

Republicans Score Democratic Stand On Civil Rights Issue

By The Associated Press
Republicans kept the civil rights pot boiling Thursday for the purpose of cooking the Democrats' goose.

Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign advisory committee, said the selection of Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama as the Democratic vice presidential nominee shows the Democratic party intends to do nothing constructive about civil rights.

Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, Eisenhower's GOP vice presidential running mate, told newsmen in Fresno, Calif., however, that Sparkman is not a true Southern candidate and is known to be completely pro-Truman.

It was President Truman's insistence on federal civil rights legislation that split the Democratic party in 1948 and lost the electoral votes of four Southern states. Some Democratic leaders in the South are unhappy about the party's 1952 stand on civil rights and have not yet decided whether to support the Democratic ticket of Gov. Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Sparkman.

SUMMERFIELD
Chairman Arthur Summerfield of the GOP National Committee rubbed more salt in the wounds Wednesday with the assertion that Stevenson and Sparkman are

"hand-picked candidates of President Truman" and will be "expected to carry on the Truman tradition."

Sparkman, in Washington, said he will have something to say about civil rights in response to a series of questions in a telegram from Rep. Powell, New York Negro Democrat. Sparkman said Powell's communication is one of 15,000 he has received since his nomination and will be answered in its turn.

At the Illinois capital, Gov. Stevenson made a few remarks on civil rights issues in his first news conference since the Democrats nominated him for the presidency last Saturday.

He repeated a previously expressed view that fair employment practices legislation is primarily a state responsibility. He said the federal government should hold off unless a state fails in its duty.

He said all citizens should have "equal opportunities and equal political rights."

Stevenson told the newsmen he hopes major campaigners in his behalf will "stay within the framework of my ideas." One of the major campaigners will be President Truman.

STEVENS
Stevenson also said he believes the Taft-Hartley labor law, a prime target of union labor leaders, needs substantial revision but not necessarily repeal. He said he views the Democratic platform pledge of repeal as merely a method of accomplishing the same result through an entirely new law.

Commenting on Eisenhower's expressed goal of an eventual 40 billion dollar annual cut in federal the GOP campaign to give as much emphasis to the congressional races as to his bid for the presidency.

Eisenhower announced he will not take sides in primary contests between Republicans, but will support the winners "to the limit."

In Arizona, two Republicans, Barry Goldwater of Phoenix and Lester Kahl of Tucson, are bidding for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator to oppose Sen. Mc-Farland, the Senate Democratic floor leader.

Republican Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war, is seeking to unseat Sen. Chavez (D) in New Mexico.

DR. AL HALVORSON of the Klamath Experiment Station looks over treatment responses in Hanchen barley on test plots at the station west of the airport. He plans to report on the responses to fertilizer Monday when the annual field day is held at the station starting at 1 p.m. The plot at left has been treated with no fertilizer, and to Halvorson's right is lush growth when treated at rate of 500 pounds of super-phosphate per acre. Halvorson reports similar results for Overland oats.

City Records Two Blazes

Two fire calls brought city fire equipment out about 8 o'clock this morning.

The first was to the Wilbur A. Jones residence, 203 High, where a defective furnace motor burned, and the second was the Willard Hotel.

A mattress and bed covers in Room 517 were ablaze when firemen arrived and tossed the burning bedding out a window where it was doused. The room was considerably smoked up, but damage apparently was small.

Firemen said the blaze probably was started by a cigarette.
