Associated Press Expands Coverage To Latin America

NEW YORK (AP) — Radioteletype service to the leading newspapers and radio stations of Latin America and the West Indies was inaugurated Tuesday by The Associated Press, providing members in that area with a faster and more complete news report.

They have been receiving the news by Morse wireless.

With the initiation of the new service comes closer integration of AP's daily radiophoto transmissions with the news report to Latin America.

Part of the new equipment installed for the radioteletype service can be used interchangeably to receive either pictures or news.

In cooperating to set up the radioteletype circuit, Latin American newspapers brought about fulfillment of their desire to have a daily news service as complete and modern as that received by comparable members in the United States.

In full operation, the radioteletype service—the first linking all of the Americas—will increase the present volume of about 16,000 words daily to upwards of 48,000 words daily.

The news report as received by Latin American newspapers and radio stations will be in exactly the same form as that going to U. S. members, except that the transmitting means is a wireless signal instead of a land line.

Intricate equipment, using two wireless receivers, receives the radioteletype signal and converts it into a firm electric impulse.

Heat Blamed For Many Drinks

PORTLAND (AP) — Hot weather the past two days created an awful thirst in Portland.

Municipal Judge John J. Murchison fined 134 persons Monday on charges of being drunk. It was the judge's busiest day since his appointment to the bench more than 15 months ago.

Walter Wanger Denied Parole

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Film Producer Walter Wanger Tuesday was denied a parole. He has served half of a four-month sentence for the shooting of Jennings Lang, agent for Wanger's wife, actress Joan Bennett.

The parole board held that nothing to warrant a parole had been presented by Wanger or his attorney, Jerry Giesler.

PENSION HELPED

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Daniel Parra, 90, decided Tuesday he could not afford to marry. He became the groom of Maria Fiala, 64, the veteran of Chile's 1879 war recently became eligible for an increased pension.

Grapevine Says Moviemen Welcome U.S. Trust Suit

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
 HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Exclusively Yours: There may be more than meets the eye to those headlines about Uncle Sam's latest anti-trust suit against the major film studios, seeking release of current motion pictures for television.

The movie barons aren't admitting anything, but the big grapevine buzz is that they welcomed the suit.

The speculative theory? Pressure from theater owners has kept the major film studios from leasing even old feature films to TV. The anti-trust suit now gives the majors valid excuses for ignoring the wails and threats of exhibitors and leasing himn, prints of old and new movies for the home screens.

Ida Lupino's old ankle injury is acting up—distressing news to Ida, who told me of her recent illness. "I never thought I'd walk again." . . . "The Road to Hope" isn't the title of a new Crosby-Hope-Lamour comedy, but an Italian film due in the U.S. soon about a group of impoverished Sicilians.

Shirley Temple's due back in Hollywood any day now with Linda Susan Agar and her new baby. Although she no longer has a movie agent, Shirley will listen to telegram offers.

Patrice Wymore is facing surgery. A kidney condition similar to Jane Wyman's. . . . Bette Davis will get a hefty percentage of the grosses racked up by her new starring film, "The Star." First time Bette's been in on slicing up the profits.

Great gag that didn't come off: Immediately after General Eisenhower's nomination, Olsen and Johnson tried unsuccessfully to have the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas send a pair of live flamingos to the general in care of the White House marked, "Hold Until Arrival."

On Paramount's luncheon menu: "Martin and Lewis plate—Lettuce, Swiss cheese, franks, Wiener schnitzel, two cans of salmon (no salmon, just cans) on Melba toast."

Don't know where it leaves the Rita Hayworth-Aly Khan and Zsa Zsa Gabor-George Sanders reconciliations, but Zsa Zsa has been dancing with Aly in Paris. . . . Thelma Ritter, the star of "As Young as You Feel," must be sizing up Marilyn Monroe, who has a minor role in the picture, is grabbing off the big marquee lights. . . . Xavier Cugat can start bushing. Before U-I producer Will Cowan signed him for a musical film, he offered Cugat's ex-wife Lorraine nixed it because of night club bookings with her band.

They've musicalized everything else in Hollywood, so now MGM
