

PLACING OF A BRONZE PLAQUE on one of two markers at Ward Memorial Park and completion of a heavy wire cyclone fence around the five acre plot between Ward and Hope streets in the South Suburban area, marks another milestone in the completion of this well-equipped playground for children. The fence, with steel posts set in concrete is five feet high, installed at a cost of approximately $3700. Here Andrew Bergloff, knelling, who has donated most of the metal work on playground equipment looks over the marker with Harry Ward whose efforts over a period of several years have made the park a welcome spot for picnics. Adjoining too, is Donna Marie Newman, three-and-one-half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Newman, 4413 Denver Avenue, a convert to the swings and slides in the park.

Pelton Dam Hearing Asked
CULVER, Ore., (AP) — The Central Oregon Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night asked a public hearing by the State Hydroelectric Commission on a Portland General Electric Co. request for a permit to build Pelton dam.
The commission recently requested the permit to reconstruct the dam on the Deschutes River on the grounds that there was not sufficient provision for protection of fish runs.
