a white orchid.

After a wedding trip to the Bay area through Lassen Park the young couple will be at home at Corvallis where Mrs. Hutchinson will teach in the city schools the coming year and Mr. Hutchinson will complete his last year at Oregon State College where he is a forest technology student.

Out-of-county guests attending the wedding were the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. C. E. Dodson Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Dodson Christine and Kenneth of Independence; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scallon Roseburg; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Myers, Richard and Deborah, cousins of the bride from Newberg; the bridegroom's parents Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hutchinson of Klamath Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorsen of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Lester Thompson of Dunsmuir, California aunt and uncle of the bridegroom; Mrs. K. L. Fowler of Richard Wash; Miss Joan Oneto, of Berkeley, Calif.; Mrs. Homer Carlson, Doris and Betty of Burns; and Mrs. G. L. Morehouse of Ashland; guests from Klamath Falls included

Joyce Olson Weds Eddie Barrett In First Christian

Joyce Olson, daughter of Mrs. Elehora Ethel, became the bride of Eddie Barrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barrett, in a double ring ceremony, June 14, 7 p.m. in the First Christian Church, where the Rev. George Alder read the marriage service before a large group of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Stanley Kendall, organist, played background music while the guests assembled. She also played the traditional processional and recessional marches and accompanied Ivy Coffee, who sang "O Promise Me." Ivy, Native of India, is a fellow student of the bride of Southern Oregon College.

Joyce, given in marriage by her brother, Don, was beautifully dressed in a gown of white slipper satin with a full gathered skirt topped with net. The bodice was of white lace with scalloped neckline and net inset yoke, and a scalloped peplum, the long sleeves were pointed at the wrists.

double strand of white pearls were her only jewelry. The fingertip veil was held in place by a starched lace halo. She carried a small bouquet of white pompon daisies and lilies of the valley on a white ribbon.

Spring flowers were placed in large baskets at the altar.

Mrs. Larry Asp, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were:

Ellen and Arlene Olson, sister and sister-in-law of the bride. Flower girls were: Linda Asp, niece of the bride and Linnea Sundquist.

Her attendants were dressed in identical pastel taffeta dresses, with large saashes tied in the back; and all had full gathered skirts and puffed sleeves. They all carried bouquets of yellow and pink roses in a colonial arrangement with white satin streamers.

Nuptial Vows Exchanged In Sacred Heart Church

The wedding of Lois Darlene Smith, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto L. Smith, 1114 Crescent Avenue, to Homer Lee Brown, son of Mrs. R. Moore, Worden Street, was solemnized in Sacred Heart Catholic Church, June 28, when the Rev. T. P. Casey officiated at the 9:30 a.m. nuptial mass.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown styled with an all-lace bodice, long sleeved, and nylon net skirt. Butterflies embroidered in iridescent pearls trimmed the bodice and skirt. Her necklace of pearls, a family heirloom, belonged to her great-grandmother. She carried the same handkerchief edged in tating used by her mother at her own wedding. A lucky Indian penny was worn in her slipper and the traditional blue garter was made for her by Mrs. John Howard.

Her full length veil which was also worn by her two sisters at their weddings was held in place with a pearl trimmed Mary Stuart cap. Bouvardia centered with a white orchid and a white rosary formed her bouquet. The rosary belonged to her deceased brother, Pat.

White stock, gladioli and green foliage illuminated by lighted tapers in floor candelabra formed the background for the impressive ceremony.

Mrs. Donald Ratliff (Luana), sister of the bride, was matron of honor; and bridesmaid was Mrs. Bernard Cavanaugh (Phyllis) also a sister; both dressed in organza frocks with satin trimmed boleros, lavender and yellow, respectively.

Matron of honor's bouquet was of yellow Glanellas, and bridesmaid's bouquet was of the same flowers in rose.

Susan Vandenberg, organist, accompanied Jerry Igl, whose two vocal solos were "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus." Sacred Heart choir sang during Mass.

The bride's nephew, three year old Michael Ratliff, Malin, served as ring bearer.

Gerald Brown, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and Bernard Cavanaugh, Donald Ratliff, bride's brothers-in-law; and Richard Weed, her cousin, were ushers.

The mothers of the couple were charming in formal gowns; Mrs. Smith in blue lace and chiffon with matching hat, white accessories, and a corsage of dusky pink rosebuds; and Mrs. Moore in beige, with brown and white accessories, and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The reception was held in Sacred Heart Parish Hall immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Bobbie Griffiths served the cake, Mrs. Dicky Freeman (bride's aunt) and Mrs. Archie Mitchell, aunt of the bridegroom, presided at the coffee services, and Pat O'Connor served the punch. Assisting were Joan Murphy and Mrs. William Earl.

Open house and luncheon at the Smith home followed the formal reception.

Assisting at coffee were Mrs. Robert Carr (Catherine Krueger), Sacramento; Mrs. William Ely, and Mrs. Stanley Pieser and Judy.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Brown are graduates of Sacred Heart Academy; and are popular members of the younger set. Lois Darlene was associated with the Rollin Rodolph Company here, and her husband was with Weyerhaeuser Timber Company before entering the air force.

For their wedding trip to California and Oregon Coastal points, the bride wore a navy blue suit, white accessories, and a white orchid corsage. They will be at home in Omaha, Nebraska, where Brown is stationed with the USAF.
