Stocks

NEW YORK — The stock market advanced a little Tuesday with considerable buying attention given to a few individual issues.

Prices spread over a range of around a point lower to better than 2 points higher with the great bulk of the list showing only fractional changes.

Business came to an estimated 900,000 shares.

GRAINS

CHICAGO — Corn showed considerable independent strength at the board of trade Tuesday, while other grains finished around the previous close.

Country receipts were light and there was considerable commission house demand for the feed grain.

Estimated receipts were placed at 25 cars and bookings on 1 to arrive basis were placed at only 5,000 bushels.

Germany took two cargoes of wheat and was said to be inquiring for more.

At the finish wheat was 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher than Monday's close. July $2.28 1/4; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 higher, July $1.79 1/4; oats were 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, July 78-77 1/2; rye was 1/4 lower to 1 cent higher, July $2.01 1/2; soybeans were 1 cent lower to 1 1/2 higher, July $3.31 1/2 and lard was unchanged to 13 cents a hundred-weight higher, $11.12.

CHICAGO — The Midwest's tremendous heat wave forced farmers to keep their hogs at home in great numbers Tuesday. As a result the supply shrank to the smallest for a Tuesday since April 4, 1950.

Conversely, prices jumped 25 to 50 cents setting a practical top at $23.65 which was the highest since the same price was paid Aug. 7.

Most barrows and gilts cleared readily at $20.75 to $23.50 and sows at $17.00 to $20.00.

Cattle were steady to 50 cents lower, vealers weak, and sheep 50 to 75 cents lower.

Most choice and prime steers, yearlings and heifers sold from $31.50 to $35.50.

Spring lambs could do no better in early marketing than $29.50 and not much sold in other categories of the sheep division.

ALL WOOD if not quite a yard wide is this clock on the wall at J. C. Renie, 1019 Main. The clock was made by Renie's father, Jacob, in 1936 of Oak, Apple and Dogwood and is believed to be the only all wood clock now in this country. Built purely as a hobby the clock is weight driven, keyed together with wooden pegs and runs accurately for 18 hours without winding. It took Jacob Renie about three months to complete the timepiece. Renie explains that while early day clocks were made of metal a shortage of brass in the early days of this country led clock makers to use wood for many of the component parts of their clocks. But there isn't so much as a tack in this one. Even the white numbers are made of paper — which is a wood product.

Blind Trail

longer, but much narrower foot than did Jones.

Both men were comparatively large and both were husky. Their size and apparent strength and agility strongly lessens the theory that the murders was a one-man job.

This is important since it tends to ease suspicion against George Dunkin, the wily mountaineer sought since June 24 for the murder of State Patrolman Paul Lowd. Police say Lowd was shot and killed by Dunkin in the woods only about 15 or 20 miles from the scene of the Cullhane, Jones murders. Dunkin, an expert woodsman, has repeatedly eluded police dragnets seeking to flush him out of the forest area.

Single shell cases of .32 caliber automatic bullets were found beside both Cullhane's and Jones's bodies. Both men appeared to have been shot at very close range, possibly with the automatic almost touching their heads. Jones had been shot in the back of the head, and the bullet emerged from his left ear. Cullhane was shot in the right cheek and the bullet came out near his right ear. Possibly both men were held against the small trees in a seated position while another person fired the death shots into their heads.

The robbery was not complete. Cullhane still had a fountain pen clipped in his shirt pocket and a cme loose change in his pocket. Jones had a cigaret lighter in his trousers pocket. And both men had gold rings on their fingers. Jones was wearing a wedding band and Cullhane's a signet ring engraved with his initials.

Cullhane and Jones were in Klamath Falls on business Saturday. Specialized Service, operated here by Frank Eberlein, the wholesale and retail outlet for United Motors Service, John Vaughn is store manager for Eberlein.

The four men decided on a fishing trip to Union Creek and arranged for a cabin. Cullhane and Jones left for Union Creek in Jones' car and were followed in about an hour and a half by Eberlein and Vaughn. The route from here to Union Creek goes through the south end of Grater Lake Park.

Eberlein and Vaughn came upon the Cullhane-Jones parked car and waited about an hour, according to Eberlein, before becoming alarmed enough to notify park rangers that the men were missing. Chief Ranger Hallock ordered a search started immediately.

At the moment yesterday Hallock was notified that the murder victims' bodies had been found, the veteran chief ranger had decided to switch the search from a normal lost persons basis to that of foul play.

The writer had talked the foul play theory over with Hallock and had informed Hallock that Klamath Air Search and Rescue unit men were ready to join the search when called. Hallock, after a brief conference with Park Supt. John Woosky, had accepted the KASRU offer and the writer was in process of calling KASRU when news was flashed from the forest that the bodies had been found.

Until the foul play theory was embraced, the rangers had been working on the premise the missing men had either fallen into sheer Annie Creek Canyon or had become lost in the nearby forest.

The robbery probably netted the murderers not more than two or possibly three hundred dollars, if that much, Jones is believed to have carried about $100 and Cullhane's associates say he rarely carried much cash on trips.

Why then were the men murdered? Why could not the robbers have been a getaway?

The fact that the men were shot to death suggests the possibility that the murderers were known to either Cullhane or Jones, or both. However, there is as yet nothing known to the writer to support this admittedly flimsy theory.

Ira J. Kennedy, Detroit, Western sales manager for United Motors Service, is here now and says neither Cullhane or Jones were known to have any social or business enemies.

Jones is survived by his widow, Betty Mae. Cullhane is survived by the widow, Irene, and two sons, Charles Jr., 23, and David, 21. Mrs. Jones arrived in Klamath Falls yesterday about the time the bodies were found.

Bedtime Snack
 solves laxative problem

"I have had great success with ALL-BEAN," writes Patricia N. J., a man. "After years of constipation, I am now regular. Thanks to my 1/2 cup of ALL-BEAN every day!" If you suffer from irregularity due to lack of dietary bulk, try a bowlful of this tasty cereal every night before bed... It may bring back the youthful regularity you thought long lost. ALL-BEAN is the only type ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need. It's high in cereal protein, rich in iron, provides essential B and D vitamins. No habit-forming. If you're not satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich., and get DOUBLE MONEY BACK!

Korean Vet Loses Money

Ex-Sergeant Ed Gillenwaters, just home from the Korean war zone, had a bit of tough luck last night when he lost his wallet containing his identification cards, discharge papers, $100 in travelers checks and about $30 in cash. It is presumed the wallet slipped from his pocket while he was staid in a local theater.

Gillenwaters, former Klamath man, son of Colonel and Mrs. T. R. Gillenwaters, now of Denver, was discharged a few days ago from Camp Carson, Colo., after returning from 16 months' service with the 40th Infantry Division in Japan and Korea.

Young Gillenwaters, raised here and in Los Angeles is the grandson of Mrs. Elizabeth Ramsey, Klamath Falls, now in Denver with her daughter, Mrs. Gillenwaters. He will leave today for Los Angeles to join his father for a trip to Mexico City.

How Oregon Milk Control holds retail prices up!

Under the present Oregon Milk Control Law the minimum retail price of the milk your child drinks is fixed by the Milk Administration. It is unlawful to sell milk below that fixed price.

The Milk Administrator prohibits passing on to you any savings from efficiency in wholesale distribution. Lower cash-and-carry store prices are also forbidden.

Thus many parents cannot afford all the milk their growing children need.

What Safeway Stands For

Safeway believes that the producer and consumer are harmed by milk regulations which fix prices of milk beyond the producer level. For example, price fixing at the retail level tends to reduce competition, create monopolies, and discourage modern economies in processing, packaging, and retailing milk. As a result

SHOP SAFEWAY... FOR FINE FOODS AT EVERYDAY LOW PRICES

The questions and answers below show some other ways in which Oregon Milk Control affects YOU.

Q. Does Milk Control discourage competitive distribution of milk?
 A. YES. That is the purpose for which the law was designed. It sets floor prices, not ceiling prices.

Q. Does Milk Control allow you a lower price when you carry milk home yourself?
 A. NO. You pay the higher cost of door-to-door delivery whether you use this service or not.

Q. Does Milk Control limit the richness of milk?
 A. YES. The richness (butterfat content) of milk sold in each price range is limited by the rulings of the Milk Administrator.

Q. Does the Oregon Milk Control Law regulate sanitary conditions?
 A. NO. It has absolutely nothing to do with the sanitation, health inspection, cleanliness, or the purity of milk.

the price to the consumer is often higher than necessary resulting in reduced purchases, smaller consumption and disastrous milk surpluses.

When consumers pay cash for milk and carry it home from the store, they save the cost of home delivery and credit. Safeway believes the consumer is entitled to that saving.

It is Safeway policy neither to use milk as a "loss leader" nor to attempt to make an unwarranted profit on its sale.
